NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSN.

Holds Its Annual Meeting and Re-Elects Harry D. Cabot as President

There was an attendance of about 125 at the Annual Meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association which was held at the Central Congregational Church on the evening of May 25th. The annual meetings of this Association in point of interest, entertainment and instruction have for so many years maintained a reputation of a high order that there is risk of overstatement in recording the last meeting as the best in the history of the Association, but it is sufficient probably to state that the members expressed enthusiastic approval of the program presented.

President Cabot at the outset called attention to the fact that this was the Nineteenth Annual Meeting of the Association and touched upon its long record of usefulness in the service of the community. The president referred to those matters of major importance with which the Executive Committee had concerned itself during the year, of the improvements to the accomplishment of which the Association had contributed, of other improvements under consideration, and of the extent to which the Association had undertaken from time to time during the year to work for the benefit of or the protection of Newtonville.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Harry D. Cabot; Vice-presidents, Albert M. Lyon, Rev. Richard T. Loring, William H. Zoller; Secretary-treasurer, Henry B. Nickerson; Executive committee: The above officers and the following persons, Fred C. Alexander, Charles F. Avery, Charles I. Balcom, Cleveland A. Ballou, James D. Bennett, Charles D. Cabot, Bartlett F. Kenney, Charles D. Kepner, Clarence G. McDavitt, Ernest L. Miller, Lewis E. Moore, Horace W. Orr, John R. Prescott, Donald E. Rust, Augustus L. Wakefield, Alfred M. Ziegler.

The entertainment of the evening was arranged by a committee of which Mr. Fred C. Alexander was chairman. Songs by Marjorie Warren Leadbetter, Soprano, of Salem, Mass., who is not a stranger to a Newtonville audience, and who was accompanied by Cora G. Brooks, were delightfully rendered and enthusiastically received. The songs selected were the following: Wings of Night, (Watts); Lazy Song, (Moore); Tarantella (Rossini); O Stella Amata (with variations), (Prock).

The program announced a lecture by Mr. William Craig, who is actively identified with the Massachusetts Horticultural society and who is a former president of the National Association of Gardeners. Rather than a lecture, however, Mr. Craig in an easy, intimate and most friendly manner gave some practical hints on gardening, touching upon many of the problems met with by the amateur gardener. Why one should regard garden pests with equanimity and how to get rid of them, how and when to plant trees, shrubs and flowers, how to prune, the proper way to water a garden, the proper selection of plants and shrubs to produce the most satisfactory effects, the best color schemes in flowers and the worst, and methods of spraying, were some of the subjects covered. For those who had questions involving particular garden problems Mr. Craig had ready answers. Mr. Craig showed the audience several varieties of lilacs and some unusual flowers, commenting to the great interest of his audience with reference to each of them.

GRADUATING EXERCISES

There was a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the Newton Hospital to witness the graduating exercises of the Training School for Nurses.

A large tent was erected on the lawn for the ceremonies, which included an address by Dr. Payson Smith, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education; prayer by Rev. Charles N. Arbuckle, vocal selections by Mr. Walter H. Kidder, bass soloist, and the presentation of diplomas by President Wm. C. Bray. A social hour followed.

Out of a possible 150 points Troop 7 secured 53 which easily made them the victors in the Rally. Mr. Stafford in a few appropriate words spoke of the Rally and the splendid work that Troop 7 was doing.

HIGH SCHOOL BASE BALL

By decisively trouncing Cambridge Latin on the morning of Memorial Day the Newton High nine practically annexed the Suburban League title for 1922. Somerville three full games behind Newton, is in second place and one more victory for the Orange and Black will make them undisputed masters of the Suburban circuit.

It has been a great race, probably the best race the Suburban League has known if we measure its success by the competition of the teams and the interest of their followers. The nines have been exceptionally well matched as the number of games that have been won by a single run will testify.

There is no doubt but what Newton is the best team in the League. Its success is chiefly due to the fact that it has been admirably coached and has had one of the finest of school pitchers, Howard Whitmore. Without Whitmore the Newton team would not be at the top of the standing. He has proved himself to be a real iron-man twirler and his unbroken string of victories has been gained against the strongest of scholastic opposition. Just as Fred Sawyer was the big gun in the 1919 Newton Champions, so is Whitmore the star of the 1922 titlists.

Next to Whitmore the chief credit for the brilliant Orange and Black season goes to "Crundry" Cronin, the crack Newton catcher. They may make high school backstops a bit better than Cronin but if so we have never seen them. Cronin possesses more "baseball brains" than the average college player and, what is even more important, he knows how to use (Continued on Page 4)

Scout Franklin Hoyt was presented a Camp cooking outfit for having secured the largest number of points in the Rally for Troop 7.

A FINE MEMORIAL DAY

Perfect Weather, a Good Parade and Excellent Speaking

Tuesday was as fine a Memorial Day as one could wish. The sun was bright and an east wind kept the temperature at a most comfortable point.

In the morning details from Charles Ward Post 62 G. A. R. Thomas Burnett camp Spanish War Veterans and Newton Post of the American Legion decorated the graves of their dead in the various cemeteries and the Grand Army held its usual service at St. Mary's churchyard at Newton Lower Falls. The program here was in charge of Senior Vice Commander George H. Osborne and included prayer by the Post Commander, Colon S. Ober and the reading of the Gettysburg Address by Adjutant W. A. Wetherbee. This was followed by a brief but impressive service of throwing of flowers on the waters of the Charles river in memory of the sailor dead.

The Newton Highlands Improvement Association, under direction of President William F. Coan and the Secretary, Mrs. Fred G. Sandford were the hosts for the veterans, members of the Legion and the staff of the chief marshal, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, and served a most substantial lunch in Lincoln hall in that village, assisted by a score of the young ladies of that place.

The usual Memorial Day parade was formed at 1:15 on the grounds of the Hyde school and marched thru Lincoln and Walnut streets to the Newton Cemetery. The parade consisted of a detail of police, chief marshal Mayor Childs and a large military and civilian staff with Capt. Edward Edmunds, Jr., as chief of staff, and W. P. Watson, aide, Co. H. 101st Infantry, Capt. John A. McLellan, band, J. Wiley Edmonds camp, S. V. James H. Wentworth, commander, Charles Ward Post 62 in automobiles, Colon S. Ober, commander, Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, in automobiles, Mrs. Susan R. Wetherbee, president, Thomas Burnett Camp, S.W.V., Newton F. Lucas, commander and Newton Post of the American Legion, Major H. D. Cormerais, commander. About 28 veterans of Charles Ward Post took part or about one half of the present membership of the Post, and there were about 175 members of the Legion in line.

At the cemetery, the usual exercises were held at the Soldiers monument, Rev. Dr. William E. Huntington, offering prayer, reports being received from the morning details, the reading of the first order for observance of Memorial Day (1868) and of the Gettysburg address by Adjutant Wetherbee, a selection by the band, the placing of flowers on the base of the monument by the Post, Daughters of Veterans, the American Legion and members of the city government. The four corners of the monument were guarded by four members of the Daughters of Veterans, Mrs. E. N. Soulls, Mrs. James T. Burns, Mrs. Barry, and Miss Frances Fitzgerald, dressed in white and carrying the national colors. Three volleys of musketry and the sounding (Continued on Page 3)

PETTSY-CHURCH

Miss Sylvia M. Church, of Austin street, Newtonville, became the bride on last Friday of Mr. L. Ivan Pettsy of New York.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. M. L. Gould and Rev. John Goddard, of the New Church, Newtonville. The bride wore a gown of white georgette, embroidered; a white veil, upon which rested a circlet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. There were no attendants.

A reception at the home of the bride, which was tastefully decorated with palms, spirea and white iris, followed the ceremony, the bride being assisted by Miss Josephine Danforth and Mrs. William C. Richardson. Music was furnished by Mr. Clinton W. Kyle.

After July 1st Mr. and Mrs. Pettsy will live in Newtonville. The bride has a fine reputation as soprano singer, and the groom was with the 201st Engineers for two years in France, and with the Army of Occupation in Germany.

Speaking of Speculation:

THE Edison Company did not in its beginning fulfil all the requirements of a Public Utility. Its service was experimental, limited and inferior. Investment in its stock was speculation.

Experience and invention have changed this. From being an uncertain enterprise it has become an indispensable public service.

It gives the best in service at the lowest possible rates. And the return to its investors is supervised by the State Department of Public Utilities.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

The Albert Edgar Angier School

Mr. Harold T. Dougherty, librarian of the Newton Library, has co-operated splendidly with Mr. Crowell and the upper grade teachers in providing a course of study and training in the aims and methods of using a library. Through the kindness of Mr. Dougherty, the services of Miss Dorothy C. Wilkey, a trained librarian, were made available. Miss Wilkey, the upper grade teachers, and Mr. Crowell have co-operated to make the course of great value, and are much delighted with the keen interest manifested by the pupils. It is hoped that a similar course may be provided next year.

The race to health is fast proving its value. The Angier health charts show no decrease of the fine results previously tabulated. Angier children are defying the usual spring losses in weight and refuse absolutely to weigh less than at former weighings. These children have proven to their own satisfaction that the theory of seasonal weight losses is an unfortunate myth. Sleep, food, play and work laws are followed in this school. The Memorial Day exercises were rife with patriotic fervor. Sergeant S. J. Simmons read several humorous poems and told many stirring stories of Civil War days. He was a volunteer in the Massachusetts Infantry and wounded in action. The school sang patriotic songs, and Edmund Symonds, Nancy Durbin and Catherine Chandler recited poems. After the exercises flowers were presented to the sergeant, and the school photographer, Saville Davis, took a picture of Mr. Simmons, which will be enlarged, framed and hung in the school.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The baseball team won two more games last week, thereby maintaining the standing of 100. The game on the Waban playground on Tuesday went to the Emerson by the score of 6 to 2. The second game was played on the Upper Falls grounds on Thursday, and was won by the Angier team by the score of 21 to 3.

Memorial Day exercises were held in the school hall on Monday, at 9 o'clock. Comrade Gray of the G. A. R., and Major Cormerais of the American Legion were guests of the school, and both made brief addresses to the children.

To aid the cause of kindergarten education in France, twenty-four linen scrap books have been made under the direction of Miss Bassett. Suitable pictures were collected through the various classes. The children of the kindergarten, first and second grades, mounted the pictures. The books will soon be forwarded to the Kindergarten Unit in France.

Carleton Redman has the honor of writing the class history, and Olive De Grasse the class prophecy. Both honor parts are to be given at the class party on the evening of June 20. Our new teachers for next year are Miss Florence E. Lewis, departmental teacher of history, who is to be transferred from the Stearns school, and Miss Heloise Chase, building assistant, who graduates this June from Mount Holyoke College. Miss Marion Herbert is to be transferred to the Bowen School as a regular teacher in grade one.

Mason School

To have it taken by him is always a guarantee of a fine picture.

Memorial Day exercises were held Monday afternoon in the Mason hall. The Civil War veterans were represented by Mr. Wm. M. Mick, and the World War soldiers by Mr. Foley. The program was given by Ruth Robbins, John Bell, Eighth Grade boys, Howard Dudley, George Brewer, Catherine Noyes and the pupils of Room 16.

For some years it has been the custom of the graduating class to leave a gift to the school. This year, in response to a wish expressed by Mr. Paul, the class have decided to present some slides to be used in connection with the study of geography.

Claffin School

The Horace Mann-Claffin baseball team suffered a bad defeat at the hands of the Stearns team on Thursday.

Memorial Day exercises were held in the school hall on Monday afternoon. After a short address by Mr. Rand, an American Legion man, a patriotic program was presented, in which the different grades took part and the school chorus. The program included singing, recitations, a flower drill and tableaux of the three wars.

The program for Memorial Day was held in the Stearns School hall. Mr. John Flood of the G. A. R., and Lieutenant Daly of the Legion spoke briefly to the children.

The Newton Girls' Club is a member of the National League of Girls' Clubs, and is interested in having this published. Following is a list of girls going as delegates from this club:

Mary Delaney, May Fisher, Irene Mellen, Anna Morrison, Anna Oliphant, Margaret Oliphant.

The National League of Girls' Clubs, twelfth biennial convention, Vassar College, June 15-18, 1922.

Vassar students, alumnae and faculty, are interested in the approaching convention of the National League of Girls' Clubs to be held at Vassar College immediately after commencement.

Hyde School

The first four grades held their Memorial Day exercises Monday morning, in the hall. The upper grades held theirs at 1:30 P. M. Mr. Ober, a G. A. R. veteran, and Major Cabot of the American Legion, each gave a short talk to the school. At the close bouquets were given in appreciation of their service. Then followed drills and a pageant, entitled "The Golden Star," which were ably directed by Miss Marian Green and Miss Harriette Ryder, of the fifth grades. The Hyde School orchestra played under the direction of Miss Grossman.

Miss Perkins' second graders made a record in having perfect attendance, May 29th, the day before a holiday. The history classes of the two sixth grades held a debate on: Resolved, "Greece was a greater nation than Rome." The affirmative was presented by Margaret Haberstroh, Frederick Godsoe and Eleanor Savage. The negative was well defended by Alice Chapin, James North and Barbara Johnson. Three eighth grade pupils, Jack Maynard, Isabel Linn and Ted Cady, acted as judges. The judges awarded the victory to the affirmative side.

A committee of two teachers and the officers of the graduating class selected a class memorial picture of "The Appeal to the Great Spirit" and "The Concord Bridge." The officers are: Philip Lingham, president; Granger Haggood, vice-president; Kathryn Smith, secretary, and Dorothy Goddard, treasurer.

An entertainment was held last week for the benefit of the Hyde School orchestra. There were two selections by the orchestra, violin solos by Betty Chapman and Isadore Hatch, and vocal solos by Grace McDade and Miss Anna Blakemore. Miss Brewer of Boston entertained with readings.

Underwood School

A most enjoyable Mothers' meeting was held at the Underwood School on Thursday afternoon, May 25th.

Miss Mabel C. Bragg, assistant superintendent of schools, the special guest of the afternoon, gave a most interesting talk, touching upon many of the present day educational problems and needs, as compared with those of twenty years ago. Attention was called to the marked differences in the vocabulary of children then and now.

Upon request, at the conclusion of her talk, Miss Bragg gave added pleasure by telling a story. Opportunity was given for the mothers to meet Miss Bragg personally.

Light refreshments were served, Mrs. Ralph Hall and Mrs. Clarence Doles presiding over the refreshment table.

HORACE MANN NOTES

The Horace Mann-Claffin baseball team, twenty-seven to one. The reason for the Horace Mann and Claffin defeat was poor pitching and poor judgment.

The costumes are mostly completed for the operetta which is to be held on June 6th, at our school. A great many cadet costumes are completed, and the rest will be finished soon. Miss Seavey and Miss Ellis, the two sewing teachers, together with Miss Fales and Alice McDonald of the Eighth Grade, have worked a great deal on them. We hope the operetta and the candy sale will be a success, and that those who attend will be well pleased with it.

This year Mr. Alger, the Sloyd teacher, gave a great many boys in the Eighth Grade a chance to work on a doll house that was to be made for the first grade in this school. This house stands about two feet high and is three feet long, and two feet wide. It is going to be painted white and have green trimmings.

DEATH OF MR. BYERS

Mr. Joseph Byers, one of the oldest residents of Newtonville, died May 30th, at his home, 154 Lowell avenue, in his 89th year.

He was born in Brechire, Scotland, July 15, 1833, and came with his parents to Andover, Mass., when he was three years old, living there until early manhood. He completed his education at Phillips Academy, Andover, Class of '56, and is one of the oldest surviving alumni. In 1873 he moved to Newtonville. For a number of years he had charge of the steam power of State street Block, Boston, from which he retired in 1885. He was an assistant assessor of Newton from 1898 to 1919. He was a life member of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Assn., and a member for many years of the Congregational Club of Boston, and of the Newton Club. He served as deacon of the Eliot Church, Newton, eight years and as Superintendent of the Sunday School.

Mr. Byers was vice-president and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Stone Institute and Home for Aged People, Newton Upper Falls, from the beginning of the Home in 1898 and was a loyal friend of the Home, spending much time and thought for its welfare.

He married Mary J. Abbott of Andover in 1860. He is survived by one son, John W. Byers of Newtonville, and one daughter, Mrs. Morton E. Cobb of Newton Centre, and two grandsons, John R. Byers and Joseph Byers, 2nd, of New London, Conn., and two great granddaughters. Services will be held this afternoon from his late residence, Rev. H. Grant Person and Rev. William E. Strong officiating, and the burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

GARDEN FETE

A popular Garden Fete will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening at the beautiful Colby Estate, the residence of Mr. Gardner Colby Walworth, at 855 Centre St., Newton Centre. This Garden Party is being given for the benefit of the Mothers' Rest Association.

There will be fun for everyone. In the afternoon there will be pony rides and sleight-of-hand performances, aside from the selling of goods, waffles, hats, sweaters, etc. Also, there will be tables of bridge. In the evening the Band Concert and Dancing will give great pleasure to all those who are able to attend this festivity.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Slippy McGee" has caught on—the famous drama played to a large and appreciative audience last week with the result that the management at the St. James Theatre has announced "Slippy McGee" for the second week.

One of the most interesting things in life is to sit off at a safe distance and watch the regeneration of some man or woman, the unfolding, as it were, of the beauty hidden within. This is the case with "Slippy McGee," a rollicking, quick witted, resourceful, thief and crook who meets with an accident while in the South and while convalescing falls under the kindly radiating love of Father de Rance and the sweet, tender sympathetic care of the beautiful Southern girl, Mary Virginia.

of "taps" brought the ceremonies to a close. The line of march was then resumed, the parade passing thru Walnut street, Cabot street, Park place and Washington park, where a stop was made to allow the band to serenade the inmates at the Gov. John A. Andrew home. The parade then marched thru Walnut and Washington streets to the State Armory, passing in review before Chief Marshal Childs and staff at the Hose House on Washington street.

About 400 persons sat down to a most bountiful dinner which was immediately served in the armory.

The after dinner speaking, with Commander Ober as toastmaster was far beyond the usual Memorial Day standard.

Mayor Childs expressed his gratitude for the sunshine, the flowers and the hallowed memories of the day, and his regrets that the Grand Army membership was growing smaller. He urged the need of emphasis on the fact that we are Americans and thought that we Americans should be even more and better Americans.

President A. W. Hollis of the board of aldermen said he was firmly convinced that the example of the veterans of 1861 had been the inspiration of the youth who answered the call of the colors in 1898 and in 1917. He said a great nation needs a heroic past and the Grand Army had been the means by which the past has been made real.

Services will be held this afternoon from his late residence, Rev. H. Grant Person and Rev. William E. Strong officiating, and the burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

A letter was read from Secretary of War John W. Weeks and received three cheers. Adjutant Wetherbee also read a letter from General Grant in regard to the observance of Memorial Day.

Attorney General J. Weston Allen then made the speech of the day, after three cheers had been given in his honor. He said in part: "With each succeeding year the commonwealth has learned to love you more and more, and while we miss the familiar faces of former years, we have a new appreciation for what you and our fathers fought. He complimented Governor Cox for his request for a more sacred observance of Memorial Day and hoped the day might come when it would be observed on Sunday so that golf and baseball would not interfere with the impressiveness of the day. He had joined the Sons of Veterans in order to be able to help keep alive the observance of Memorial Day and was glad that with the world war, came the assurance that the day will be fittingly observed for all time to come. Lincoln, he said, was the great American, but he was more than that, as his soul beat for all humanity. America was founded that all might find liberty within its confines, but the sons of the veterans of Gettysburg and Appomattox were called to carry our flag on the battlefields of France in order that our liberty might reach out to the stricken nations of the world. That flag on the fields of France meant that civilization was to be preserved because that flag had never known defeat. The flag has taken on a new glory and it is for us to see to it that we go on to still higher duties as a nation. Out of the black night of war emerges America, beautiful, the land of promise, the land of liberty, the leading power of civilization. It is for us to take the torch of liberty from the hands of those who fell on the battlefield and carry on until the destiny of America is achieved with equal rights and the brotherhood of man is the rule among the nations.

Alderman Thomas W. White spoke briefly saying that loyalty is a fundamental attribute even in civil life and that while it was great to have been a Roman under Caesar or a Frenchman under Napoleon, it was greater to be an American citizen in these times of reconstruction from the great war.

Major H. D. Comerals said it was most fitting that the Legion should join with their older comrades in the observance of Memorial Day and thereby prepare for the Memorial days which are to come. He urged all ex-service men to join the Legion or otherwise they were not playing the game.

Commander James H. Wentworth of the Sons of Veterans remarked on the great change which had been made since his organization first paraded with Charles Ward Post on Memorial day, 18 years ago. He believed that there were many persons in Newton eligible for membership in his organization and hoped for a membership of at least 150 men.

Adjutant W. Wetherbee, when called on, said he disliked to throw a discordant note into the meeting but he strongly criticized the churches of Newton for arranging for a picnic of their Sunday school children on the day and believed it far better for the children to witness the parade and be impressed with the sight of these veterans and recall that Memorial Day is a holy day and not a holiday.

Remarks were also made by Capt. Edward Edmunds, Jr., chief of staff, Commander Newton F. Lucas of the Spanish War Veterans and Capt. John A. McLellan of Co. H.

MEMORY'S TRIBUTE

The following ode was written by Mr. L. D. G. Bentley and read by him at the Memorial Day exercises of the Boston Lodge of Elks.

Tender privilege ours today,
When, with an affection deep,
Tribute to our Brothers pay,
Elks who in the valley sleep.

Gone beyond all mortal sight,
Still within our hearts abide,
Those whose friendship brought delight,
Ere they crossed the great divide.

Loyal souls who understood,
Loved us with a vision broad;
Thought no evil, sought but good,
Gently all our faults ignored.

Faithful Elks, they asked to know
Of our deeds the best;
Their blessing they bestow
From the vale of peaceful rest.

Gathered we to flowers lay,
Not to mourn and not to weep;
Grateful that they passed our way,

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The big event this week on Beacon Hill, beside the question of early prorogation, was the five-cent street railway bill of Mayor Curley of Boston. The friends of the bill had a hearing last Friday and put up a specious argument for their side. The opponents had their innings yesterday, and with some figures prepared at the instance of Speaker Young, showing just how the deficit in receipts from a five-cent fare would have to be met by the surrounding cities and towns, as well as Boston, made an effective argument against admitting the bill. Even if the Rules committee, which merely decides whether or not the bill shall be admitted, reports favorably on the suspension of the rules, it is safe to say that it will be impossible to obtain a four-fifths vote of the House on the measure. The hearings have had one good effect, however, in showing the public the absurdity of the measure. City Solicitor Bartlett and Aldermen Phillip Nichols and Thomas W. White represented the city at the hearing yesterday. Under the figures prepared at the State House, Newton would be called upon to pay about $350,000, and would add $3.48 to our present tax rate.

The proposal to increase the salaries of the judges of the Supreme Court met with short shrift yesterday in the House, after a debate which began the previous afternoon. The bill was refused by a vote of some 3 to 1. The matter of $7500 pensions for judges was the big stumbling block to granting any increase in salary, no matter how deserving that increase may be. The House yesterday killed the proposal for compulsory automobile insurance, taking the ground evidently that it is far more important to save the reckless and law breaking automobilists a few dollars than it is to provide for adequate compensation for damages to innocent pedestrians and children who may be injured by the rapidly increasing number of machines.

OLD FOLKS CONCERT

Last Friday evening, in the Parish Hall, at St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, was given an Old Folks concert, which was greatly appreciated by a large audience. The music was under the direction of Mr. A. L. Walker, the choirmaster of the church, and showed the results of good training. The parts were taken by members of the parish and several men and boys of the choir, and the costumes were excellent. The songs sung by Mr. Walker were especially enjoyed. As an extra attraction a minut was danced by Brenda Jenkins (aged 5), and Lowell Spring (aged 9), much to the gratification of the assembly. Mr. Walker has had charge of the choir at St. Mary's for three years, and his training has made it what it used to be several years ago, one of the finest choirs outside of Boston.

Beach of Brookline, Miss Ruth Stephenson of Lynn, Miss Beth Crocker of West Newton, Miss Charlotte White of Brookline, Miss Barbara Cooke of Newton Centre, and Miss Dorothy Underhill of Summit, New Jersey, wore gowns of rainbow shades of chiffon, trimmed with silver.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church, the bride being assisted by her parents, the parents of the groom, and Mrs. Albert S. Pratt. Dancing followed the reception, music being furnished by H. Clark of Harvard University.

After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Underhill will live at 77 Montvale road, Newton Centre.

DEATH OF MRS. HILLS

Mrs. Edwina F. Hills, who passed away on Friday, the twenty-seventh instant, was one of the older citizens of Newton. She was the widow of Joel H. Hills, who died in 1892. They came to Newton in 1854, making their first home in the old John Fuller cottage which stood opposite the present Fire Engine house in Ward One. From there they moved into the home at 117 Vernon street upon its completion in 1860, where Mrs. Hills lived the remainder of her lifetime some sixty-two years.

She was born at Pomfret, Vt., Dec. 6, 1830. Her early life was spent in Nashua, N. H., and when only nine years of age she was sent away to the Hancock (N. H.) Young Ladies' Seminary to be educated, and was the youngest pupil in this well-known school. Later her parents bought a place in Hancock and moved there. The old home remained in the possession of the family until 1913.

Her parents were Henry Bugbee, an old-time Professor of Penmanship, and Sarah Lund Pierce, a descendant of the same family as President Pierce. Mrs. Hills was a lady of the old school, educated, refined and genial to all. She was fond of music and painting and had always been an enthusiastic lover of nature, enjoying an intimate acquaintance with our native birds and wild flowers.

She had always been a great reader, a good French and Latin scholar, and a constant patron of our public library. Up to within a few weeks of her passing she was well posted on all current matters of both domestic and foreign interest, and for many years she had been a subscriber to and reader of Boston morning and evening papers as well as one of the New York Sunday papers.

She is survived by two sons, three grand-children and two great grand-children.

Funeral services were held at her late home on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Chester A. Drummond officiating and the interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT

Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, No. 177, I. O. O. F., held gentlemen's night at Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville, Thursday evening, May 24th.

A unique and highly amusing entertainment was given, which was called "The Shemantia," or "Who'll Loaner Somethingware Degree," and which was a scream from beginning to end.

The different parts were taken by men all dressed as ladies, most elegantly and wonderfully gowned from the dignified old-fashioned girl to the most modern rouged and powdered flapper. The following officers took part:

Grand high mogul, Fred E. Perkins; vice-grand high mogul, Richard Nason; secretary, Charles Merriam; chaplaine, William Fortman; most excited pilot and grand executioner, Frank Stevens; grand door opener, James B. Sempie; candidate, Rynaldo Neil. Their conduct as ladies was highly amusing, each one proving to be a star in his own particular part, and there was something doing every moment. They were called back several times, finally returning bearing refreshments, which they served to the audience. ### FOOD FAIR OF MANHATTAN MARKET

The Food Fair to be held by the Manhattan Market of Central square, Cambridge, from June 5th to June 16th, has excited interest all over Cambridge and surrounding towns and cities. The Manhattan Market is the greatest unit for food distribution in the Metropolitan district, and therefore is in a position to creditably feature such a high class event, and the concerns represented constitute the best grade concerns with which the Manhattan market trades. The Demonstrators' Basket, featured for $2.50, is an example of Manhattan merchandising, and is a value of which every housewife should immediately make use, as this basket contains more articles actually needed by the housewife than any basket which has ever come to the writer's attention.

The myriad patrons of the "big store" will have the pleasure of enjoying seventeen courteous demonstrations, which will not only give each buyer a chance to purchase these articles, but which will educate each person regarding the merits of a great variety of high grade products.

The Manhattan Market's phone and delivery services play a great part in the convenience of trading at this establishment, for who does not appreciate the fact that she can phone on a rainy day for the delivery of a bulky order? And all of this at the lowest prices, while the quality is guaranteed on a "money-back if not satisfied" basis.

them. "Howie" Whitmore would probably tell you that no little of the credit for his pitching success is due to excellent receiving of Grundy Cronin. To say that Cronin is the best catcher of the 1922 season is simply stating an acknowledged fact.

Whitmore has had a good team behind him. Tedesco, Drennan, Stafford, Leary, and Meredith are infielders that rank above the average high school players while the outfield work of Capt. Murphy, Osborne, and Colburn has been tried and found not wanting.

The Newtonians have been dangerous batters and their greatest asset is the ability to hit when a hit means a run.

As yet in this little discussion we have not mentioned the name of Coach Dickinson. We know perfectly well that he wouldn't want us to mention it but now and then we have a habit of doing things that folks don't like. This happens to be one of the times. You could gather together the cream of the schoolboy players and form them into a team, but without the proper coaching your work would avail you nothing. And so it is with the Newton nine. A good fielding team? Yes. A good batting team? You said it. A first class battery? No doubt about it. A championship nine? We'll say so. A championship coach? You're right. Vive Dickinson!

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Another season of club activities has come to end, and with this issue the Club Editor closes the eighteenth year of her department. She is grateful for the hearty co-operation which the clubs of the city have given her during these many years, for without that no such department would be possible. In looking forward to another year to make the department more and more useful is ever in her mind. Unlike the Boston papers, the Graphic has always space for after-stories, and earnestly solicits them, if they contain something more than a repetition of the advance notice in the past tense. A fuller account of club activities along civic and philanthropic lines is always welcomed, as well as announcements of classes as they are held, in fact anything which will give suggestion or be helpful to other clubs, will find a place in the club column. In appointing next year's correspondent bear in mind that the news sense does not belong to every one, so if possible pick out some one who has had practice or training in writing, to whom the job will be a pleasure and not a burden, and your club members will take pride in reading the doings of their own club.

May you all have a restful summer and come back to the work in the fall with renewed energy, a greater enthusiasm and a broader vision.

Annual Meeting of State Federation

Until one has been through Federation meetings in the midst of storm, or cold, or heat, one does not realize how great a factor perfect weather plays in the success of a convention. Absolutely flawless weather throughout the entire three days contributed in no small measure to the impressions taken away by the hundreds of club women from the New Bedford meeting last week. This, together with unbounded hospitality of the hostess club women will mark forever in the minds of those present at the annual meeting at New Bedford as one of the Red Letter days of the Federation.

From the moment one stepped off the train at the station until the closing of the meetings one was conscious of the thoughtfulness of those who were entertaining. Almost every available space in the city was thrown open to the visiting delegates; all the hotels, both in New Bedford and in Fairhaven were full to overflowing, with many more provided for in private homes, and on every hand there were appreciative words regarding their comfort from delegates generally.

Those who went down upon the "official train" found plenty to do to fill the time until the opening of the session in the evening. The New Bedford Woman's Clubhouse was thrown open to the delegates for afternoon tea, and everywhere autos were at their disposal.

The Methodist Church, where the sessions were held, was of the old colonial type, with broad galleries, which gave ample room for both visiting delegates and local club women.

Promptly at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, May 28, Mrs. George Minot Baker, retiring president of the Federation, called to order her last convention. Gracious hospitality and warm welcome marked the messages from the hostess president, Mrs. A. H. Andrews, from Mayor W. H. B. Remington, and from Mr. Edmund Wood, president of the Board of Commerce.

The greetings and response out of the way, the convention soon got down to business, and there followed in quick succession the reports of the officers and directors of special committees. The Federation now numbers 333 clubs, and nearly 130,000 women. There is the substantial balance of $1810 in the treasury with which to begin the new administration. The report of the Federation Topics was most gratifying, in that it has paid for itself and will probably show a good balance on the right side.

Mrs. Baker brought vividly to mind the immense problems which confront the General Federation, as she has experienced them as director from Massachusetts. She called attention to the reorganization of departments that has been consummated, and stated that the working out in Massachusetts has been left for the incoming administration.

To those who have been attending Federation annual meetings for many years, the great gain in expedition of reports is, perhaps, one of the most striking things to be noted. During that first evening some seventeen persons gave reports in addition to the addresses of welcome, all within the space of two hours and a half. A feat of which any presiding officer may well be proud.

The following quotation from the New Bedford Standard regarding the Wednesday morning session is the summing up of the whole matter as it appeared to one unaccustomed to club conventions:

"Annual reports of departments were the feature of the morning, after the report of the nominating committee. Far from being dry-as-dust, routine reports, they were an illuminating exposition of the great constructive work which organized woman's clubs are doing. Ably written and well delivered, they had one striking feature in common, all departments are co-operating magnificently with city, State and national agencies for social and civic progress."

Mrs. Miller Goodwin Dowling, a member of the nominating committee, presented the report of that committee at the beginning of Wednesday morning's session, that all might be in readiness for opening the polls at noon. But a sentence or two can be quoted from the reports of the departments as they were submitted. The keynote of the Public Health department this year has been prevention. The clubs have completed the endowment for another bed at the Children's Hospital, and together with what single clubs have done, there is $8,000 under the Federation banner at that hospital. The legacy of the Industrial and Social Conditions department is the set of minimum standards relating to juvenile delinquency. Conservation has worked for city and town forests, for legislation relative to National Parks, and is hopeful that when the final vote is taken that the Roosevelt Sequoia National Park will be forever protected from commercial inroads. Mrs. Julian C. Woodman, as chairman, "that there are trees in that reservation that were several hundred years old when Christ was born."

The Home Economics department stated that there are 175 clubs having this department, the highest number yet announced.

A plan is being developed to make available educational films on home subjects for next year's club programs. These will be made by a commercial film company under the personal direction of specialists.

Mrs. W. S. Ripley, Jr., who has been at the head of the Education department for five years, urged the clubs to turn to the school superintendent for advice and suggestions as to practical ways in which the clubs may be of assistance. She stressed interest in and work for better speech, to help to create a linguistic conscience. The Legislative department noted increased interest in this branch, for 70 clubs have held legislative meetings.

A new feature was the report upon the philanthropic work of the clubs as obtained from a questionnaire sent out by Mrs. Baker, and great was the applause on the part of the delegates when she announced that over $80,000 has been reported to her from 214 clubs. The largest single item was for Child Welfare, and amounted to $14,044.37.

Just at this point attention was diverted from the regular program by the arrival of the Rhode Island delegation and the subsequent appearance of Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation, who slipped in quietly in time to hear the director from Rhode Island, Mrs. H. G. Bissell, give greetings from the General Federation.

At the afternoon session Miss May Bliss Dickinson opened the department reports with her word upon Motocraft, telling of intensive work in Massachusetts, where it has been introduced into 45 cities and towns, and of its spread over the world, even to China, and that the latest country seeking information is Albania, and also the Virgin Islands, where little girls have made a model layette, which is now on its way to Boston. An attempt to eliminate jazz music and arouse interest in abolishing many vile popular songs of today has been the work of the Music department, whose chairman, Mrs. A. H. Davison, has been asked to be leader of community singing at the coming Biennial at Chautauqua. The Literature chairman announced the completed "Anthology of Massachusetts Verse," while the Art department summed up its work through conferences, and called attention to the "Enchanted Frame," an entertainment arranged for club programs.

The Resolutions committee brought in a resolution asking that the field agents under the Volstead act be put under civil service rules. After a little discussion it was adopted.

Crediting were brought by a woman from Idaho, who concluded her remarks by reciting a poem, "Out Where the West Begins." To which Mrs. Winter added the comment, "The West begins in Massachusetts."

A report from the Civics department, with brief responses from a number of clubs which have recently joined the Federation, concluded the day's work, and the audience adjourned for a trip to Fairhaven, where they were cordially welcomed at the Rogers Memorial Church and listened to a description of the symbols embodied in that wonderful beautiful structure.

It was a quick shift that some of the delegates had to make from Fairhaven to their lodgings in many parts of New Bedford and adjacent localities, and the return to the New Bedford Hotel for the banquet at 7 o'clock. That club women like banquets was evidenced by the 550 who succeeded in getting tickets, though most of the hostess club members were obliged to forego the pleasure in order that all the visitors might attend. To serve so large a number is a tax upon the most experienced corps of assistants in a large city hotel, and proved to be more than the available service could do expeditiously, so that it was not until 9:45 P. M. that the after-dinner program could be begun. Mrs. Baker as toastmistress, presented Mrs. George O. Jenkins, who responded to "Our Days of Faith," in which she gave a tribute to the early workers. Mrs. Herbert J. Guernsey received nothing short of an ovation when she rose to respond to "Our Years of Achievement," saying we have reached a high and splendid plateau of achievement, ahead are the heights still to be climbed. The use we make of this achievement will make the future of our Federation. "The Dawning of a New Day" was Mrs. Poole's toast; as she made us play the game of "Just Suppose," she pointed out our dreams of childhood, of youth, and of womanhood. For the Federation she has the dream of some simple headquarters in Boston.

Then came Mrs. Winter's inspiring address on "The Moving World," in which she traced the progress of woman from earliest time up to the 20th century, closing with these words:

"We have come into the heritage of the women who have struggled. It makes the thing in which we are sharing very sacred. The thing which they built upon primarily was a higher relation between men and women. That is the very foundation of our progress. All the work we are getting into today is based upon that. It is our responsibility to those shades to build upon their structure a spiritualized civilization."

"This is the chivalry of today, when the men say to the women: 'We respect your character and ability, and love to have you express your own individuality. Come on in and share the jobs.'"

"We must stand together. The change in the census view came only because there were 2,000,000 of us. We made a fight against the first Arbuckle films, protesting against the emphasizing of all the ugly phases of the life that case represented, and in three days we obtained from Mr. Hays the promise of the withdrawal of the film."

"We are here not to get for ourselves, but to make our power felt a million times as great as one woman's power."

"The world turns toward this country today because America is the only

united country in the world and the one country that carries deep in its heart the principle of democracy."

Thursday morning found the delegates still doing business at the old stand. That the first goal of the Endowment Fund has been reached was announced through the report of the chairman, Mrs. Arthur A. Hibbard, when she said: "We may now use the income." A plea was made for all clubs in the State to join in the General Federation. Mrs. George O. Jenkins was elected trustee of the Endowment Fund. And then came the fun, the action upon certain amendments to the by-laws, when the delegates became ensnared in the wiles and intricacies of amendments upon amendments, until it took the wisdom of Mrs. Winter to straighten things out, and it all was about the very simple matter of excepting the treasurer from the two-year limit of service placed upon the other officers.
At length it was successfully accomplished and the treasurer will be eligible for a three years' service.

Mrs. Winter asked the privilege of the platform to bring the matter of the opium trade in the United States to the attention of the women, urging them to follow the outcome and be ready to take a stand upon the right side.

The report of the tellers announced that the election had been practically unanimous for the ticket presented.
Then came the farewells and the welcome-ins, both the outgoing and incoming presidents being literally buried in flowers until, as Mrs. Winter put it, they looked like "animated greenhouses."

During the morning came word from outside that there was a fire across the street, with the request that the women remain inside so not to hamper the work of the firemen.
Very calmly and quietly the business proceeded until the session was adjourning, when came the further request for the delegates to remain for about ten minutes longer, when the street would be cleared of apparatus.
The company sang for a while and then resolved themselves into an informal reception so that they could speed the parting and welcome the incoming presidents. By that time all the obstacles had been removed and the thirtieth annual meeting was a thing of the past.

MEMORIAL DAY

Blow softly O Southwind
Through Nature's bright bowers,
And wake from their slumbers
Our loved ones; Bid the snow drop and daisy Hasten along
And awaken the prelude
To Nature's grand song.

The breath of the violet the lily's fair shield,
All the beauties that brighten forest and field
The wildwood's green tracery, the wild birds' sweet day,
We would add to our offerings "Memorial Day."

Let the dainty tipped rose her petals ope wide
And scatter her fragrance o'er the heroes who died,
While a grateful people with low bowed head,
Are chanting a requiem o'er the Nation's dead.

N. J. BAILLOU, Newton Centre.

DEATH OF MRS. COBB

Mrs. George W. Cobb, all of whose married life had been spent in Newton, died Monday morning at her home, 3 Jefferson street. Before her marriage she was Ellen M. Rice, the daughter of Franklin and Patience
Rice, and she was born at Union, Maine. Mr. Cobb, her husband, has for forty-five years owned a drug store in East Boston.

Besides her husband she is survived by five children, three sons, William of Chicago, George and Leon of California, and two daughters, Mrs. Herman Wells of Scituate, and Miss Mabel Cobb of Newton.

Services were held at her late residence on Wednesday. A delegation from the Sarah Hull Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution, of which she was a member, attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. H.
Grant Person of Eliot Church, and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

DOG SHOW COMING

Some of the most aristocratic dogs in the East will be benched at the 19th annual show of the Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts on June 9, at Auburndale. In past years this has taken rank as the biggest outdoor show in the country, and this year's premium list far exceeds any of its predecessors.

Supt. W. M. G. Clark has arranged to instal new fixtures and benches for the whole show as an addition protection for the many dogs which will compete. The weather will not interfere with the progress of the judging, as it will be conducted under tents, as usual. Having the dogs benched in the open air and an entirely new set of fixtures will reduce the risk of the dogs contracting distemper or other diseases to a minimum.

The net proceeds of the affair will be contributed to the charity fund of the Newton Lodge of Elks.

NORUMBEGA PARK

With the 1922 season in full swing, the management of Norumbega is preparing to present a series of novelties which will enhance the great interest in this favorite pleasure resort.

Norumbega boasts of the finest open-air theatre in America, and this year the entertainments will comprise the best vaudeville obtainable, with the latest motion pictures, and every effort will be made to present only the features that have not been seen in the theatres of the various communities adjacent to the park.

Moreover, the bills will be changed twice each week, while special Sunday concerts will be given throughout the season.

Y. W. C. A.

Tuesday evenings, at 8 o'clock, there is a social dancing class for girls sixteen and over. This class will terminate on the seventeenth of June with a dance for the members and their friends.

On Wednesday afternoon there will be basketball on the Burr Playground for the younger girls, and on Wednesday evenings there is a dressmaking class at 7.30.

Tennis lessons will be given on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Those wishing lessons, for which a nominal fee will be charged, are asked to sign up ahead of time in order to avoid conflicts.

Saturdays, there will be hikes, picnics and week-end parties. For further information apply at the Y. W. C.
A.

Track practice at the Newton Y. W.
C. A. has been going on regularly, and last week the team was picked to enter the Inter Y. W. C. A. meet on June 10th, at the Harvard Stadium.
Fourteen Newton girls have been picked to compete against the other teams: Margaret Bascom, Helen Bates, Alta Blakely, Emily Dolbier, Florence Hopwood, Blanche Lacy, Muriel MacClelland, Mary McPherson,
Muriel Naylor, Melba Peterson, Lilla Ritcey, Alice Stahl, Eleanor Sheridan and Evelyn Whittemore, with Doris Stormont as a substitute in the baseball throw.

In the thirty-yard dash, Florence Hopwood and Muriel MacClelland will be the contestants; in the hundredyard dash, Melba Peterson and Mary McPherson; in the hurdles, Blanche Lacy; in the baseball throw, Alice Stahl and Eleanor Sheridan, with Doris Stormont as substitute; in the shot-put, Margaret Bascom and Lilla Ritcey; in the running broad jump, Evelyn Whittemore; standing broad jump, Muriel Naylor and Lilla Ritcey; running high jump, Alta Blakely and Emily Dolbier. On the relay team, which is composed of eight girls,
there are: Mary McPherson, Blanche Lacy, Melba Peterson, Evelyn White-more, Muriel MacClelland, Florence Hopwood and Helen Bates, with one place still undecided.

CORNER STONE TO BE LAID

On Tuesday, June 6th, at 5 o'clock, a simple but impressive ceremony will mark the laying of the corner stone of the new clubhouse of the N. C. W.
Club.

How many ambitious plans for the community, how much of a new, broader outlook for the social life of the village, how much help for its educational and civic interests, are all part of this realized dream, it is too early to announce; but it can be truthfully said that these interests have all been fundamentally part of all the efforts to make this dream come true, and the officers and the club are united in the earnest wish to make the clubhouse a means of better, larger co-operative life for the whole of Newton Centre.

SUCCESSFUL OPERETTA

Auburndale Children Give a Fine Performance of "The Golden Day"

This operetta, by Marion Loder, rearranged by Rev. and Mrs. Earl E. Harper, for rendition by a large group of boys and girls, instead of the small number of girls for whom it was originally written, was given in the Methodist Parish House at Auburndale Friday night, June 2.

An audience that filled every seat in the Parish House and overflowed into the gallery, greeted the children (Continued on Page 10)

SAD ACCIDENT

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Porter were found dead Tuesday morning in their room at the John A. Andrew Home in Newtonville, death having been caused by suffocation by gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter had retired as usual the night before and it is presumed that Mrs. Porter must have arisen in the night and in some manner turned on the gas without lighting it. Her body was found on the floor and that of her husband on the bed.

Mr. Porter was 87 years of age and was formerly prominent in the insurance business. His wife, Nellie C. Porter was 88 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Porter have been at the home for two years.

Mr. Porter has been married three times and is survived by two sons and a daughter.

Funeral services will be held at the Home tomorrow at 10.30 A. M. in charge of Rev. Dr. Chas. R. Ross of the Newtonville M. E. Church and there will be a Grand Army service in charge of officers of Edward N. Kinsley Post of Boston. The burial will be at Springfield.

A CONCERT OF MUCH INTEREST

The concert of 17th and 18th century Italian music, which is to be given in St. James Theatre by the Italian Symphony Orchestra next Sunday evening at eight o'clock, is of interest to Newton people.

Mr. Raffaele Martino, the conductor, spent much time during the past winter, training the foreign children of Newton Upper Falls, for an operetta which was given with marked success in February. It is not often that our children have the opportunity to come under the instruction of an artist of Mr. Martino's standing and those who attended this delightful performance, will be glad to see Mr. Martino in work more in accordance with his ability. The concert is attracting unusual interest among musicians and music lovers. Thirty musicians will play this ancient music and will dress in the costume of the period.

REV. MR. JAYNES DEAD

Word was received yesterday morning that Rev. Julian Clifford Jaynes, the pastor emeritus of the West Newton Unitarian Church, had died while on his way to his summer home in Prince Edward Island. Mr. Jaynes, accompanied by Mrs. Jaynes and their children, left here Monday evening for Charlottetown, P. E. I., and while he has been in poor health for some time, his condition was not deemed to be serious, and he was looking forward to a pleasant summer on the island. His death took place while on the train within a short distance of his destination. The body has been brought back and the funeral services will be held at the West Newton Unitarian Church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Jaynes was born at Drainsville, Va., January 18, 1854, and was the son of Charles L. and Martha Jaynes.

At the beginning of the Civil War he removed with his parents to Connecticut. When he was ten years of age he was taken to Wisconsin, and subsequently entered the University of Wisconsin in the class of '75. For several years following his graduation he taught school in California.

ZONING ORDINANCE PASSED

Aldermen Defeat Hostile Amendments at a Session Lasting Over Five Hours

While there were many important matters considered by the aldermen on Monday night, all were overshadowed by the debate and action taken on the proposed Zoning ordinance, which, after nearly three hours of discussion was finally adopted by a vote of 14 to 7.

Alderman White opened the debate on this matter with a few personal remarks relative to recent editorials in the GRAPHIC on the matters of teachers' salaries and the zoning ordinance. Alderman White said in part, "I am somewhat surprised that such an ardent supporter of the bill making publication of false statements in a political campaign, which recently passed the house of which he is a member, with a penalty of six months in prison or a $1000 dollar fine would resort, under what is apparently the freedom of the press, to garble and misrepresent remarks made in this chamber at the session prior to his publication."

I leave it to this board as to whether or not, in acting as Chairman of the Finance Committee of this board, I did not in reporting this budget at the meeting distinctly state it was the opinion of the Finance Committee that this saving might be made out of the total appropriation of $725,000,—and if the increases were not found for meeting the teachers' schedule they could then come back to the board at a later date.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court, which was pending at the time, shows us exactly where we are and, in my opinion, weakens the attitude of the School Committee. It was not my thought to make any personal remarks when I said that they were financially incompetent, in my opinion, if they could not make this saving.

He said 'Alderman White was willing to vent his spite on the innocent school teachers'.

I distinctly stated that I had sympathy with the school teachers and gave my reasons why, and I never have or never will vote against the increase, within decent range, for teachers of the City of Newton.

The worst of all, Mr. President, is the continued reference to "asleep at the switch" of the present administration, and of course he could mean no one else but His Honor the Mayor, and in the time the Mayor has been Mayor of the city, he has never yet

THE LATE REV. J. C. JAYNES

DEATH OF REV. MR. JAYNES

In 1880 he returned East and entered the Harvard Divinity School, from which he was graduated in 1884. He was ordained to the ministry at the West Newton Church in 1885, and served it all his life, although called many times to larger churches. He was a most successful preacher, and was a potent factor in the religious growth of West Newton. Failing health caused his retirement from active service on January 1st of this year, and his appointment as pastor emeritus.

Mr. Jaynes was twice married, his first wife, who died some years ago, being Helen Haynes, and his second wife, who survives him, with three small children, was Miss Clara Bul-lard.

JUST KEPT GROWING

The origins of these antiquated, cumbersome, costly, inefficient pieces of the national machinery that we call the executive departments show how any establishment if well watered with government money will expand and hold together, no matter how conflicting and incongruous its functions. Hardly one of these great business establishments—for that is what they are—was planned. As they are today they just happened.

Take the Department of Agriculture, for example, one of the greatest and most complex and widespread of all the departments. It is in closer touch and more directly affects the greatest number of people in the United States than any other branch of the government with the possible exception of the post office. It began in 1839 with an appropriation of $1,000, taken from the patent funds for the distribution of free seeds and the collection of agricultural statistics by the patent office, then a bureau in the State department. Now look at the darning thing. It is all over the place.

The title of the department indicates its most important field of activities, but its functions have been extended to include the whole range of rural industry and some branches of administration only very indirectly related to agricultural interests. For about 60 years subsequent to the Revolution the general interests of agriculture were left almost entirely to individual initiative. Federal activity was confined to relatively narrow limits and was merely sporadic. Soon after the national government was organized some attempts were made to establish a board of agriculture; but neither the first proposal in 1796 nor a second effort in 1817 was successful.

Shortly after the Revolution, following the example of Benjamin Franklin while in England, as agent of the colony of Pennsylvania during the years 1764 to 1775, American consuls and naval officers began the practice of sending home foreign seeds and cuttings for new crops, and of aiding in the introduction into the United States of new breeds of domestic animals. Even such small governmental participation was, in the beginning, rather extra-official.

In 1836 the commissioner of patents, one H. L. Ellsworth, began the distribution of considerable quantities of seeds and plants received from government representatives in foreign countries; and three years later through his influence an appropriation of $1,000 was made for the purpose of procuring and distributing seeds of new plants, carrying agricultural investigations and collecting agricultural statistics. This was the historic beginning of the much-talked-about free seed distribution.

By an act of congress in May, 1862, since generally called the organic act, the activities of the government affecting agriculture were placed under a separate and distinct organization known as the Department of Agriculture, in charge of a commissioner of agriculture. It did not rank, however, with the other executive departments, and the commissioner was not entitled to a seat in the President's cabinet. Isaac Newton, chief of the agricultural section in the patent office, was appointed the first commissioner of agriculture. Other officers provided by the organic act included a statistician, a chemist, an entomologist and a superintendent of the propagating garden and experimental farm.

The chrysalis was now ready to be broken. In 1889 the Department of Agriculture was elevated to the rank of the other executive departments and its commissioner was made secretary of agriculture with a seat in the President's cabinet. This was in Grover Cleveland's administration. In honor of its new rank a few more functions were taken on.

But that's enough detail. It kept on growing. Beginning with an appropriation of $1,000 and two or three clerks, the department had, in 1910, employees to the number of 12,480, and an appropriation of $12,965,633. Five years later the appropriation had grown to $19,865,832 and the employees to 16,223. The employees in May, 1920, numbered 18,068 and the appropriation given by congress for the fiscal year 1921 was $31,475,368.

The department has increased its cost of living in 82 years from a mere $1,000—that is, $83.33 a month—to more than $31,000,000 a year—$2,622,947.38 every month. That shows as clearly and as sharply as it can be shown how the high cost of government living affects your own cost of living.

We, you and I, paid out of our savings and earnings every red cent of that increase from $1,000 a year to more than $31,000,000. It may have been well spent. We probably got a run for our money; but nobody knows, except in a general way. We have a right to know. It is simply fatheadness on our part not to find out.

Little Thomas Sunborg, a nephew of Mme. Sundelius, is a member of the Underwood Kindergarten.

Mt. Ida School

Class Day exercises at the Mt. Ida School, Newton, were held on Tuesday, and many of the alumnae who were present Monday, remained for this occasion and for the graduation on Wednesday.

Tuesday's program opened with an address of welcome by the class president, June D. Coddington of North Milwaukee, Wis., after which the class oration was given by Linda V. Storrer of Ovid, Mich., and the class prophecy read by Veronica M. Coulter of Bridgeport, Conn. The humorous class will was read by Charlotte A. ### Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The baseball team won the last game of the schedule from the Burr team at Auburndale, on Tuesday afternoon, by the score of 7 to 1. The team has a perfect record in the games played, and has a clear title to the pennant. It is expected that a shield, suitably inscribed, will be awarded to the school by the Playground Department. The shield will be placed upon the corridor walls. The team has been captained by John Proctor, managed by Wm. Murphy, and coached by Jos. Meredith. The players on the regular team are: Newton Hanscom, pitcher; John Proctor, catcher; Louis Cerullo, 1st base; Wm. Yurick, 2nd base; Wm. Murphy, 3rd base; Melvin Chambers, left fielder; William Kerschinsky, centre fielder; Stanley Balkont, right fielder. Substitutes: Norman Payne, John Fontannay and Paul Bloh. A complete record of the games with scores follows:

May 2—Hyde vs. Emerson, score, 5 to 6.

"Little Mary Redcross" has presented another $5 to the school.

Williams School

On Tuesday evening a delightful time was spent by the Williams-Burr Club at the home of the Misses Randall on Bacon place, Upper Falls. A basket lunch and entertainment added to the enjoyment of the guests.

Miss Bragg and Mr. Daniels and the grade visitors made a trip around the city on Tuesday afternoon, noticing special features in each room.

In the Kindergarten room, the individual pots of nasturtiums and tomato plants selected by the children were noted, and the wonderfully complete farm yard staged on a large table, also a roller coaster project.

The "Dorothy Williams" cottage, a cottage large enough to be used as a home, was much admired in Grade 1. A circus and framed posters were also attractions.

In Grade 2 the individual health charts kept by the pupils were of interest, and the "Leisure Table," also a poster of "Esquimaux Land."

The fourth grade has done splendid work with wild flowers, classifying and writing about them.

Two large posters have been made in Grade 6: "A Birdseye Map of Health Land" and "Healthland Flyer."

All the children in this grade have taken out cards in the Newton Free Library, and several have read over 100 books, many have read 50 or more since last September.

Burr School

The 7th grade took the Boston City Historical Tour last week.

The 8th grade held a candy sale on Thursday to raise money for their class party.

The Burr team lost the decisive game with the Emerson boys on Tuesday, by a score of 7 to 1. They now hold second place in the league.

Lasell

On Tuesday morning Lasell held its 67th commencement, graduating 77 students, the largest class in the history of the school.

As in former years, the exercises took place in the Congregational Church. The opening prayer and benediction were offered by the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington Street Church, Boston. Dr. Ashley Day Leavitt of Brookline delivered the address.

The last chapel was held at 3.30 that morning, and was led by Dr. Winslow. At the close of the religious services there was the awarding of certificates and prizes.

The gold loaf, the first prize in the bread making contest, which is one of the most sought for awards, was given to Miss Eleanor Knight of Wollaston, Mass., while the second prize, a silver loaf, went to Miss Carolyn Bovey of Newton Centre.

Miss Miriam Dailey of North Troy, Vt., a senior, won the highest percentage in all studies in two years, and was awarded a gold medal with a mark of 891-6. Three swaters were also awarded for the three best all-around Lasell girls, based on character shown, studies, athletics, good influence, democratic manner, thoughtfulness, being a good mixer, a good winner and a better loser, breaking no rules, doing no dishonorable act, personal appearance, health and appearance of room. These awards went to Miss Harriet Case of Hartford, Conn.; Miss Katherine Howe, Helena, Arkansas, both seniors, and Miss Elizabeth Mitchell, a junior, of Norfolk, Va.

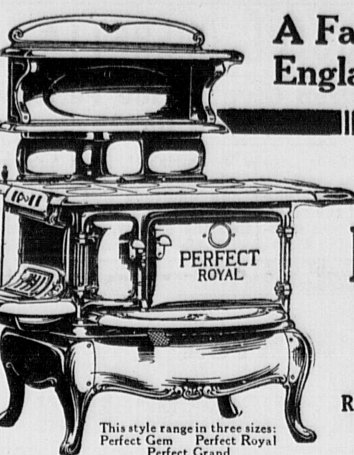

Class night, on Monday night, was a very delightful occasion, and of the great tent on the campus was filled to its capacity.

Miss Jean Woodward, the senior president, gave the welcoming address. Miss Harriet Case called the roll; Miss Agnes Bishop the momentaries, and Miss Helen Stern the prophecy. The class gift to the school was $2,000, to be used for the endowment fund.

PLAYGROUND TO BE DEDICATED

The new Nonantum Playground will be dedicated tomorrow with a field day, beginning at 3.30 in the afternoon. The program includes an address by Mayor Childs, who will accept the playground on behalf of the city. The Italian Royal Consul will also be present with other speakers. There will be a baseball game between married and single men, and sports for the children. In the evening there will be fireworks and dancing.

The playground is the gift of citizens of Newton, who have raised $5990 for the enterprise.

NEWTON HIGH WINS

The track team of the Newton High School won a notable victory last Saturday when it won the second annual track meet of the Mass. High School Association at the Harvard Stadium. Newton won with a total of 35½ points with Medford a close second with 35 points.

Almost from the first event, Newton and Medford showed up as the strongest teams, and their battle for supremacy was keen all the afternoon, closing with a thrilling relay, in which Rely of Medford barely staved off McDavitt of Newton in the rush for the tape.

Newton showed a team with strength in every event, due largely to the work of its all-around coach, Arthur Roberts, who has developed a team of exceptional ability.

The Newton boys were especially strong in the hurdles, in which Richards led his rivals home in the lows, and Considine and Barber had the high hurdles all their own way. Every event was closely contested, with all the schools fighting for points. Only one accident marred the meet, that in which Crendon of Brockton fell as he was leading both Boley of Rindge and Lawlor of Winthrop to the tape.

The final race between Newton and Medford was the best race of the day with the best time of the meet being turned in by the two teams as their anchor men breasted the tape practically together. McDavitt ran a beautiful race starting with a three-yard handicap and steadily gaining until the stretch, where he could not pass Rely and was beaten when the latter threw himself across the line.

In all, three records were broken and two were equalled, a very good day's work in any sort of a gathering. Warren Moody of Medford high wrecked the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 7¼ inches, and Bill Richards of Newton high equalled Paul Movshian's 220-yard low hurdle mark when he was clocked in 28.25 seconds.

Newton captured the meet because of its strength in the hurdles. The Garden City athletes scored 13 of their total in the fence contests, while Medford got but one point for its efforts. It is odd, too, that Medford trailing, besides getting more first places than Newton, scored in nine of the 10 contests. Newton was able to get points in but eight of the events.

All the running events were sprinkled with fine competition, and there were fights galore in the intermediate and junior contests that did not figure in the point making. Moore won the 100 after a sizzling battle with Weeks of Newton, but there was light showing between the pair at the finish. McQuiston brought smiles to the Newton faces with his front place rush in the furlong. The best time he showed was a full second behind the record, but lack of competition had something to do with the clocking.

Facts About Hydrophobia.

Many people have an idea that dogs only go mad during the so-called "dog days." As a matter of fact, the disease that drives dogs mad—hydrophobia or rabies—can be contracted at any time from a rabid animal and is scarcely more prevalent at one season than at another.

MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED

A Memorial Tablet in memory and in honor of the Soldiers from Newton Upper Falls who served in the World War will be unveiled next Sunday afternoon, June 11, on the lawn of the Emerson School at 3 o'clock. Major Gen. Clarence R. Edwards will deliver the address. The public is cordially invited to come.

Woolston, r.f. The pitching of Arnold for the Red Sox has been excellent and has kept the team well up in the standing. The feature game of this week was played on Thursday evening.

A UNIQUE SERVICE

A service of unique form and interest will be held by the Unitarian Church of Newton Centre on Sunday, June 11. The present church building was used for the last time on June 4, and will be ready for occupancy again in September. Not wishing to discontinue the services until later in June, it was decided to hold on June 11 an out-of-door service. This service will be held in Jolly Hollow on Bracebridge road, Newton Centre. The amphitheatre between the residences of Mr. A. C. Burnham and Mr. A. O. Fulton is a beautiful spot, well suited for out-of-door worship. The church choir and organist will assist in the service and a cornet will lead in familiar hymns to be sung by the people. The sermon will be given by Rev. George L. Parker.

GLORY DESTROYED BY TIME

Of the Once Mighty Cities of Babylon and Nineveh Hardly a Vestige Remains.

When the ancient kingdom of the Assyrians fell through effeminacy and negligence 300 years after the Trojan war, many petty states arose out of its ruins, two of which raised themselves to a high degree of power. The kings of Media subdued the mountain land of Persia, and established relations of amity with hordes that wandered on the eastern side of the Caspian sea; they conquered also a portion of the empire which had centered in Nineveh. At the same time the king of Babel, or Babylon, flourished with still greater magnificence and power.

In Babylon, ancient seat of learning and science, Nabopolassar, after a long period of anarchy and division, erected a most powerful monarchy, whose sceptre Nebuchadnezzar, his son, extended from the Caucasus mountains, where he defeated the Iberians, to the sandy deserts of Lybia. He burnt Jerusalem; defeated Ammon, Moab and Edom; conquered Tyre, the richest city of the Phoenicians; laid waste Egypt, and formed his empire on new boundaries. He adorned Babylon, the city of his residence, with the noblest works of architecture, but of this city the ruins are scarcely discernible. It is still more difficult to trace the vestiges of Nineveh, which lie a three days' journey from it, and whose ruins have sunk in the marshy soil.

A male quartet sang "Crossing the Bar" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

WHITES TO ABSORB MAORIS?

That Fate, Rather Than Extinction, Said to Be Assured to New Zealand Tribe.

The ingenious explanation that they wouldn't have eaten neighbors had beef, mutton or pork been more abundant on the early New Zealand market stamps the native Maoris as a race with working brains, and their physique have long been praised. It is not surprising, therefore, that, as a correspondent records, these aboriginals are among the few in modern times who, instead of promptly vanishing, will doubtless be absorbed into the white man's family.

Fifty thousand pure-bred Maoris still remain, half of whom are practically civilized. Many have attained to high political position. There are four Maori members in the house of representatives, two in the legislative council and one is an important minister in the executive council.

Themselves Polynesians of remote East Indian blood, these natives, be it added, are not strictly aboriginals. They are thought to have "displaced," in a table d'hôte, some 500 years ago a savory stock of Melanesians or Papuans.

Has Served Country Well.

Senior Portal, for the last 30 years the leading journalist of Peru and the author of 12 "best sellers" in that country, has done for his native land what Luis Taboada did for Spain, Mark Twain for the United States, and, long ago, Moliere for France; while waging war with his pen, he has created true literature. Thirty years ago, when he laid down the sword he had carried with honor through the Peruvian struggle with Chile, he took up arms against every imaginable weakness, shortcoming, sin, and vice of his fellow countrymen; and in laughter-frolicking sarcasm and scathing irony he has depicted all the wickedness to which flesh—and particularly Peruvian flesh—is heir.

Velocity of Light.

Physicists never tire of efforts to increase the accuracy of their knowledge of the fundamental facts of science. A redetermination of the velocity of light by the Fizeau toothed wheel method was made at Nice, these experiments were remarkable on account of the great distance over which the beam of light employed was transmitted. Previously such a beam had been caused to travel about fifteen miles, but on this occasion the reflecting mirror was so placed that the total distance traversed by the beam, going and returning, was fifty-seven miles. The mean of 1100 observations gave for the velocity of light 186,225 1/2 miles a second.

Get Lucky Tips in Dreams.

When an Italian has a dream he doesn't go tell his friends about it for the sake of making conversation, but hurries to get his dream book to find out what the dream portends. The book has a number for everything man wears, has, eats and sees. Things shown in a dream are looked up, and the corresponding numbers are played by the Italian in the week's national lottery. And if he doesn't win, says Kenneth L. Roberts in the Saturday Evening Post, he feels positive that somebody with the Evil Eye has looked at him and broken his chances. The man with the Evil Eye is hated, feared and shunned.

Keeping Water Cool.

The only way to keep water cool is to surround it with some material that is a bad conductor of heat, or in other words, does not pass on the heat too rapidly. The poorest conductor of heat is a vacuum or space from which the air has been excluded; hence, a thermos or vacuum flask makes the best container for cold water. Other bad conductors of heat are wood, leather, felt, horn, bone; containers made of or covered with these materials will keep liquids cooler than those made of metal or glass.

The San Nicola fraternal society, composed of many of the Italian residents of this city, held a street parade, a church service and an entertainment on Sunday. The parade formed in Nonantum, under the leadership of its president, Mr. Joseph Antoinelli, and marched to the church of Our Lady, where the flags of the society were christened. The parade then reformed and marched to the music of the band to Eliot Block at Newton. Here Mayor Childs and Messrs. Baldo Guedi and Francisco Argento addressed the members, and there was an enjoyable entertainment by Mr. Antoinelli, Mr. Louis Tabaldi and Frank Madden, followed by refreshments.

EDITORIAL

Notwithstanding the strictures made by Alderman White on Monday night on recent editorials in this paper, we still adhere to the position taken in the editorials in question. There was nothing "garbled" or "misrepresented" in those editorials and Alderman White's position on the matters there discussed, was stated definitely and fairly. He admits that he reported the school budget without providing for the usual annual increases for teachers salaries according to the standard schedule and admits that he suggested that the school committee should make such increases from savings in their appropriations. He ignores, however, what we clearly stated in our editorial, the distinct provision in the statute which limits the action of the school committee to the amounts stated in the budget, a fact of which he must have been aware and which for reasons known only to himself, he has thus far omitted to discuss. His present "sympathy" with the school teachers and his statement that "I never have or never will vote against the increase, within decent range, for teachers" must be judged therefore not by what is said but by what is done, and the record shows that Mr. White and eight others voted against the item to allow school teachers to receive the small annual increase in salaries provided in the standard schedule of salaries, and to which, as, in the case of policemen and firemen, the good faith of the city is pledged.

Mr. White also takes exceptions to our statement that he has not attended meetings of the Zoning committee of which he has been a member since January 1st. He declares that he attended meetings on April 27, May 1 and May 8 and the chairman of the Zoning committee openly stated in board meeting that Mr. White has not attended any meeting of that committee to his knowledge and further states, that he, the chairman, has been present at every meeting of that committee. We ask our readers to decide which of these gentlemen is telling the truth and refer Mr. White to the legislature enacted by the present Legislature on the initiative of the editor of the Graphic prohibiting, under drastic penalties, the making of false statements in political campaigns and we almost regret that we were unable to widen the scope of that legislation so as to include public statements made by members of our city governments.

We hope that some public recognition will be given to Alderman George V. Phipps for his long, arduous and most efficient work in preparing the Zoning ordinance. No one can fully realize the amount of hard work which has been done by Mr. Phipps, or the amount of time and patience he has expended on the matter. For over a year he has lived with the measure, patiently receiving the suggestions, queries and complaints from hundreds of citizens and organizations and giving every person and every phase of the subject the most painstaking and courteous attention. The city owes him a debt which it cannot pay.

We believe that the Zoning ordinance which has just been passed by our city government will meet with the hearty approval of nearly all our people. It is impossible to satisfy everybody and it is manifestly impossible to draft a perfect ordinance, but the one adopted Monday night seems to be as near the ideal as it is possible to realize. While, at an earlier stage of its consideration, we advocated the same suggestion as was embodied in the amendment, presented and defeated on Monday night, i. e., but one residential zone with provisions for a so-called super zone on petition,—we have come to the conclusion that with the wide publicity given the zone districts, the fact that 90% of the citizens desired the single residential zone, and the advantage that it is easier to secure future legislation downwards than it would be upwards,—we now believe that the committee plan for two residential districts is by far the better for a city like Newton.

The lack of interest in the latest movement to enlarge Nonantum square is most significant, and proves that the public is not greatly impressed by the plan. As a matter of fact, the taking off of the present French's corner would be altogether too expensive for the additional ground to be gained. If anything is to be done in that direction, the plan of Mr. Lloyd should be followed and make a genuine widening of the square. We still maintain that no widening is necessary if the local street cars were taken out of the square, and in that position we are upheld by many persons who have the fullest knowledge of the situation.

The final success of the Neagle claim, after some nine years of agitation, merely goes to show that in politics nearly anything is possible. The present city government by its action in approving this claim goes on record as admitting the right of the Mayor to involve the city in a liability for which the legislative branch of the city government had made no appropriation—a precedent which, we predict, will rise up many times in the future.

We congratulate the residents of Nonantum on the completion of their new playground on Hawthorne street and we congratulate those citizens whose generosity made that playground possible.

The death of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes takes from us the oldest clergyman in point of service in the city and a man who has had a most unique and valuable pastorate. Few men in these days give their whole life to one purpose and there are still less of those whose whole life work is given to one people.

Mr. Jaynes had but one parish and to that parish he gave a most wonderful and virile service—a service which will long be remembered and which has set a high standard for every minister in the city.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Prorogation seemed possible early this week but with whole sessions devoted by the House to a single proposition, the session has dragged on so that it may be necessary to meet again next week.

One session was devoted to the debate on the bill to remove the picture from the walls of the Boston Public Library entitled the "Synagogue" which the Jews of this vicinity seem to think is a libel on their religion. The bill passed with but little opposition, although there was a flood of oratory in favor of the measure. One speaker in his remarks said that "a Catholic ought to be a good Catholic, a Protestant, a good Protestant, a Unitarian, a good Unitarian, and a Jew a good Jew." Just why he made a distinction between Protestants and Unitarians has not yet been explained.

Another interesting incident took place this week when a member urged the House to "take the bull by the horns and throw it out of the window." The state tax bill went through this week with a welcome reduction in the assessment on Newton from $213,000 last year to $189,000 this year. The much exploited 5-cent fare bills and other moves against the Boston Elevated management were given short shrift when the House got at them on Wednesday, being refused admittance by a vote of about 3 to 1.

Newton residents interested in the State control of penal institutions will note that the House yesterday refused to accept the conference committee report, which, while not wholly satisfactory, was at least a move in the right direction. The vote was 83 to 133 and all three Newton representatives voted for the measure.

Representative Early was on the job on Tuesday when, in the course of the debate on the establishment of a Metropolitan Transportation Commission, a Boston member put in an amendment annexing Newton and a few other places to Boston. Mr. Early promptly raised a point of order on the amendment which the Speaker sustained. This incident simply goes to show the necessity of having an alert representative always on the spot.

J. C. Brimblecom.

Stearns School

The three highest percentages for the May attendance report were Miss Eddington, Grade VIII, 98.8; Mr. Dacey, Grade VIII, 98.1; and Miss McLaughlin, Grade VI, 98.0.

The Brownie Troop, No. 1, had its final meeting on Tuesday afternoon, June 6th, on Stearns School Playground. Recreational and gymnastic games were played under the direction of Mrs. Hoogard. Mrs. Kenelm Winslow, the Director of Stearns School Centre, who is sponsor of the Brownie Troop, served ice cream to the members. She was assisted by Sisters Phelps, Towle, Clark, Ratcliffe, Rich, Hatch, and Spring. Each Brownie was awarded a Brownie Tinker cap as an emblem of merit for the Tinker test. The Brownies will reorganize in the fall, when weekly meetings will be held at Stearns School Centre.

The Mothers' Club will hold its June outing at Nantasket Beach on Tuesday, June 13th. The first group will leave Stearns Centre at 10 A. M., and others will leave at 1 P. M., but the entire club will remain down for the evening boat ride. Mrs. W. Hermon Allen, Mrs. G. W. Auryansen, and Miss Sara C. Schlechter will have charge

MISS MARCY'S SCHOOL

A program of unusual interest was held in the Hunnewell Club on Thursday afternoon by the pupils of Miss Marcy and Miss Lewenthal's School.

The program opened with folk songs by the little children, followed by songs by the older children. The third number was an exhibition of rhythmic, showing what can be done in the training of the ear to distinguish different rhythms, major and minor tones, cadences, etc.

A delightful fairy tale, "The Troll King," was then presented by the little children with evident enjoyment, which was shared by their audience. In conclusion, two French plays, "De Dejeuner" and "Stella," were given with the exquisite diction which distinguishes the French of this school. The parts were very well taken, proving that the pupils were thoroughly at home in the language.

Those taking part in Fairy Tales were: Frances Adams, Sherman Howes, Betty Scates, Richard Minor, Felice Kornfeld, Victor Cutter, David Kornfeld, Jr.

In the French plays were: Eleanor Haley, Frances Adams, Sherman Howes, Catherine Fleming, Felice Kornfeld, Betty Scates, Lewis Kornfeld, Jr., Augusta Hallett, Janet McKenzie, Phebe Alden, Margaret LeClear, Hildegarde Dolling, Catherine Fleming.

NEWTON LOSES

Somerville High defeated the Suburban League champion, Newton High School, 5 to 2, in a league game at the George Dillboy Field, West Somerville, Wednesday. It was the first game that Howard Whitmore has lost this year. He was clearly outpitched by Wickerson, and the Newton team was outplayed as a whole. Somerville got seven hits and only six fanned, while eight of the Newton batters struck out and they got only five hits.

Somerville tucked the game away in the opening frame. Currier was safe on Cronin's error. Campbell beat out a bunt, Crandell reached first on a fielder's choice, and Wickerson showed some of his ability at bat by driving out a double and bringing in two runs. Crandell came home with the third tally on Jeremiah's out at first.

Somerville scored again in the second and seventh innings, while Newton could only count once in the second and eighth.

"Red" Campbell did some great hitting for Somerville. He connected safely in every one of his trips to the plate and made one run. "Ren" Currier pulled the feature catch of the game in the seventh inning when he negotiated a back-handed stab at O'Donnell's fly to deep left. He received a great hand and gained further applause by leading off with a double when the Red and Blue came to bat in the last half of the inning. The next two men got on safely and Newton was unable to stop Currier from scoring.

LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE

On Tuesday afternoon the corner stone of the Newton Centre Woman's Club to be erected at the corner of Beacon St., Centre St., and Institution Ave., was laid.

The laying of this stone marks the culmination of the efforts of the women of Newton Centre to obtain a club house which shall stand for the co-operative life of the community along educational, civic, and social lines.

The exercises were opened by the Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Church. Following him, Mrs. D. W. Ulmer played "The Star Spangled Banner" on the cornet.

Mrs. Ellis Spear, President of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, then placed the corner stone in position, calling to mind what the club has accomplished in the past, and stating her hope for the future.

Within the box were placed the charter, constitution and by-laws of the club, the latest year book, the ballot of the current year, copies of the local papers, and the two pictures of the officers of the club taken last May when the first shovelful of earth was removed.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Frances N. Mason, the retiring President of the Club, held the silk flag presented by the Club to the Newton Centre Constabulary and returned by them at the close of the war.

On the platform as guests of honor, were the charter members of the club, the chairman of the building committee, Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, Mr. W. C. Bray and Mrs. Persis Edmunds, donors of the land upon which the club house is to be built, Mr. Frank A. Schirmer, to whose help the club is indebted, and the clergy of the village, and Principal Samuel Paul of the Mason School.

Following the laying of the corner stone, The Highland Glee Club led the singing of "America the Beautiful," and "America."

Mrs. Bray emphasizes four cardinal points in a child's training: 1st. Reverence and humility; 2nd. Love; 3rd. Truth; 4th. Duty.

To develop all of these fine virtues in children we must all of us, fathers and mothers, live and act as we would have them act and do. A social hour followed the address. The newly elected officers for the coming season are:

President, Mrs. N. L. Grant, Secretary, Mrs. T. Rusforth, Treasurer, Mrs. F. L. Nason.

DOUGHBOY HAS A GRIEVANCE

Why in the World Don't Frenchmen Give Proper Pronunciation to Their Absurd Words?

Take the city of Troyes, favorably known throughout the A. E. F. as a practically M. P. less burg, writes Tip Bliss in the American Legion Weekly. Naturally, any human being would pronounce it to rhyme with "noise," and go on his way rejoicing in the knowledge of a good deed well performed.

Not so the frisky prof. He calls it "Twa," though why and wherefore le bon Dieu alone knows.

But if you want to get even with the f. p., try him out with a regular word with plenty of "w's" and "h's" and "th's" in it. "Whether" is the cat's fur, as the army expression almost has it. Tackle him with "whether" and watch him gargle and stammer and sizzle and finally turn up his toes and pass away while somewhere in his insides are still resounding the last despairing notes of his infernal interpretation of a good, Christian word into "vay-zair-re."

"Vay-zair-re!" Shade of Babel! Now, as regards the matter of spelling. One of the Frenchman's pet monstrosities in "Kiss-a-say." Does he spell it that way? Ouija answers, no. He goes to work and unburdens himself of vowels and sibilants and things until he has gotten rid of "Qu'est-ce que c'est!"

What does it mean? It means: "What is this that is?" Which is a fine healthy way of maltreating, "Huh?"

Huh is right.

Denmark to be Republic?

According to Reports, the Little Country May Abandon the Monarchical Principle Soon.

News dispatches from Copenhagen state that there is a possibility of the establishment of a republic in Denmark, the little country that has been a monarchy since King Harald the Blue in 400 A. D.

Denmark is today a limited monarchy, ruled by King Christian, who divides his power with the two houses of parliament. During the war it suffered heavily in both its leading industries, dairying and the merchant marine. Many Danish ships were sunk by U-boats despite their neutrality, and the large herds of cattle that had supplied a large part of Europe's butter and cream were killed for food.

Denmark has a population of 2,500,000, a large part of whom live on small farms. Its area is 14,829 square miles, slightly larger than the state of Maryland. It is densely populated, with 165 people to the square mile on the mainland and 275 to the square mile on the many islands along the coast. Copenhagen, the capital and principal seaport, is situated on the island of Zealand. The island folk form the merchant marine and the fisheries, while the farmers live on the fertile mainland.

Iceberg Was an Acrobat.

Not far from the spot where the Titanic was sunk by an iceberg in April, 1912, a fleet of 14 icebergs, some of them rising to more than 100 feet above the water line, were sighted by the steamship Munaires on a recent voyage.

Captain Fleming of the Munaires says that one of the bergs gave a remarkable exhibition of tumbling as the vessel sailed past. It had apparently lost a good deal of its under water weight through the action of the warm sea water, and as they watched it the great iceberg suddenly tipped to starboard and rolled over with an immense splash.

As it fell, a big section of the top broke away, with the result that the balance was altered and the berg tumbled back again. Then, just as it was righting itself, another section broke off, and it tumbled once more. The sight was a most unusual one.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Thread in Manchuria.

Almost all of the $2,000,000 worth of cotton thread imported annually into Manchuria comes from Japan, partly because Japanese manufacturers have the advantage over possible competitors of government encouragement and support, and partly because there has been little competition from those sufficiently interested in this market to study its requirements as have the Japanese, says the New York Times.

Goods were placed with merchants on consignment until they became known, were extensively advertised, and are now sold on liberal credit basis, so that American manufacturers entering the market will not only have to compete on a quality basis, but should adopt similar methods of pushing their goods.

Twins of Ninety-Five.

Living in the Scotch village of Inverkip are twins, James and William Ford, ninety-five years old. Neither of them has had a day's illness, and James has never been a single night out of the house in which he was born.

Too Much of a Strain.

Jud Tunkins says he's never going to allow any summer boarder to remain for more than a week, because it's too much work to learn new stories to entertain the same old crowd.

Good Signs.

NEWTON NIGHT

Ford Hall was filled Monday night when the Boston Baptist Social Union held its annual Newton Night. The principal speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of New York. He said that at present there is a greater need of educating the church successfully to perform the duties that it has undertaken rather than taking into itself new burdens in other fields.Lemuel H. Murlin, president of Boston University, was another speaker.
He pleaded with the audience to be energetic citizens and to help make the referendum on the enforcement of prohibition in the fall election favorable. "We are squarely against the issue now," he said. "Here is the chance for the voice of the people to be heard."Other speakers were Dr. W. H. P.
Fausch, president of Brown University; Everett A. Greene of Newton, and Morton Scott Enslin, a member of the graduating class of the Newton Theological Institution. The entire class of 10 were guests of the union.

NEAR EAST BUNDLE WEEK

The effort in Newton to co-operate in the national Near East Relief Bundle Week Campaign met with most earnest and commendable response.
Centers for the collection of clothing were established in Newton, West Newton, Newtonville, Newton Highlands and Newton Centre, including Waban. The articles were contributed during the week of May 15-20. The clothing was almost entirely of warm winter garments, such as men's and women's suits, overcoats, wraps, sweaters and children's clothes, suits and dresses. A quantity of underwear, some new and some only slightly worn, as well as stockings, mittens and shoes were given, also hospital garments and supplies, blankets and bedding. Besides the garments were contributions of money to pay the freight or express charges, also the use of automobiles for various purposes. The list of individuals who assisted in different ways would be long, if given, but the committee desires to express its appreciation to every one who contributed whether of clothing, money, time or service.Between 3,000 and 3,250 lbs. of clothing were sent from the Newtons and more than enough money was contributed to cover all expenses, the balance being turned in to the Near East Relief in Boston.

teen appeared for the examination,
nine of whom had a college education.

ination.Mr. Murphy received the highest mark, being 95.6 points ahead of the next competitor. He has been em-stry work for thirteen years. Three

WHAT SHAPE HAS MOTHS HOLE?

On This by No Means Simple Question
Hangs Result of an Omaha Lawsuit.On whether a moth makes an oblong hole or a round hole when he sinks his molars into the more succulent portions of dad's last winter overcoat or sister's summer furs, hinges a law suit in Justice Collins' court, brought by an Omaha store against Miss Josephine Hill of Council Bluffs. The store seeks to enforce payment for an $80 suit which Miss Hill is alleged to have purchased, says the World-Herald.According to the girl's testimony, a week after she bought the suit she found a moth hole in it. She returned it to the store. The suit was mended and given back to her with instructions to wear it 30 days and bring it back at the end of that time if not satisfactory.Miss Hill testified she wore the suit for 30 days, placing it carefully on a hanger in her closet each night. At the end of the specified period, examination, she said, revealed not one but a whole community of holes. She refused to pay for the suit, and the store took the case into court.After one clerk for the store told the court the holes complained of couldn't be moth holes, because any self-respectful moth eats a round hole, while those under discussion were distinctly oblong, and after Miss Hill had made an exhibition of the holes and another clerk had suggested that Miss Hill might have worn the holes in the skirt by rubbing against her typewriter desk, Justice Collins looked wise and took the matter under advisement.

TERM THAT BANISHED ANGER

Appellation Bestowed on "Bachelor Maids" Put Further Animosity Out of the Question.The two Elton sisters, age thirty and thirty-two and very successful business women, live next door to the Smith sisters, about fifty and fifty-two, who are also retired and given to the occupations of crocheting and quilt piecing. The Elton sisters speak of themselves as "old maids," and the Smith sisters as "pesky old maids." In order to distinguish between them. Also they are given to much pitying of the second-class ladies.But the other evening one of the Elton sisters, clad in a bungalow apron, was out sprinkling the lawn.
As she moved around the house she heard the Smiths in conversation.
"Yes, sister, age has its compensations," one was saying. "Now look at those girls next door. They no sooner get home than they get into those aprons, so scanty that they are immodest. Of course, they're just kids, but still—"That was enough for Miss Elton.
With a rush she was in the house.
"Oh, Grace," she told her sister, breathlessly, "those Smiths are real nice. We've got to stop calling them pesky old maids."And now generously the Eltons speak of them as "the other old maids."

New Glass Industry.

Important developments are eventually probable on the northern borders of Dartmoor, in Devonshire, England, in consequence of the discovery of a very large deposit of granite, a substance of much value in the manufacture of glass. According to experts, "granite contains not only silica, but potash, soda and alumina, which are necessary in glass making, and its use is not only economical, but gives the best results in the production of glassware of the highest quality." It is stated that an experimental furnace has been in use for some time, two others are being constructed, and it is anticipated that the commercial manufacture of glass will commence almost immediately.—Scientific American.

"Goes Broke" in Vaudeville.

It is said that the first man to undertake to produce vaudeville in America was Silas W. Steggs of San Francisco, who inherited $400,000 from his uncle in 1865, and not being used to handling money in large quantities, started in to spend it freely. He went on a trip to Europe and spent most of his time at the Alhambra music hall in London, and launched a project to start the "New York Alhambra." His idea was approved by a number of amusement people, and he hired hundreds of them to come to the United States. But his money ran out and he left his party on a boat in New York bay and disappeared.

Muscle Massage in Rickets.

As an aftermath of undernourishment during the war period, rickets has become a common disease among children in Germany. To stimulate the flabby muscles of these little patients, without risking malformation of the softened bones, many ingenious devices have come into use, according to an illustrated story appearing in the August issue of Popular Mechanics magazine. In treating the jaw and neck muscles, for example, the subject is laid on an inclined board, while the nurse stands at the head and manipulates a harness of two straps.

Indian Pilgrimage.

Fifty thousand Indians from all parts of Mexico recently completed their week of homage to their patron saint, the Virgin of Guadalupe, and their pilgrimage to the shrine of the Virgin.

The palm beach and the outing skirt,
Were walking hand in hand.
They looked into each other's eyes;
"Oh isn't Summer grand?"
And as they gazed out to the sea,

BERRY-CAMERON

Among the June weddings of local interest was that of Miss Gertrude Hazel Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cameron of Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, last Saturday evening to Mr. Philip Winslow Berry of Boston, a direct descendant of the third Governor of Plymouth. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles R. Ross of the Methodist Church, Newtonville, at the home of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white Duchess satin trimmed with Duchess lace and a veil of tulle which was worn by her mother at her wedding. Her veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Wilhelmina Cameron, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of peach color tulle and carried Ophelia roses.

Madeline Cameron, the sister of the bride, was the little flower girl, and the ring bearer was Master Leslie Davis of Newtonville. The ribbon girls were Virginia Cameron, Katherine Tufts and Mary Tufts.

The best man was Mr. George J. Prentice of Somerville, and the ushers Mr. George E. Tufts of Newton Highlands, an uncle of the bride, Daniel Cameron of Arlington, Russell Bennett of Cambridge, and Herbert Stevens of Newtonville.

The house was tastefully decorated for the ceremony and the reception following. About 150 guests were present. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

The bride is a graduate of the Somerville High School, and of a business college, and has been private secretary to Mr. B. W. Rowell of Boston.

The groom attended the Wentworth Institute and served in Mexico, and later, overseas with the 26th division of the 101st infantry.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Berry will make their home on Watertown street, Newtonville.

BRAE-BURN COUNTRY CLUB

Mr. Roy R. Gorton established a new amateur competitive record last Saturday with a record of 73 for the course, 76 having been the previous record.

FORMER NEWTON MAN HONORED

Friends of Dr. Walter H. Rollins, a former resident of this city, will be interested in the following clipping from a recent number of the Congressionalist:

New York is to be congratulated on securing the leadership of Dr. Walter H. Rollins as superintendent of the State Conference. Dr. Rollins is a sturdy type of Congregationalism. Born in Newtonville, Mass., reared in the Newtonville church in the days of Gungahaus and Pleasant Hunter, he was educated in Dartmouth College, where he felt the vital elevation of the moral passion of President Tucker, and received his technical training in Andover Seminary while the Seminary was still on the Hill.

His first two pastorates were in Blackstone and Wilmington, Mass. While serving with marked success in these fields, he felt constantly the lure of the West. At last he yielded and served for eight years in Waterloo, Ia., doing a conspicuous piece of constructive work at the same time identifying himself closely with Iowa Congregationalism. He received the highest honor the state could confer—moderator of the conference. For several years he was the Iowa representative on the National Home Missionary Society Board.

From an early day he felt an intense desire to go into educational work, and in 1914 accepted the presidency of Fairmount College, Wichita, Kan. Here again he quickly identified himself with his city and state. In the college he showed unusual ability in what is known as the power to read human nature. He gathered about him a loyal faculty and organized them in an effective manner. The love and respect of the large student body revealed a heart dedicated to youth. A student body will find it if the president has it.

Now in the prime of life, with all this varied experience behind him and an intimate knowledge of Congregationalism, East and West, he accepts this call of the New York Conference. This quiet, unassuming but dynamic and diplomatic spirit, always loyal, will without question be a power for the right in the Empire State. After preaching the baccalaureate and conferring diplomas at Fairmount, he will at once assume his new duties.

CHAPLAIN AT CAMP DEVENS

Rev. Theodore R. Ludlow, rector of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, has been appointed staff chaplain of the 94th Division, O. R. C., to serve at Camp Devens during August.

Last year Mr. Ludlow made a journey to Camp Devens to look over the camp and call on the men he knew there. During his visit he was appointed by Col. F. C. Bolles, executive officer of the Citizens Military Training Camp, 4th Department, as acting chaplain, to assist in the religious work at the camp. Mr. Ludlow served all of his vacation from his church. This year he has been regularly appointed as staff officer and will again use his summer vacation in this service.

Shortly after his graduation from the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge, Mr. Ludlow was sent to China to serve on the staff of Boone University at Wuchang, in Central China. He was at home on his furlough when the President sent out an appeal for any men who could speak Chinese to give their services with the Chinese Labor Corps in France. He was released by the Episcopal board of missions that he might respond to this appeal, which he considered of great importance. He went overseas as welfare officer of the Chinese labor division, under Col. Jackson, with headquarters at Tours where he worked with 8000 Chinese.

Mr. Ludlow thinks the work at Camp Devens well worth giving up his vacation for. Last year there were about 1200 men. This year he expects there will be about 3300. Mr. Ludlow says that at his early morning services for church boys he had an average attendance of 72. Any boys who are going to Camp Devens will be cordially welcomed at Mr. Ludlow's home, 60 Columbus street, Newton Highlands, if they desire to talk over plans for their stay at the camp during August.

KING-HOOD

At the Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill last Saturday afternoon, Miss Frances Hood became the bride of Mr. Gilbert King. Miss Hood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Needham Hood of Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, and Mr. King is a graduate of Princeton, class of 1919. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lucien W. Rogers of the Church of the Redeemer.

Miss Hood wore a gown of white satin and old point lace and a veil of white tulle with a coronet of old lace and orange blossoms.

The maid of honor was Miss Gertrude Bradlee of Chestnut Hill and the bridesmaids Miss Andrea W. Adie, Miss Rosemond Adie, Miss Cornelia Hollowell and Miss Martha Sabine of Chestnut Hill and Miss Alice B. Allen of New York. The attendants wore gowns of pink crepe de chine and hats to match.

The best man was John Bruce King of Washington, D. C., and the ushers Richard Bruce King of Washington, Beverly R. Mumford of Richmond, Va., Donald T. Hood and David B. Arnold of Brookline, Dana N. Trimble of Ipswich, Lawrence G. Noyes and George A. King, Jr., of New York, and Stephen W. Waterbury of Elizabeth, N. J.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church. After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. King are to live in Cambridge.

The new oil range that challenges every known cooking device in speed, economy and reliability

Two, three and four-burner Superfex Stoves, each equipped with one Giant Superfex burner.

THE largest makers of oil cook stoves in the world have now perfected a model that is unsurpassed for every kind of household cooking.

New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves have long been recognized as the leaders in their field. And this latest model, now being offered for the first time, is the leader of the whole New Perfection line.

This latest New Perfection is equipped with the new and vastly improved Superfex burners—a revolutionizing step in oil stove construction. This new Superfex burner, with its double wall and double draft, gives the cooking speed of gas, together with the acknowledged economy and convenience of kerosene oil.

To accommodate these Superfex burners and the Giant Superfex, pictured above, a stove has been designed that in beauty, strength, convenience, general satisfaction and economy is in a class by itself.

New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves are known and used the world over, nearly 4,000,000 in America alone. Their many conveniences appeal strongly to busy housewives. There's no coal hod or wood box to keep filled, no ashes to carry out, no kindling litter to clean up.

Most oil stove users burn Socony Kerosene because of its uniform quality and economy.

QUESTIONING
What have you done with the time you have had Since the dawning of yesterday?
Was it wisely spent, with profit to you,
In a medley of work and play?
Did you plan your tasks, and live up to your plans,
As few of us ever do,
Or happy-go-lucky go heedlessly on,
With many a blunder to rue?
What shall we do with tomorrow's time,
Will you profit by your mistakes?
Will you really do always the hardest first.

No matter what courage it takes?
Will you waste your time, as you've done in the past,
In the same old careless way,
Or has Heaven given you sense to learn
The lesson of yesterday?
—Somerville Journal.

refused to refer to the Board of Aldermen any request of the School Committee to him.

Another slight incongruity, Mr. resident, is that he accuses me of not having attended a meeting of the zoning committee. Ready reference to the records kept by the Clerk of the committee of the present board will show I attended meetings on April 15th, May 1st, and May 8th.

Mr. White then said that while he may have been opposed to zoning at the start, he favored the amendments which had been submitted by a minority of the Zoning Committee. With prominent lawyers raising questions as to the constitutionality of the ordinance it should receive careful scrutiny by the board. The amendments provide for but four districts, combining what in the committee ordinance were the single and general residence districts, and the 75% clause restoring fire damage was eliminated. Zoning is exploring a new field in Massachusetts and there is danger of confiscation of property by placing in a zone where it does not belong.

He questioned the provision limiting the area for building to 50% of the lot and cited an instance of a 50 x 100 corner lot, with 25 foot set backs on the street, a 75 foot set back from the property line, and leaving only an area of 17 1/2 x 67 1/2 feet for the building. Mr. White also criticized the Building Commissioner for his activity in holding up applications for two-family houses while the ordinance was pending.

Alderman Phillips said that the committee had welcomed all criticisms and suggestions to improve the ordinance during its consideration for a year. The single house district did not seem arbitrarily fixed but was based as the result of a majority of voters favoring it. All parts of the city have been consulted, village meetings held and local committees had considered local needs and a large majority of tax payers had for themselves the lines which the committee reports. The amendment puts on the voters the necessity of coming to the board to be placed in the single house district requiring a 2-3 or a 3-4 vote and was not fair to the people who had already manifested their desire for a single house district. The object of zoning is to protect Newton as a home city and apartment houses are readied in a high grade single house district. In theory, Mr. Phillips said, the amendment is a piece of legislation which had been tried in many cities and abandoned. Mr. Phipps, in reply to Alderman White's statement as to attendance at meetings of the Zoning Committee, said that if he had attended any committee meetings his attendance had been very short, as Mr. Phipps had no remembrance of his being present at any meeting of that committee. Alderman Nichols said that this ordinance was a most important issue for Newton for many years and the future of the city hangs in the balance. The real issue of the amendment is the matter of apartment houses in residential districts. No one wants apartments and two-family houses excluded, but single residence districts should be reserved, otherwise Newton would follow Dorchester and Brookline. The amended ordinance was adopted, and in view of the attitude of some members of the board, it would probably be many years before it would be possible to obtain the votes needed to make amendments.

Alderman Heathcote said he found no enthusiasm for the ordinance in Lowell Falls as that village had been left alone. There are but few apartment houses in the city and there was no hint of all the talk about them as the building Code was not to be changed. The amendment was the safest way for the greatest number. Alderman Carter said that a careful survey had been made by the Newtonville committee who had made an actual canvass of all property owners and out of 1318 owners, 1294 favored zoning, 19 voted out of 1056, for single district and 337 for general district location of their houses, and 953 were given what they requested by the committee. Mr. Carter characterized the amendment as buying a Ford car and then requiring a 3/4 vote if a better car was desired. Alderman Jewell said that Brookline 16 years ago gave a hint of what it has now become, and this ordinance concerns the city as it may be in the future. Alderman Johnston said the fundamental idea of zoning to allow our citizens to live in the way they wish them brought up. Vacant areas, in his opinion should be in the single residence one. Alderman Madden said that large numbers of people desired the single residence zone. The amendment is a cumbersome way and allows non resident speculators a way to stop attempts to change to the single residence zone. Mr. Madden recalled that in several instances the city had been powerless to stop improper location of buildings. Alderman White gave credit to the zoning committee and remarked that his other committees had interfered with the work on the Zoning committee. He thought it unfair to prevent progress and predicted that the index from Boston was bound to sweep us down eventually. The wealthy are competent to care for themselves but there are many who have neither the opportunity nor time who are also entitled to protection and we are sent here to do the thinking for the people we represent and not act as a rubber stamp. He said the ordinance must increase the engineering force, make a problem in the Building department and most important of all would raise legal questions in the assessing department with more appeals for abatement and readjustments than for many years. Alderman Pratt wished it was possible for further conferences and hoped for an opportunity for all to get together. President Hollis left the chair to say that he favored a zoning ordinance of some sort and wished that all parts of the city had done as well as Newtonville. He noted that there were some 14,000 assessed polls and the 800 letters received were but a very small percentage. He favored having the man who wanted restrictions placed on his property to come to City Hall and ask for them and wanted everyone started on the same residential basis with no class distinctions. Alderman Jewell said that ward 7 had been carefully canvassed and it was no snap judgment in that part of the city. Alderman Whidden thought that with the regulation brought about by the ordinance the city would be better able to finance itself. We should start high as it is easier to remove restriction than to put them on.

City Clerk Grant then read a long letter favoring zoning from the Newton Chamber of Commerce, after which Alderman White said he was surprised that the Chamber by a minority of its members should issue such a communication. He then made a few sarcastic references to Mr. Frank L. Richardson, the president of the chamber and the Executive vice-president of the Newton Trust Company.

The amendment was then defeated by a vote of 9 to 12. Aldermen Collins, Earl Grobenstein, Heathcote, Hickey, Ross, White, Young and President Hollis voting in favor. After a recess, the matter was again taken up a few perfecting amendments adopted and the ordinance finally passed by a vote of 14 to 7. Aldermen Collins and Hickey voting with the friends of the original draft.

At the beginning of the session, there were the usual number of hearings, no one appearing on petition of the Basley Lumber Co. to keep gasolene at 29 Crafts street, on petition of the Newton Estates Trusts for a six stall garage at 431 Cherry street and of the Riverside Land and Gravel Co. to keep gasolene at 498 Grove street. At the hearing on petition of Gustafson & Steeves for a 12-stall garage on Lothrop street, Mr. Steeves said that in view of the opposition to the petition he would ask to withdraw it. Mr. A. D. Auryansen then publicly thanked Mr. Steeves for his action.

Mr. Allen Hubbard, Jr., appeared in favor of the Colonial Filling Stations keeping 2225 gallons gasolene at Beacon and Langley road and Mr. Leland Powers spoke in opposition.

On the laying out of Cranberry lane Messrs. Riley, McCarthy and Whitaker spoke in favor and Mr. Stone for the Hovey estate in opposition.

On the proposition to take land on Waltham street for school house purposes Mr. Wm. B. Baker urged the taking of all three lots adjoining the Davis school and one lady spoke in opposition.

At the hearing on widening of No. 10th square, no one appeared in favor and Mr. J. S. Cannon spoke briefly in opposition.

Mayor Childs recommended $3170 for improvements in Beacon street near the Mason school, $9178 for rounding corners of Beacon and Walnut streets, $1827 for sidewalk at Juniper High school, $6824 for laying water mains, $3492 for grading grounds of Angier school and $557.26 for a pension for Officer Wade E. Harborn.

Petitions of A. Howard Crosby for intelligence office, Frank Wright, B. J. Kelly for taxi licenses, A. F. Bonazzoli for victualler license, McHugh & Chiachia for express license, Edison & Telephone Cos. for poles on Rowe and Webster streets, the Telephone Co. for pole removals on Middlesex road, the Edison Co. and M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. for poles on Walnut street, and for the following private garages.—Daniel J. Herlihy, 724 Watertown street; Fred W. Burns, 95 Warwick road; Geo. F. Scates, 13 Fuller avenue; Raymond E. Perkins, 473 Auburn street; Edwin H. Corey, Jr., 37 Floral street; B. D. Miller, 150 Collins road; Nils S. Eng, 49 Rockland place; Geo. H. McEldowney, 54 Glenwood avenue; Raymond Stanley, 21 Garden road, and Arthur Kendrick, Morton street, were granted.

Petitions were received for sidewalks on Harvard street, for sprinkling on Hale street, sewers in Hull street, Plainfield street, Fair Oaks avenue, for covering of Cheesecake brook, for regulation of traffic on California street, claims for damages caused by collision with city truck and for Soldiers relief.

Leave to withdraw was given on sewer in Prospect terrace, for improvement of Saw Mill brook, for laying out of Hood and Rogers streets, on claims of George H. Hands, Dennis M. Cronin, Mary R. Hall, Francis M. Cain, Mrs. E. L. King, Daniel M. Goodridge, and Frank F. Lovell. Also on petitions of the Consumers Service Stations for gasolene permit on Washington and Court streets and the Edison Co. for poles on Highland avenue.

No action was deemed necessary on taking of land for Commonwealth park, for building lines on Washington street, ward 7 and on claim of Daniel F. Collins for land damages on Beacon street. The establishment of the Forestry Division as a separate department was deemed inexpedient.

Alderman Ross opposed the laying of a turnout location on Walnut street near Lowell avenue to the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. but the order was passed with only his vote in opposition. A leave to withdraw report on petition of Lizzie Abbott for a garage permit on Mt. Ida terrace was opposed by Aldermen Ross and Madden and upheld by Alderman Ball, but the board refused to accept the report and then granted the permit under conditions.

Hearings were ordered on sidewalks on Commonwealth avenue near Boston College and on Harvard street, for a footway from Delmore road to Erie avenue, for curbing on Lincoln road, for sewers in Colbert road, Highland street, and Kenmore street, for widening corner Institution avenue and Centre streets and the corners of Hammond and Beacon streets, and for widening of Dedham street, and widening of Dedham street, and widening of Dedham street.

The State Dept. of Health was requested to give permission for taking of land on Charles river at Upper Falls for protecting water supply. Sewers were ordered in Pleasant street, Prairie avenue, Waban avenue, Crofton road, Sargent park, Prentice road and Fair Oaks avenue, and appropriations authorized for rounding corners of Beacon and Walnut streets, for extending Harvard street, for laying various water mains, for settling workmen's compensation claim of Peter J. Foley estate, for pensioning Wade E. Dearborn, for sidewalks at new Junior High School, and for grading at Angier school, $200,000 was authorized in school bonds, and $50,000 in Street Improvement bonds.

Ordinances relative to form of tax bills, and transferring records of betterments from the Assessing to the Treasury departments and a regulation governing trucking on California street were adopted, with one vote in opposition on the last item.

President Hollis left the chair to enter a protest against immediate action on two ordinances relative to plumbing and after objecting to the suspension of the rules, calmly replied the chair and passed to other matters without even putting the question on suspension of the rules.

Ward 7 was divided into two voting precincts with Washington street as the dividing line and street sprinkling was ordered on Hale street.

There was some debate over the order for $561.10 for settling claim of David Neagle estate for service as a police officer. Alderman White stating that for reasons unknown to the committee present had been taken on this claim. The officer had done two years' service and there was no question as to the moral obligation of the city. Alderman Jewell said he understood that it had previously been presented as a matter of charity and he also understood that the city was only liable for the unexpended balances of the Police appropriation for the year. City Solicitor Bartlett stated that as a legal matter it was doubtful if more than this balance would be allowed by the court, but he also ruled that the city had the right to make the pending appropriation. Alderman Carter gave the history of this rather celebrated case from his point of view and Alderman Madden from his and the order was adopted with Alderman Ball, Carter and Nichols voting in opposition.

The board adjourned at 1.30 A. M.

HAPHAZARD EXTENSION

The Department of Agriculture is one instance of how governmental establishments grow and spread and extend their activities, once they get started. The bureau of fisheries, in the Department of Commerce, is another. It had a modest beginning, and not so very long ago. Prior to 1871 there was no branch of the federal government especially charged with the consideration of fishery affairs.

Several of the states had established fish commissions and these state authorities, supported by private interests, began to agitate for a national bureau devoted to fishery interests.

So it came about that by 1871 congress was ready to yield and begin to make appropriations. The first one was for $5,000 and provided for a commissioner of fish and fisheries to prosecute investigations and inquiries "with the view of ascertaining whether any and what diminution in the number of food fishes of the coast and in the lakes of the United States has taken place; and also whether any and what protective, prohibitory or precautionary measures should be adopted in the premises; and shall report upon the same to congress."

The commissioner was to draw no pay, for it was provided by congress in the same joint resolution that he should be a civil officer of the government, of proved scientific and practical acquaintance with the fishes of the coast, who should serve without additional compensation. The then assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution, by name Spencer Fullerton Baird, was chosen as the best man for the job, and so he proved to be. He made the little acorn grow. He was industrious and competent and knew how to get along with congress. He was diligent and he stood before kings. See what happened.

Remember, he started out with $5,000 to discover whether there had been any diminution of the supply of food fishes along the coasts or in the lakes. He was at the head of an independent investigation and reported directly to congress. The thing was kept alive by annual appropriations as an independent institution until 1903, when it was incorporated into the newly formed Department of Commerce and Labor as the bureau of fisheries.

By 1909 the annual appropriation had grown to $808,920, and the bureau had a permanent personnel of 325. At that time the land owned and occupied by the bureau at its fish cultural and biological stations had an aggregate area of over 12,000 acres, with a value of $240,000. The improvements and equipment at these stations represented an investment of more than $1,000,000. Other property of the bureau at that time included four sea-going steam and sail vessels, 20 steam launches and 150 small sail, power and rowboats, which with equipment had a value of $300,000. Its six fish-transportation cars were valued at $45,000. Indeed, the total investment of the government in fishery-service property ran to about $1,585,000. That was back in 1909.

Well, it hasn't stopped growing; bigger and busier than ever, as the advertisements say. The appropriation by congress for the fiscal year 1919 was $1,183,140, and for 1921, $1,207,110. Besides what congress gave, the President allotted in 1918 and 1919, out of his private fund "for the national security and defense," $100,000. With the years of its growth and increasing funds the bureau had taken on many new functions and activities.

Until recently the bureau was administering to the best of its ability the laws relating to the terrestrial and arboreal fur bearers of Alaska, but the duty was incongruous to its legitimate functions. Congress finally conceded that the pursuit of foxes does not constitute a fishery. The cultivation of minks cannot be successfully conducted in a fish hatchery.

Apparently, as so many other establishments under the executive branch have, the fisheries service had become all cluttered up with duties and jobs it is not fitted or equipped to handle.

All of which is a long, long way from an investigation of the possible diminution of food fish along the coast.

I don't pretend to say of the fisheries bureau that it has performed inefficiently either its proper work or the added activities that have been imposed upon it. For all I know it may be and is a great national blessing, and managed with maximum skill, intelligence and real economy. I hope it is.

I cite it here only as an example of a branch of governmental activity that has grown up haphazard from a small beginning to be a great, costly, far-reaching enterprise that by its own confession is overlaid with duties, functions and activities unrelated to its legitimate and essential business—the care, propagation and study of all manner of food fish.

"THE GOLDEN DAY"

with enthusiasm, and time and again applauded particular choruses, solos, or scenes that met with hearty approval.

In the cast were fifty-five children, the entire membership of the Intermediate and Junior Choirs of the church. The intermediates were picknickers, out for a lark. Father time, impersonated by Rev. Paul Callender, pastor of the Methodist Church at Walspole, told them of a "Golden Day," they might find, and asked them to report at night to him in his cloudland home.

In the second act the picknickers see and converse with many of Mother Nature's Children, Sunbeams, West Wind, Butterflies, Bees and Raindrops, questioning each in turn concerning the "Golden Day." Questioning and answers were all in song.

Mother Nature's Children were junior choristers, beautifully costumed to represent their parts. The "Nature Chorus" at the conclusion of this act, sung by all the Juniors and Intermediates together, was particularly effective.

In the third scene, given entirely under spotlight, with spangled costumes, jeweled throne for Father Time, and with dozens of little electric lights strung throughout the stage decorations, Father Time holds court, calling Vesper, Twilight Hour, Curfew and Evening Star to make reports.

These parts were taken by Juniors. Then the children come "drifting dreamily" over the sunset sea to Father Time's home, singing as they come. At this point a beautiful slow processional, in shadowy light, with evening star leading, was featured.

Father Time and the children converse in poetic dialogue concerning the Golden Day, and the children please him when they tell him they have learned that "it's love and love alone that make a golden day. Each is given a dream bag for a gift and they go back to their homes to sleep, to dreamland. With Evening Star leading the children, Father Time is left on the stage with Curfew, Vesper and Twilight Hour. These sing to the children "Sweet Dreams," and from far away come drifting back, faintly, the children's voices singing "Good Night."

The stage decorations were very beautiful. A solid background of evergreen, arches bedecked in green, covered with flowers, and strung with tiny electric lights, and in front a hedge of green with daisies, buttercups and roses intermingled, was the scene. Beautiful underfootlights and headlights, it was fairy-like when, with the house dark, the flood of light from a high power lantern was thrown upon it in the last act, and the tiny electric lights were turned on as Vesper lighted her evening stars.

Mrs. W. F. Hall and Mrs. Brooks made or secured the flowers. With these Mrs. H. L. Hardy, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mr. Ralph Wales, Mr. Palmer and Mr. Milton Hall worked to secure the green and place it. Mr. H. L. Hardy superintended the lighting plans, and as usual gave invaluable help in all departments of the preliminary work.

Valuable assistance in handling the children was rendered by Miss Lillian Gerold and Miss Lucile Robbins. Miss Pearl Hillard was at the door, and young women of the Young Women's Club, under the superintendence of Miss Helen Brooks, ushered.

The operetta was arranged, prepared and directed by Rev. and Mrs. Harper in pursuance of their work among the children of the church and parish. Special coaching was given to all the soloists and those having dialogue parts, and a great amount of time was given to training the children for their choruses and unison parts. Memorization had been so well accomplished that only once during the hour and a half of the performance was the least prompting required, notwithstanding that nearly a score of the children were from seven to nine years of age. The naturalness of the children, becoming better as the work progressed, was, by the beginning of the second act, when consciousness of an audience seemed to have entirely departed from the participants, delightful to all. As one remarked, they just seemed like children at play, almost forgot it was an entertainment.

In spite of the very heavy expenses a substantial profit was realized, which will go to the sustaining of the musical work of the church next season.

Don't Mention It.

"Through a process of scientific calculations anyone may now view himself as the center of the universe," said Professor J. "That may be, professor," replied his friends, "but please do me the favor not to mention it to my wife."

THE NAUGHTY LITTLE PRINCESS

On Wednesday, June 7th, the Junior Scouts of Newton Troop 3 gave an outdoor production of "The Naughty Little Princess," before a large audience of friends. There never was a more winsomely naughty little girl than Margaret Warren, the little princess. No one could decide whether she was deader when she was stamping her foot and ordering the entire palace household to do her royal bidding, or when the new experiences of the enchanted forest had taught her lessons of love and obedience.

The scolding governess, the pompous professor, and the ridiculous dancing master were all favorites of the first act, and little Lellinda, who had an exceptionally difficult part to play, carried it out with a great deal of dramatic skill. In the last act, the frolicking dwarfs Zwickel and Nickel forced the audience to hold their sides with laughter. Every one was very much relieved when the little princess, by an act of kindness killed the great Ogre who roared so frightfully and turned the Prince back to his old beautiful shape again.

Miss Penelope Ridgeway trained the very lovely dance of the playmates of the princess, and Miss Frances Vane trained the elves in their dance and song. Jolly's Hollow where the play was given is an exceptionally lovely out-of-door stage, and when the flowerlike elves first appear from behind the trees, it seems as if the very spirit of spring was becoming visible to our old mortal eyes.

The day was calm and lovely, although hot, so the attendance was good and the girls are glad to know that they can support their two French orphans for another year.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATIONS

Diplomas Given to Graduates of the Technical High and Vocational High Schools

The graduating exercises of the class of 1922 Newton Technical High School were held last Friday evening in the assembly hall of that school at Newtonville, before a large audience of relatives and friends.

The program included selections by the High School orchestra, prayer and an address by Rev. M. H. Lichliter of the Central Church, Newtonville, a vocal solo by Miss Helen Doherty, a violin solo by Miss Alta Vivian Blake, the presentation of the class gifts to the school by Martin Aden Hines, president, the award of the faculty prizes by Mr. Horace Kidger and the award of the Honor medal by Headmaster Irving O. Palmer.

The class gift was the proceeds of the senior play and amounted to several hundred dollars. This was to be divided between the school library, the purchase of musical instruments to be loaned to freshmen with musical talent and a scholarship for one year of musical instruction.

The faculty prizes of books were awarded to Miss Theresa Mary Caruso for scholarship, and to Miss Ethel Louise Millen for citizenship. Miss Caruso was also awarded the Washington and Franklin bronze medal for excellence in U. S. History, and given by the Mass. Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Mayor Childs presented diplomas to the class of 125 pupils, as follows,—

REV. MR. JAYNES BURIED

A large and representative audience gathered Sunday afternoon at the West Newton Unitarian Church to pay the last tribute of respect and affection for Rev. Julian Clifford Jaynes, for 36 years the beloved pastor of that church.

The funeral service was held at the church, which was completely filled with the floral offerings of friends and the casket was covered with beautiful flowers.

The service was in charge of Rev. Paul S. Phalen, pastor of the church, who read the scriptures and offered the prayer.

Rev. Charles E. Park gave a most eloquent eulogy of Mr. Jaynes, saying in part—

Probably Mr. Jaynes himself would be the last man to understand how large a place he occupied in the hearts of his fellow-ministers and how deeply he is missed by his fellow-ministers. There was very little of self-consciousness in him. Doubtless he had his share of egotism, but it was of a very unobtrusive sort. He was essentially a man among men; he took a keen delight in human interests and human sympathies. What his friends were thinking and doing was always as interesting to him as what he himself was thinking and doing. His own self never seemed to obtrude unduly upon his horizon. His own self was always more or less on a par with the other selves of his group; he was content with its own share of proper attention—of course, he wanted to be loved, as we all want to be loved, but he always gave the impression of being surprised to find that

UPPER FALLS MEMORIAL

The storm seriously interfered with the excellent program which had been arranged by a large committee of the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Society and former members of the Upper Falls A. A. for the unveiling of the memorial to the boys from Upper Falls who had served their country in the great war.

The exercises had been planned for the lawn in front of the Emerson school, in close proximity to the Memorial which is located at that place. Part of the program was given in the moving picture theatre adjoining and consisted of music by the Newton Constabulary Band, remarks by Mr. Arthur D. Colby, chairman of the committee, a short address by Mayor Childs, singing of the Battle Hymn of the Republic and an address by General Clarence R. Edwards. The storm broke while General Edwards was speaking and the electric lights went out leaving the hall in darkness.

Nothing phases the General, however, and he continued his address in spite of the lack of light.

After the storm had ceased the tablet was unveiled with a few remarks by Mayor Childs, the sounding of "Retreat" on the bugle and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner." The tablet was unveiled by Della and

JOLLY HOLLOW JAMBOREE

The Jolly Hollow Jamboree, scheduled by the Newton Centre Unitarian Society to take place on Saturday last, at Jolly Hollow, Newton Centre, for the benefit of the Rebuilding Fund of the Newton Centre Unitarian Church, was carried through with much success in spite of the threatening weather.

The first event was the final match in the mixed doubles tennis tournament, for which there were thirty-five entries, and which was won by Miss Eleanor Weston and Mr. Edwin Hill.

This was followed by boys' and girls' relay races, potato races and the "Marionette" show, entitled "Rumpelstiltskin," written and staged by Masters Robert Pearson, William Biscoe, Jonathan Biscoe and Miss Helen Biscoe.

For the small children there were special relay and potato races, pony carriage rides, coaster slide, ring tosses and games.

In the elder churchmen's relay race, held late in the afternoon, scheduled as the "deluxe" event, calling for a special entry fee, three teams competed under the leadership of Mr. C. P. Powers, Mr. L. F. Muther and Mr. Fred Bond. No denominational qualification was required for this event, but each entrant was required to

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS

Open Camp May Day at Nonesuch Pond and Award Numerous Merit Badges

On Monday morning when the Newton Girl Scouts woke up, saw the sun shining, felt the cool breeze, there was great rejoicing. It was the day set for their party at camp, and the weather was doing its share towards making that long looked for event a success.

At 4:30 the Scouts began to arrive a team and there was a steady line of autos for half an hour bringing girls from all parts of the city. When Assembly was played at 4:45 about 375 girls and Local Council members gathered on the little hill, just back of the Camp House and took part in the flag raising ceremony for the first time performed at the camp.

After this ceremony, Mrs. L. L. Marshall, chairman of the camp committee, showed the girls a copper box, which was sealed and read to them a copy of the records placed in this box.

In the absence of Mrs. Day, Mrs. Marshall placed these records in the chimney of the Camp and sealed them there. The next on the program was the presentation of a Thanks Badge to Mrs. Day by the Scouts. One Scout from each Troop marched forward and Katherine Rich of Troop 5 presented the badge and made a short speech. Mrs. Albert P. Carter received the badge for Mrs. Day.

Next came the Camp Shower. Each troop took something for the Camp to this party, plates, bowls, mugs, dish pans, knives, forks, spoons, saucepans, platters, kettles, dish towels, in fact it looked as though camping could begin at once when all the things were spread out. Each article was presented with a short poem. These little verses caused much merriment and were loudly cheered.

Miss Jeanne Kenrick, chairman of the Court of Awards gave out 261 Merit Badges. This was a splendid record for the Scouts as they had all been earned since the rally in February when 154 were awarded. This makes a total of 415 for the year. It was most gratifying as the marks for these tests were especially good, and as the passing mark has been raised from 70 per cent of last year to 80 per cent this year it shows that the girls really prefer doing something that is worth while.

Scout Marion Maxim, Troop 1, and Scout Elizabeth Plimpton, Troop 3, entered the contest for the Bugling Cup—Miss Dorothy Kenrick and Miss Florence Berlin, both of the Girls Latin Bugle and Drum Corps were the judges. Marion Maxim won the cup from Elizabeth Plimpton, who has held it for two years.

The Newton Banner was next awarded. All the Troops have been working for this Banner for a year. The following counted in deciding which Troop had won it. Attendance

FUNERAL OF REV. MR. JAYNES

others did love him. That is why it is probable that he himself would be the last to understand how large a place he occupied in the hearts of his friends, and how deeply he will be missed. There was nothing jealous about him; there was nothing presumptuous about him; spiritually he was a fellow-going Democrat. He never thought himself better than anyone else; consequently he was loved more deeply than he himself realized.

There were many other things that endeared him to men beside this unassuming quality of spirit; he was a simple, honest, straightforward man.
There was nothing devious, there was nothing tortuous, nothing oblique in his nature. You felt that you knew him, and could trust him. He never gave the impression of duplicity, that he was holding something back. Nature made him honest, and his own experience in life simply confirmed that honesty. He had a simple man's outlook upon life, and a simple man's understanding of human nature. He was no analyst—no dissector of human feelings and emotions. He had small patience with the labored inflections and over-refinements of thought that seeks to divide up a given fact into all its component parts and that usually gets hopelessly muddled in the attempt to understand the fact in that way. His views of life were plain and simple, primary colors; the preferred to see things whole and for that reason he usually saw things truly.

This simplicity of his showed itself most noticeably in his sermons; he was one of the most acceptable, one of the most effective preachers who entered our pulpit, and this was because his sermons were the true product of his own nature—simple, direct, straightforward. He never led you through the arduous labyrinth of metaphysical derivations. He never wearied you with tiresome abstractions; he never exhausted your attention with prolonged introductions.
You listened with easy interest because he took you at once into the subject and led you on in a progressive manner and arrived without fail at a definite conclusion.

O'Hara, Ernest Lester Redding, Frederick Anthony Reichert, Arthur Roderick Sallinger, Rudolf Smith.
Perhaps it would be wrong to say that his sermons were profound; very few sermons are profound, and those that are profound are very often ineffective and decidedly restricted in value, but there was nothing restricted in the value of his sermons. He was one of those rare men who could preach to anybody and everybody and that was because he met his hearers upon their own mental and spiritual plane, and dealt with topics that were occupying their own minds and troubling their own conscience and he treated those topics in a way that all could follow. For any young minister to listen to his preaching was both pleasure and instruction, for he had the art of presenting great subjects, simply, and treating deep subjects, lucidly.

He was both delicate and sensitive in his powers of insight and appreciation. He was a man with a man's way of looking at things and with a man's attraction for men. He had a man's spiritual vigor and a man's freshness of interest.

His body grew weak but his symptoms remained youthful and alert.
This may explain his native charm, of which he had an abundant supply and which everybody felt. It was a pleasure to be with him, to visit him, to meet him on the street, to delight in his humor, to feel the contagion of his strong, lovable, wholesome personality. He had a way of making you feel that you were a pretty good sort of creature yourself, and he was glad to see you. He had a genius for friendship, and took a genuine delight in plain folks. The nearest he could come to hating a man was to make fun of him, and in doing that he usually made fun of himself. He was strong and gentle, he was clean and generous, honest and wholesome, and he set his affections on things above and he led your affections to the same divine goal. He leaves a green and tender memory with hundreds whose hearts have been enriched by his friendship and his ministrations.

Hon. George H. Ellis also spoke, and said—
Mr. Park has drawn so vivid a picture of our old friend that it is difficult to add anything to it, and yet as perhaps one of his oldest and longtime friends I am going to say a word.

Mr. Park has pictured his life accurately. What was behind it must have been natural goodness in Mr.
Jaynes, for he was not born in our New England atmosphere where liberal religion has had a strong hold, he was born in Virginia where liberal religion as we know it was not known at all. A young man he led a pretty strenuous life, happening to fall upon some Unitarian literature in San Francisco, he was interested in the religious life as he then saw it—he went into Harvard Divinity School, graduating from there, receiving his first call to this church in West Newton thirty-eight years ago.

We all of us here know the influence he has exerted in this community, not alone in this church; it has gone out as Mr. Park has intimated far away from our own environments.
Mr. Park has referred to Mr. Jaynes as a preacher; as a man he was especially fitted, had he cared to do it, to take part in public work, and as an after-dinner speaker he had many calls, but seldom accepted an invitation feeling that his work was in his church and that he wanted to put his time and his attention into his sermons, which were his strong points, but his personality counted almost as much. The keynote in his preaching always was "proper living as a preparation for the future life" which had a tremendous influence on all of us
I believe—speaking for one, I know.

Mr. Jaynes was particularly happy in his home life; those of us who go back to the early days, and for the first quarter century realize what a happy home he had, and those of us who knew him up to the present time know the influence that has been about him here and now—nothing could have been better.

This morning our minister referred to what is so often said that the natural soul looks about with the question, "Where art thou O God?" I think Julian C. Jaynes found where He was long since, and I believe that in his illness particularly, he had realized where he was going; and to an extent that many of us have not had in him that spirit of God which he had through this pulpit, Sunday by Sunday, he has given to the rest of us; that spirit which I believe is with us now, and I hope we shall carry with us hereafter.

The three hymns, "O God, our help in ages past," "O God, our refuge in times of need," and "O God, the Father of the poor," which were sung by the congregation, were all favorites of Mr.
Jaynes.

The honorary pall bearers included
Hon. John W. Weeks, secretary of war, who came on from Washington for the purpose, and Hon. George Hutchinson, Hon. Charles E. Hughes, Edward C. Burrage, Dr. David W. Wells, Lawrence Bond, S. Warren Davis, W.
B. H. Dowse, Francis Newhall, Dr.
Fred M. Lowe, Frank W. Renick, Ellery Peabody, Chas. W. Leatherbee, John A. Potter, Arthur G. Hosmer, Henry Whitmore, A. Stuart Pratt, Arthur T. Lovett, Dr. H. H. Philcox, Arthur H. French and Joseph E. B. Ford.
The ushers were Messrs. Clifton F.
Leatherbee, Leon B. Rogers, A. J.
Steadman, Herbert L. Felton, William
B. Baker, C. Sinclair Weeks, Maynard
Hutchinson and Edmund W. Ogden.
The body was cremated at Forest Hills and the ashes buried in the Newton Cemetery.

MAYBERRY—GARRITY
Among the many June brides was Miss Beatrice Elizabeth Garrity, who was married last Friday in Northboro to Fred Arthur Mayberry of Oldhoma. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. J. Walker of Newton Highlands.
Mrs. Harlan W. Kimball of North-boro, a sister of the bride, at whose home she was married, was matron of honor. Helen McMullin of Newton Highlands was flower girl. There were bridesmaids, Misses Mary and Elizabeth Mayberry of Oldhoma.
The best man was Robert E. Garrity of Newton Highlands, and the ushers, Eben J. Macintosh, Herbert
W. Garrity, Rudolph Eller and Harlan
W. Kimball.
The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine, with a veil caught with lilies-of-the-valley, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.
A reception followed the wedding.
After a trip to Niagara Falls and the West, Mr. and Mrs. Mayberry will make their home in Oldhoma.
The bride is a graduate of Simmons College and a teacher in the Leominster High School. The groom is a graduate of Annapolis, class of 1918.

AN ATTRACTIVE SUMMER OUTING
The Claffin Guard Veteran Association will hold its annual summer outing on Tuesday, June 27th, consisting of a trip down Boston Harbor in a government vessel, visiting Forts Warren, Strong and Hog Island, followed by a shore dinner at Pemberton, returning to Boston in the evening.
The Association will be greatly indebted to General Mark L. Hersey, commanding the coast defenses in this army area, who made it possible for this interesting outing.

Those who attended the outing last year at Camp Devens will remember General Hersey's courtesy and effort to entertain the members and their guests which was greatly appreciated, and they know what to expect on this trip. General Hersey, Colonel Geary, Captain Bowman, and Lieutenant Boyd, are to be the honored guests at the dinner. This undoubtedly will be the most interesting and enjoyable outing that the Association has ever held, and will probably be largely attended.

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Hyde School
Mr. Daniels, the drawing instructor gave the two eighth grades a profitable and most entertaining illustrated lecture on art. He showed among others, some of the works of Whistler, Leonardo da Vinci, and of Raphael, pictures of landscapes and cathedrals, telling the meaning of the spire and the circles used in the construction of churches. The children greatly appreciated the talk.

Stuart Cook gave a talk to his own class and to the other eighth grade, using the many pictures he had collected while in California this winter.
The graduating classes are preparing for their Field Day, which is to be on Monday, June 19. They are to have races, games, jumping and outdoor sports in the morning, and in the afternoon a party in the hall with refreshments and dancing.

The kindergarten room seemed to be converted into a circus, Wednesday morning. The children took great delight in showing their circus to the first graders and in telling of their experiences at the real circus, which most of them had attended.

Stearns
Miss Louise Lovett accompanied the six delegates to the Vassar Convention of the National League of Girls' Clubs. The seven representatives left Boston on the New York boat at 5 o'clock, Tuesday, June 13th, and will spend the week at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, attending the business meetings and the social activities of the Conference, returning Sunday, June 18th.

Thirty members of the Mothers' Club spent Tuesday at Nantasket Beach. They journeyed down on the 1115 boat and enjoyed a box lunch on the beach. The afternoon was spent in Paragon Park, and the return trip made on the 7 o'clock boat. The outing was in charge of Mrs. W. Hermon Allen and Mrs. G. W. Auryansen.

The Stearns baseball team played Bigelow at Victory Field on Thursday, Stearns winning 16 to 12. Joe Custeau and Jimmy Lyman did exceptionally well for the Stearns.
On Tuesday, Stearns played the Pierce at West Newton, Stearns 4, Pierce 6. Coyne pitched well for Stearns but the game was lost by outfield errors.

Mason Schol
The children in Miss Chase's room have just finished a Puppet Show on Rip Van Winkle.
The boys made the stage; the girls the puppets; and both worked on the scenery and wrote the dialogue.
The last number of the "Masonian" appears next week. The first volume has done much to help the boys and girls improve their English.
Room 3—The honor members of the Boys' Club for the year are: Archie McKillop, Agnes Sullivan, Dorothy Killing, George Burrows, Richard Thompson, Sylvia Riley, Jane Hall, Philip Giddings, Blanche Ward.
On Flag Day an interesting program was given in Grade Five, Room
7. It consisted of readings, poems, a flag drill and a minut dance. The program was ably managed by Betty Muther.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

Mothers' Day was observed in the kindergarten on Friday of last week.
About 25 mothers responded to the invitation to come, and were present at the observance.
The graduating class have raised $35 by weekly contributions. The fund is to be used for the purchase of a picture, marked with a plate, as a memorial to the class, to be placed upon the walls of the school. The picture selected is of historical value and bears the title, "Early Transportation."

Hang Lee, class of 1919, came back to visit the school last week. He is now in M. I. T. class of 1925. Hang plans to return to China after graduating.

The presentation of diplomas to the graduating class is arranged for 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning. His Honor Mayor Childs will present the diplomas.
The graduates number 30 in all. There are 20 going to the Technical High School, 3 to the Classical High School, and 2 to the Vocational High School.

Walter B. Chadwick, class of 1915, is making a phenomenal record of attainments in the Naval School at Annapolis. There were 600 students in the second year class. Walter heads the entire class in scholarship for the year's work just closing. This is a rare distinction and credit to this district.

The newly placed monument which was unveiled on Sunday stands in a beautiful plot of our school grounds.
It is a beautiful decoration and marks the spirit of sacrifice of the 185 young men who participated in the World War and went from the Upper Falls.

Burr School
Flag Day was observed in the Burr School on Wednesday by exercises in the hall. A poem was read by Eunice Inman, selections by Anson Garfield, the proclamation by Robert Mason. The whole school then sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and saluted the flag.
The 8th grade held a successful sale last week Thursday to raise money for the class party.

I am very much pleased to announce that I am going to have the exclusive agency of the CERTIFIED Milk, produced on the Golden Guernsey Dairy, situated on Lincoln Street, Lincoln.

The owner of this ideal Dairy, Mr. Clifford Stearns, was formerly manager of the Bonnybrook Farm in Wayland, and during his five years' service at Bonnybrook, built up a product that has taken first prize wherever H. P. Hood & Sons have exhibited the same. He is going to carry on this good work at the Golden Guernsey Dairy, where the conditions are even better than at Bonnybrook. Get your order in quickly as we expect to have hard work to fill the demand.

Price will be 25 cents per quart.

DEATH OF MR. GLOVER

Mr. John Glover, a resident of this city for the past 40 years, died on Saturday at his home on Chester street, Newton Highlands, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Glover, who was born in Boston, came from a noted Massachusetts family. His ancestor, General Glover, was with General George Washington when he crossed the Delaware. Later General Washington presented General Glover with a watch fob, which is now in the possession of Mr. John Glover of Newtonville. Mr. Glover's father was a well known sea captain, whose clippers ran from Boston to ports in Africa. His grandfather had a house at the head of Dock Square which he willed to Harvard College, and this formed the basis of the Glover scholarship. Mr. Glover spent his early life in Jamaica Plain. At the age of fourteen he went to work, and for forty years was employed by the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company. He later became president of the Shawmut Oil Company.

He was twice married, the first time in 1879 to Miss Isabel Ricker, and the second time on June 19, 1911, to Alice Amanda Blake. His second wife and three children by the first marriage survive him. They are Abbie (Mrs. Frank H. Craft) of Watertown; Mildred (Mrs. Ray Bates) of Meriden, N. H., and John of Newtonville.

Mr. Glover was past high priest of the Royal Arch Chapter, of Newton; a member of Dalhousie lodge of Masons and also the Knights Templars, Aleppo Temple, Mystic Shrine, Omar Grotto No. 38 and many other organizations.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at his late home at 16 Chester street, and were conducted by Rev. George G. Phillips. Burial was in the Newton Cemetery. The bearers were his two sons-in-law, Frank H. Craft of Watertown, and David R. Bates of Meriden, N. H.; a nephew, J. Henry Milley of Winchester; a cousin, Harry M. Hill of Lynn, and Arthur G. Dominey of West Newton, and William L. Thompson of Winchester, both of whom are prominent in Masonry.

THE ARCHDEACONRY OF LOWELL

The 55th meeting of the Archdeaconry of Lowell, comprising the parishes and missions of Essex and Middlesex Counties in the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, met in St. John's Church, Newtonville, on Monday. About 125 rectors and lay delegates representing these churches were present.

Bishop Lawrence was present at the morning session and gave an interesting address on the work of the parish since its early days a quarter of a century ago when the present Rector, Rev. Richard T. Loring was first called as minister-in-charge. In his review of parish history he spoke appreciatively of Mr. Loring's long and faithful service as rector.

Following the service in the church there was an address on "The Boy—His Clubs and Camps" by Mr. Frank W. Lincoln of Boston, and an interesting discussion.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock by the ladies of St. John's Church, after which there was an address by Rev. Percival M. Wood of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, on "The Young People's Movement in the Episcopal Church," followed by a discussion.

Our Company has been doing business in Newton and Wellesley, without interruption, for two generations. We have recently reduced the price of ice to 50 cents per cwt., which is 10 cents per cwt. less than ice is being sold in the big cities.

To new customers we say "TRY US."

To old customers: "Keep on dealing with us; we do our best to SERVE you."

Last Sunday was the wedding day of Miss Hanna F. Duggan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duggan of Bacon street, who was married on that day to Mr. Edward Le Blanc of Atlantic, Mass. The ceremony was held at the Church of Our Lady, the ceremony being performed by Father Mantel.

Miss Helen A. Duggan was maid of honor, and the Misses Margaret McDonald, Marie Grant, Alice Grant, Mae Vahey, Gertrude Farrell and Bernice McCloskey, bridesmaids. The best man was Joseph Le Blanc, and the ushers Richard Barry, Al Seymour and Sylvester Sullivan. Ethel Seymour was flower girl, and Richard Barry, Jr., ring bearer.

The bride's gown was of white Duchesse satin, trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley and pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor wore orchid canton crepe and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Maine and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Le Blanc will live in Atlantic.

"PRIMROSE LANE"

On Friday evening, June the 9th, a little play entitled "Primrose Lane" was given at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, by members of the Red Bank Society. The little maids and youths in their quaint, old-fashioned costumes made a very charming picture, and one might almost fancy himself transported back a hundred years to the Land of Merrie England and the May Pole Dance of Long Ago.

The leading parts were taken by Marshall Glazier, Ruth Larned, Constance Dort, Virginia Blunt, Clendenning Smith and Chandler Abbott. They were assisted by an able company whose work showed careful training. Julia Bacon, Barbara Smith, Jeanette Larned, Clarisse Smith, Fowler Pickhardt, Curtis Church, Leo Minzger and Hamilton Bissell took part in the dance around the May Pole, which was remarkably well done. Constance Dort was crowned as May Queen by Julia Bacon.

There were vocal solos by Constance Upham, Priscilla Bacon, Minot Rose, James Benson, Richard Dort, and Clendenning Smith, which were all well rendered as were also the choruses.

Great credit is due to Mrs. Walton S. Redfield who so successfully coached the play.

June 17th We Celebrate Our 91st Anniversary

For ninety-one years the NEWTON SAVINGS BANK has kept pace with the growth of this community and inspired confidence by its safe methods and conservative policies.

Safety for deposits has been our guiding motto, yet we've known how to do more than guard deposits—we've known how to safely invest them where they would be of the most use in the upbuilding of our community.

Our years have been fruitful for our depositors to whom this Mutual Savings Bank actually belongs. Year after year they have received their interest at the highest rate consistent with safe banking. Never have they been asked to wait for the return of all or any part of their deposit. It was always ready on demand.

We ask nothing better, in the years to come, than the opportunity to serve this community increasingly.

Will Be "The Friend in Need" This Winter. Prepare the All-Gas Kitchen Now

COAL prices are high now. With the continuation of the coal strike, prices will probably go higher. When winter comes, it may be impossible to get coal at all. Then will those living in the city where gas is available realize their advantages over those who cannot obtain it.

Save what coal you have now for winter; make your furnace heat the kitchen while it is heating the other rooms in the house. With steam or hot water install a radiator in your kitchen or a register where hot air is used. Many find that they can secure enough heat by simply leaving the kitchen door open. You will in this way get all the work out of your coal now too expensive to use for cooking.

DO your cooking with gas. Have an all-gas kitchen, for all-year round housekeeping. Remember this—no matter what price coal is now, or will be, gas for cooking is the cheapest method, because you can control it—keep it down to doing just the work you have to do without waste. And you pay for just what you use after you have used it, not before.

We will send to you without cost or obligation a representative who will show you how you can heat your kitchen from the central heating plant, thus saving fuel costs. We have done this in thousands of cases where the all-gas kitchen is now installed. Simply drop us a line, call at any of our offices, or telephone Beach 7060.

Clapp, a radio fan and enthusiast at the Institute of Technology, who contributed his services for the success of the occasion. A radio amplifier of the latest type had been installed by Mr. Fulton, and the radio concert, both from Medford and more remote stations, was enjoyed by an audience taxing the seating capacity of the house.

More than three hundred people were present during the occasion.

The committee in charge were Mr. H. G. Pearson, chairman; Mr. E. H. Taylor, Mr. F. W. Stevens, Mr. L. F. Muther, Mr. J. B. Melcher, Mr. W. F. Coan and Mr. A. C. Burnham, with Mrs. George L. Parker and Mrs. W. F. Coan, and their assistants, in charge of the supper.

The occasion was scheduled to terminate at 11 P. M., but was extended half an hour by setting back the clock. A substantial sum was realized for the benefit of the building fund.

The maid of honor, Miss Priscilla Fowler of Newton Centre, wore a gown of blue crepe chiffon and carried ward roses. The two bridesmaids, Miss Lois Dowley, and Miss Eleanor Whittinghill, both of Newton Centre, wore gowns of pale yellow georgette and carried yellow marguerites.

THE STORM

One of the most severe storms ever witnessed in this city took place on Sunday afternoon when several thunder storms centered their heavenly artillery on us for about an hour, following a day of unusual humidity and heat. The lightning was most vivid and the thunder was terrific, while the rain was accompanied by heavy wind and enormous hailstones. Streets were flooded, Commonwealth avenue near Fuller street being about the worst, the water coming up to the floor boards in the automobiles which ventured to pass through.

Several bolts of lightning struck in the city, the worst accident being at the home of Charles P. Cuniff, postmaster of West Newton, 33 Parsons street. The bolt struck the roof, tearing off part of the ridgepole and a large number of shingles. It passed into a room where Mr. Cuniff was sitting, and stunned him, though he was not injured. No fire resulted.

At Norumbega Park, Auburndale, a bolt entered the office of Park Manager William Scammon, via the telephone wires. Mr. Scammon put out the resulting fire with a fire extinguisher. Several canoeists on the Charles river were caught in the storm, and in the scurry to get ashore three capsized. They all managed to look after themselves and got ashore unaided.

CHASE-BARRY

Last Tuesday Miss Marguerite Marie Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Barry, of Ashmont avenue, Newtonville, was married to Roy Addison P. Chase of Revere. The ceremony took place at the Church of Our Lady and was performed by the Rev. Walter I. Roche, curate.

Miss Mae Barry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The best man was Frank McCauley of Lynn, and the ushers, Frank L. Lyons and John Donoghue of South Boston.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with Chantilly lace, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Her attendant wore a gown of pale blue crepe de chine, a large picture hat, and carried a bouquet of tea roses.

A reception at the home of the bride followed, a bower of palms, with a large white bell in the center, representing rose petals, being used as decorations.

There was special music by the choral society, of which the bride and groom are members, and a solo by Mrs. Foley.

After July 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Chase will live in Newtonville.

The bride is a graduate of Our Lady's High School, and the groom an advertising artist. Both are popular socially.

Y. W. C. A.

In the Inter-State Y. W. C. A. track meet in the Harvard stadium on June 10, the team from the Y. W. C. A. of Holyoke, Mass., carried off the honors with 17 points, and the Newton team held 7th place, with 3 points. In spite of the fact that the Newton girls won only one second place, they did very good work staying in the high jump up to 4 feet 3 inches, and in the hundred yard dash until the semi-finals.

They also pressed the Boston team hard for third place in the shuttle relay. Muriel McClelland of Newton Centre won second place for the Newton team in the 30-yard dash, thus making three points for the Newton team; Mary McPherson staying in the hundred-yard dash until the semi-finals, and Alta Blakely doing excellent work in the high jump.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

Cannibalism, apparently, has its refinements. In north Australia there are certain cannibal tribes who make a practice of eating their slain friends, but not their enemies—a habit which ought not to conduce to friendship.

PEARSON-JOYCE

One of Newton's prominent June brides was Miss Mary Katherine Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Joyce of Newton Centre, whose marriage to Arthur Mitchell Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pearson of Crescent avenue, took place last week Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Timothy A. Curtin of Newton Centre.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearl garniture and orange blossoms, and a long train. Her veil of rare old lace was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was Miss Bertha E. Joyce, a sister of the bride. She wore a gown of white radium lace with trimmings of pink georgette. A large hat of white taffeta matched the gown. She carried a bouquet of lavender sweet peas. The best man was Charles P. Pearson of New York, a cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception at which about 200 guests were present, was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1032 Centre street. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Joyce and family of Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hayes of Pawtucket, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. L. Kennedy of Quincy; Mr. Jerry Tobin of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Mary Rice of Gardiner, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Jordan and family of Portland, Me.

The bride was a pupil of the Sacred Heart Convent and also of the New England Conservatory of Music. Since her graduation she has interested herself largely in charitable work. She is widely known in the musical circles of Greater Boston and is a member of several prominent clubs, among which are the Philomethia Club and the Cecilia Guild.

Mr. Pearson has been a resident of Newton for many years and during the World War he received a commission as lieutenant in field artillery at the first Plattsburg camp, after which he graduated from schools of aerial observation at Fort Sill, Okla., and Mt. Clemens, Mich. He served overseas as aerial observer during 1918 and 1919.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will make their home in Brookline.

SWAN-MACKENZIE

One of the popular young brides of the season was Miss Florence E. MacKenzie, daughter of Mrs. Sara A. MacKenzie of Auburndale avenue, Auburndale, who was married last Thursday evening to Rev. William Swan of Richmond, New Brunswick. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by the Rev. Edward Payson Drew, pastor of the Congregational Church.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon over white satin, and a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Katherine W. MacKenzie of Washington, D. C., wore a gown of periwinkle lace over crepe, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Margery Rand of Stoughton was flower girl.

The best man was George W. Swan of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and the ushers were George Burton Dyer, Charles M. Dyer, Franklin H. Dyer, and William Allen Dyer, nephews of the bride from Framingham.

A reception at 215 Auburndale avenue followed the ceremony, the house being tastefully decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers. There was music by piano, violin, and cello.

After July 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Swan will live in Richmond, N. B.

The bride is a graduate nurse, and served over seas for two and one-half years. The groom is a graduate of McGill College, Montreal.

Then passed a foreign-looking man Who dropped a bitter tear: "How can you people look so well In such a business year?" And then replied the lovers twain, "We know the cleaner here."

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Graduates its Sixty-Second Class, with 174 Pupils

The graduation exercises of the Newton Classical High School for its 62nd year were held in the assembly hall of the school last week Friday afternoon and the senior class of 174 members, exactly divided between boys and girls, received their coveted diplomas.

The chief interest in the afternoon centered around the awards for the various scholarships and the class gift to the school. The latter consisted of a large picture of the former headmaster, Mr. Enoch C. Adams and a new flagpole, an American flag and the school pennant. The pole will be set up in the athletic field in the fall. The presentations were made by the class president, Albert H. Stafford.

For several years the various women's clubs of the city have awarded scholarships. Two given by the Newton Centre club were awarded to Miriam P. White and Marjorie G. Wilson. That of the Aunburndale club went to Carolyn P. Dunton, the Newton Highlands award to Alice G. Tapper and the one given by the Waban Woman's Club will be awarded later. The May scholarship at M. I. T. was awarded to William H. Taylor.

A bronze medal given by the Sons of the American Revolution for excellence in United States history was awarded to Joseph E. Clapp, Jr., and a book prize offered by the New England Federation of Harvard Clubs was awarded to Julius W. Kohler, a member of the junior class. This award is based on scholarship and character.

For the second year the school awarded senior cups to a boy and girl, the award being based on character, scholarship, personality and athletic prowess. These were presented to Alice B. Brace and Alfred H. Stafford.

The exercises opened with a salute to the flag and an anthem, after which prayer was offered by Rev. Paul S. Phalen, minister of the West Newton Unitarian parish and a response was made by the class. Edwin R. Loughrey delivered the class oration, the subject being "The Elements of Success." Mary R. Richard read the class history, Theodore J. Grant recited Hermann Hagedorn's "A Troop of the Guard," an essay entitled "I Had a Friend" was given by Elizabeth N. Donovan and the valedictory, "Nature and Human Nature," was by Dorothy D. Colby.

There was a piano selection by Elizabeth C. Jack and violin solo by Morris J. Meilman, who was accompanied by James D. Dow, Jr. The class hymn was the joint product of Margery Tower and Lois M. Nutter. S. Warren Davis, the headmaster, awarded the scholarships while the senior cups were awarded by Rev. Mr. Phalen, who also pronounced the benediction, after Mayor Edwin O. Childs had presented the diplomas and the gathering had sung "America."

The Honor List arranged in order of standing included: Dorothy Dane Colby, Doris Mae Lewis, Robert Donaldson Darrell, Eleanor Smith, Frances Elizabeth Varney, Florence Elizabeth Lamont, Howard Leonard Rich, Harry Cabot Weare, Jr., Madelon Albert Bartlett, James Drummond Dow, Jr., Clark Weymouth, Elizabeth Cooper Jack, Shattuck Weston Osborne, Evelyn Hazlett Hunt, Donald Frederick Harding, Elizabeth Nichols Donovan, Russell Watson Clark, Lilla Marjorie Ritey, Dorothy Thompson, Alice Bristol Brace, Elizabeth Cole MacMillan, Helen Margaret Bray, Hester Martin Leitner, Reginald Lawrence Capon, Dorothy Dow Griffin, Daniel Berkeley Bianchi, Alice Russell Libbey, Marjorie Georgina Wilson, Elizabeth Dean Bennett, Henry Garrett Houghton, Agnes Elizabeth Fairchild, Dorothy Evangeline Murphy, Robert Morgan Stafford, Kenneth Atwood Henderson, Helen Louise Hamilton, Robert Dennison Salinger, William Haviland Taylor, Evelyn Frances Perry, Henry Whitmore, Jr., Catharine

ZONING ORDINANCE REFUSED PASSAGE

Mayor Childs' Veto of Alderman is Sustained at Meeting Which Lasts Until 2 A.M.

With another aldermanic session lasting nearly to two o'clock in the morning, the city government last Monday night acted upon three vetoes of Mayor Childs and transacted a large amount of business, albeit, there was the usual lengthy recess for committee meetings.

Aldermen Grebenstein and Melcher were the only members absent.

The principal interest centered on the action taken on Mayor Childs' veto of the much discussed zoning ordinance.

The veto message was as follows: I return without my approval Document No. 51024, Zoning Ordinance so-called.

I trust that my action will not be mistaken either by your Honorable Board or the public. I believe in a Zoning Ordinance for the City of Newton as do practically all of our people. The Women's Clubs have expressed it perfectly—"A reasonable Zoning Ordinance for Newton."

I also appreciate fully the consistent, careful and painstaking work of Alderman Phipps and his assistants and all members of all committees from the various Wards who have tried to get the right answer to a wholly new municipal problem. With practically nothing to guide them but an opinion of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, "that an ordinance under the zoning statute which segregates the manufacturing, commercial and business on the one side from the homes and residences on the other is unconstitutional," they have been cruising on an uncharted sea. The work they have accomplished has been the result of honest effort.

No cities, however, which have adopted Zoning Ordinances have gone as far as they have attempted to go. It has been intimated, however, "that the people of this City desire to go farther than other cities have gone, that Newton is different, that our people want an Ordinance such as has been passed," and furthermore, "that everybody has been seen."

Since the passage of the Ordinance many of our citizens have written me approving fully its every detail. Many, however, and some of our most thoughtful citizens have intimated to me that in their judgment the proposed Ordinance is too drastic and that the distinction drawn between single and two-family houses, having in mind only its relation to public health, public safety, public morals and public welfare, is hard for them to see.

Some too, who have been placed in the zone where they desired to be, have changed their minds. With the feeling changing it seems to me that the Ordinance first adopted by the City ought to be of such a character that requests can be considered and protests heard before the whole matter is sewed up so tightly that changes will be practically impossible. We must remember that we are entering an unknown field. Zoning is something new. I have been urged also to sign the Ordinance because it has been stated that there is considerable criticism of it which will probably increase if the matter is delayed. It seems to me that this is one of the important reasons why we should not hurry through such a measure. If there is any justice in a Zoning Ordinance at all, it gets its very foundation in the fact that the different sections are defined and restricted in accordance with the majority sentiment of that particular district.

I would suggest an Ordinance not quite so drastic, one which can be tightened up from time to time as different groups of our people desire, giving all the opportunity to be heard. The same result may be accomplished, but it will be after more careful study and reflection on the part of our people.

If this legislation were for a short period of time it might not make much difference, but we are legislating for Newton for all time and that means that we are dealing with legislation more far reaching than any in our history.

The suggestion that if the Ordinance is not adopted in its present form the work of the "Planning Board for nine years will go for naught." I cannot follow. The Planning Board has done splendid work for Newton's development, is doing it now and will continue to do it. Every member of it deserves greatest credit.

The work of the Board on this Ordinance was well done but in correcting an existing evil we must be as sure as it is possible for public servants to be that we are not providing a remedy so drastic that in years to come a far greater injustice will accrue to owners of homes or land subject to development.

If upon reflection and reconsideration you see fit to pass over my veto this Ordinance, I assure you that every effort will be made by all City officials to see to it that its every provision is most carefully fulfilled.

It was not taken up until after the recess. Alderman Phipps, chairman of the committee which reported the ordinance, said that he was satisfied that a large majority of people expected and demanded that the board should pass this ordinance, and in view of the representations which have been made to the people in all sections of the city, the board is in duty bound to see to it that such action is taken.

Alderman Ross thought the board was entitled to know his reasons for opposing the ordinance. In his opinion the ordinance was too drastic, and it was unconstitutional, in that it was confiscation of property. He noted the fact that in other states where zoning ordinances were effective there was no distinction between single and residence districts.

Alderman Nichols stated that as Massachusetts had expressly amended its constitution to allow zoning, the ordinance can be passed. The City Solicitor has expressed the opinion that the ordinance was legal. Zoning was not an "unexplored field" as the Mayor stated, 25 cities and towns have requested copies of this ordinance and it will be looked upon as a model for other municipalities. Failure to pass it would be a calamity.

Alderman Heathcote said the weak point of the part of the committee was its failure to realize that the ordinance must be approved by the mayor. The mayor's reasons are sound and the board should give them full weight. In his opinion the amendment rejected at the previous meeting would give practically the same results as the pending ordinance.

Alderman White said that the veto was based on common sense. There was nothing in common or statutory law to allow confiscation of property for aesthetic purposes alone. The women of the city have asked for a "reasonable zoning ordinance" and if we don't get such an ordinance now it will be because certain aldermen are not "with" the Mayor. Mr. White referred to an insidious propaganda thru the city, largely political, in his estimation, that there would be no zoning ordinance. He was willing to agree that if the board would support the mayor and adjourn for two weeks, he would support a zoning ordinance in substance like the amendment rejected at the previous meeting. In closing Mr. White made a sarcastic reference to Alderman Smith as one who was elected on the ticket with the Mayor and was now in opposition to him.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL GRADUATES

Hundreds of Children Receive Diplomas in the Grade Schools

The Newton grade schools held their annual graduating exercises this week, and the complete list of those given the usual certificates follows:

Hyde School

The graduating classes had planned on having their Field Day with outdoor sports, on Monday, but as it rained, they held an indoor party instead. The hall was cleared and games and dancing were enjoyed until noon. Refreshments were served in the form of sandwiches, plenty of ice-cream, home-made cake, and fudge. When the party broke up at one o'clock they declared they had had a fine time in spite of the rain.

Tuesday morning at nine-thirty, they gathered with parents and friends to receive their diplomas. The boys repeated in unison "The American Boy," by Theodore Roosevelt, and Nolan's Speech, from "A Man Without a Country." The girls gave "An If for Girls," by Elizabeth Lincoln Otis. All three selections were excellently given. Singing completed their part in the exercises.

Miss Mabel C. Bragg, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, introduced by Mr. Miller, principal of the school, as a lover of children, an inspiration to teachers, and an enthusiastic exponent of the best in education, talked to those present of the great aims and purposes of our schools for our children. She said that we must aim to have our children strong in body, and in mind; fitted for better citizenship, and happier home life; that we must give them a wise use of their leisure time, such as can be gained from the study of the Fine Arts. She commended the splendid understanding, sympathy and co-operation of the parents and community and asked that it might continue.

After Miss Bragg had made the boys and girls happy with their diplomas, Mr. Miller presented ten of the girls who had taken the nursing course under Miss Herrick, with certificates from the Newton chapter of the American Red Cross. The girls were: Gertrude Ostrofsky, Eleanor Clark, Kathryn Smith, Anna Doherty, Evelyn Burdick, Elizabeth Norton, Dorothy Goddard, Grace McDade, Betty Chapman, Helen Elwell.

Graduating exercises of the C. C. Burr School were held on Tuesday evening. Mr. Hutchins, Aunburndale member of the School Board, declined the honor of presenting the diplomas in favor of Miss Mabel C. Bragg, Assistant Supt. of Schools. Miss Bragg made a very fitting address and by her gracious manner of presentation made the receiving of the diplomas a memorable event for each graduate. enthusiasm, was written by Louise Suhr.

Mr. Leighton spoke a few words of commendation to the graduating class, after which the evening was in charge of the class president, Richard A. Winslow, presented the class gift to the school, and the vice-president, Marjorie Berry, presented Miss Allen with a token of appreciation on the part of the class of her generous aid.

A program of entertainment, dancing and refreshments followed, during which the class books were distributed. At the close of the class party, the class sang a song written by George Lanbenstein.

Every one of the 52 graduates is expected to continue in the High School in September.

The last assembly of the seventh and eighth grades of the Burr school was held in the school hall on Tuesday morning. A very interesting program, consisting of the presentation of awards for various school activities, was the occasion for this last meeting of the two classes.

Among these awards were:

1. Certificates for completion of the nursing course at the Newton Hospital which were given to Ruth Uford with first honor, and to Lucille Dewing, Catherine Thornton, Priscilla Thayer, Reed Champion for satisfactory completion of this special course.

2. Baseball B's to Alfred Fay, Jay Brooks, Ernest Frude, Edwin Ovington, Frederick McLaughlin of the graduating class; Stephen Madden, Donald Wilson of the seventh grades and Arthur Wilson of the sixth grade.

A special emblem was presented to Robert Clapp, who was commended for his management of the team this year. Although the team did not win the championship, they won second place in the league and the boys have shown real school spirit in their team work.

Mrs. Wentworth represented the Civic Committee of the Abundant Woman's Club in presenting book prizes to Agnes Dwan and James Vally of the 8th grade, and to Ruth Uford and Edward Martin of the 7th grade for essays written on subjects pertaining to duties of good citizenship. Anna Coleman and Parker James of the sixth grades received like prizes for essays.

4. Mr. Leighton, in behalf of the 7th and 8th grades, presented a gold piece to Miss Kingman as a small token of the great appreciation of her untiring effort and constant interest in their behalf and also to express their deep regret at her departure from the Burr School to fill a position in the new Junior High School at Newtonville.

Miss Kingman's one room also gave her a gold piece, and Miss Cornwall's 8th grade gave her a gold piece.

The medal for the best essay from the Burr School on "Our Flag," offered by the Loyal Legion of the Daughters of the Revolution was won by Louise Suhr, and Mary Miller of the 7th grade received honorable mention.

Pepsin.

Pepsin is the digestive ferment of the gastric juice. Commercial pepsin is a medicinal preparation obtained from the stomachs of various animals, as the pig and the calf, and is frequently used as an aid to digestion. A similar ferment is also extracted from insectivorous plants.

Prison Color schemes.

Color schemes, suggested by an expert as suitable for prisons, are pink for boy thieves, yellow or orange for convicts guilty of long-premeditated crimes and violet and black for burglars. All cells should have blue ceilings, and gray should be avoided.

REFUSES PASSAGE

matter does not diminish his respect for him as the aldermen are here to exercise their own judgment. He believed it the duty of the board to pass an ordinance that is virile and complete.

Alderman Phipps called attention to the fact that if the ordinance provisions for residences was illegal the provisions of the amendment must also be illegal, and if eliminated there would be nothing left worth while.

Alderman White suggested that it might be well to abolish the Massachusetts Supreme court and substitute the zoning committee of Newton in its place.

The Mayor was then sustained with Aldermen Ball, Banfield, Carter, Jewell, Madden, Nichols, Phipps, Pratt, Saltonstall, Smith and Whidden voting for the ordinance and Aldermen Collins, Earle, Heathcote, Hickey, Ross, White, Young and Hollis voting to sustain the mayor, a two-thirds vote being necessary to pass the ordinance over the veto.

At the beginning of the meeting numerous hearings were held as usual, the Edison Co. asking for poles on Elmwood pk., Washington pk., Lake avenue, and Pembroke street, at which no one appeared and which were subsequently granted. A hearing was also given on Edison and Telephone poles on Grove street at which no one appeared.

Mr. J. M. McCarthy appeared in favor of his petition for a 5-car garage on Lexington street and it was opposed by a Mr. Barry.

Mr. A. J. Hope spoke in favor of his petition for an automobile salesroom at 1181 Washington street and it was granted later in the evening.

Considerable opposition was made to petition of Richard Jennings for a 6-stall garage on Oakland street, in the persons of John T. Burns, Clifton S. Mason, John L. Sullivan and George R. Standberg. Later the permit was granted on conditions which satisfied the protestants.

No one appeared on petition of the Crawford Garage to increase its capacity for gasoline and the permit was granted.

No one appeared on hearings on sidewalks on Commonwealth avenue from Boston College to the Boston line, on sewers in Highland street, Kenmore street and Colbert road, on relocating Beacon street at Hammond street and on relocating Centre street between Jefferson street and the Watertown line.

No one appeared in favor of sidewalks on Harvard street at extension between Messrs. Graham, Keefe, and B. K. Brown spoke in opposition.

John J. Fitzgerald appeared in favor of sidewalks and curbing on Lincoln road and he was opposed by John J. Healey.

The laying out of Delmore path between Delmore road and Erie avenue was strongly favored by Howard Whitmore, and Albert H. Norton and opposed by Mrs. John A. Daniels and by William N. Noble.

Mr. A. S. White for the Newton Centre Improvement Society opposed for the present the proposed relocating of Centre street, Beacon street and Institution avenue.

A representative of Margaret Mahoney spoke in opposition to the relocating of Walnut street from Lowell avenue to Watertown street.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations of $2317 for improvement of Laundry Brook as requested by Rev. L. W. Slattery, for $91 for new awnings for the Police headquarters, for increases in salaries of City Hall officials and clerks, for fire hazard work and plumbing in school buildings, for $150 for completion of work caused by fire in sheds at Technical High School, for $730 for Ford car for Charity Dept., for $3100 to allow one day off in three for Fire Dept. beginning November 1, and for $8875 for purchase of two parcels of land on Waltham street for the new Davis school. He also asked for authority to sell the land and buildings of the Jackson school, and which was subsequently approved.

Mayor Childs' veto of the permit granting W. J. Graham a public garage at 952 Watertown street was based on the ground that "all the residents in that locality are opposed to having a public garage located so near their homes" and it was sustained by a vote of 4 in favor and 13 opposed.

Aldermen Ball, Banfield, Carter and Phipps voted for the permit.

The Mayor vetoed the permit granted to Lizzie Abbott for a private garage on Mt. Ida street on the ground that "it was not a proper place for a garage" and "the result will be a business proposition in a residential section." This veto was unanimously sustained.

An order granting the firemen one day off in three at an expense of $3100 was passed by a vote of 12 to 6, after Alderman Nichols had brought out the fact that this action would mean at least $18,600 for a yearly expense, Aldermen Ball, Banfield, Carter, Jewell, Nichols and Phipps voted against this order.

An order granting city laborers a Saturday half holiday for the months of November and December brought out a debate between Aldermen White and Nichols. Mr. Nichols questioned the matter of receiving pay without work saying that other citizens of Newton have to work on Saturday afternoons to obtain money to pay the taxes from which these laborers are paid. He believed it to be an unfair discrimination. Mr. White said that the order would entail about $2500 for each month and taunted Mr. Nichols by saying that no such remarks had been expressed when the board was considering the matter of teachers' salaries. Alderman Nichols said that he would not advocate giving school teachers special privileges and while laborers on private work are being reduced it was no time to increase privileges granted city laborers.

The order was then passed with Aldermen Ball, Banfield, Carter and Nichols in opposition.

An order requiring the removal of an unused turnout on Washington street near Commonwealth avenue was adopted after Alderman Young had explained that it would interfere with proposed street improvements at that point. Later on motion of Mr. Young the board passed a vote recommending that future boards should allow the Company to replace this turnout when desired.

An order was adopted making a set back of 20 feet on Washington street between Auburn street and Commonwealth avenue at an expense of $500.

There was some discussion on the majority report of the License committee of leave to withdraw on the Junk License of J. Kilgman. It was brought out that Mr. Kilgman had had such a license for 15 years and the board by a vote of 7 to 11 refused to accept the report and then granted the license.

Application of the Basley Lumber Co. to keep gasoline on Crafts street was refused.

The majority report of the License committee favoring a permit to the Colonial Filling Station to sell gasoline on Beacon street was discussed by Aldermen Ross, Banfield, and Young and granted by a vote of 14 to 5. Aldermen Collins, Earle, Ross, White and Hollis voting in opposition. Alderman Nichols and the roll call held up while absent members were recalled to the aldermanic chamber to vote.

Petitions of the Moorhead Motor Co. to keep gasoline on Crafts street, of the Riverside Sand & Gravel Co. to keep gasoline on Grove street, of the Newton Estates Trust for a 6-stall garage on Cherry street, of M. E. O'Brien for a private garage on Oysterside road, of T. E. Ackeroyd for a garage on Chestnut street, of C. E. Allen for garage on Belmont street, of J. L. Theriault for a garage on Broadway, of C. D. Barringer for a garage on Lowell avenue, of Wm. H. Condrin for a garage on Sheridan street, of Mrs. Alma Nelson for a victualler license at 231 Washington street, of Wm. P. Smith for a 2nd class auto license at 1263 Washington street, of the Edison Co. for attachment of poles on Beacon street and to remove poles from Elmwood park, were granted.

Orders were adopted for hearings on Sept. 12 on improvement of Laundry brook, and for taking land for sewer in Pond street, for sprinkling on Prentice road, assuming betterments on Charlesbank road, Carleton road, Oak avenue and Eden avenue, abating betterments on Warwick road, rescinding street sprinkling on Chapel street, Commonwealth avenue, Cook street, Jefferson street, Middle street, Oak street, Woodward street and Maple street, for $8875 for purchase of two lots of land for the new Davis school on Waltham street and authorizing sale of city land on Boylston street for $3000.

These petitions were granted, Louis A. Carvell, victualler license at 282 Centre street, Michele DiMarino, express truck, Edison & Telephone poles on Volstead street, Telephone poles on Walnut street, Newton Boat Club to play tennis on Sundays, Needham Motor Service Station for 2nd class auto license, Boston Consolidated Gas Co. to open certain streets for gas mains, B. W. Riley for auctioneer, licensees, and these private garages, Z. E. Cliff, Centre street, Wm. H. Zoller, Jenison street, Lillie B. Pierce, Watertown street, Richard Ott, Colbert road, Joseph A. Roy, Carleton street, and Sarah D. Miller, Rogers street.

Petitions were also received from street sprinkling on Prentice road, for the laying out of Hawthorn street, Locke road, Dorset road, the widening of Glenwood avenue, for sewers in Alban road, and Newtonville avenue, for the covering of the Newtonville drain, from Daniel F. Collins for damages on account of widening of Beacon street, and an offer to purchase city land on Boylston street for $3000.

The board referred to the next city government the matter of construction of Beacon street at cost of $3170 and the order for $425 for a memorial tablet in the Angier school.

Orders were adopted for sidewalks on Harvard street extension, for sidewalks on Lincoln road, for sewers in Highland street, Kenmore street, Colbert road and Auburndale avenue and for the laying out of Gammons road at cost of $20,025 and of Byfield road at cost of $7880.

At the close of the meeting, Alderman White submitted the zoning ordinance, amended so as to provide for but one residence district and suggested a public hearing on July 24. Alderman Nichols protested against a public hearing in the middle of the summer when many people are away.

Alderman Collins, who had just voted against the adoption of the zoning ordinance, then stated that he favored a zoning ordinance and wanted one as soon as we could get it. Alderman Phipps suggested that the amendment was radically different from what had been discussed and then President Hollis left the chair to suggest that the matter be referred to the Claims and Finance committee and a zoning committee jointly and hoped for a modified and compromise ordinance. His motion was carried and the board ordered a public hearing on the matter for Sept. 11.

Adjourned at 1:55 A. M.

BURKE-WELCH

Mr. John Joseph Burke, of Newton Highlands and Miss Marie Ivanette Welch, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Welch of Ashland, were united in marriage in St. Cecilia's Church, Wednesday morning, by Rev. John J. Cronin, pastor of the church. Miss Mary Burke, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Edmund P. Welch, brother of the bride, was best man.

On account of the illness of the bride's mother, who was unable to attend the ceremony, there was no reception. Upon their return from their honeymoon the couple will reside on Corey Hill, Brookline.

The groom is a World War veteran, having served in the navy. He is a member of the American Legion and of the K. of C. He is a cousin of Ex-Mayor John Fitzgerald of Boston, and is in business in Newton Highlands. The bride is a native of Ashland and a graduate of the class of 1917, Ashland High School. ### NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The membership campaign of the Newton Chamber is being gradually developed in the several villages and has already netted a total of 205 new members. This gives the Chamber a present membership of 524. The campaign is being developed at the present time in Newtonville, Newton Centre, and Newton Upper Falls, in accordance with the plan adopted by the membership committee for developing the canvass at intervals in the several villages instead of simultaneously throughout the city. A substantial proportion of the new membership has been enrolled in Newton Highlands, where an efficient local committee is securing excellent results. Many memberships are being sent in voluntarily by men from various sections of the city and the cooperation of any other public-spirited citizens will be cordially welcomed at this time.

President Frank L. Richardson of the Chamber has appointed a special committee, in accordance with action taken at a recent meeting of the Chamber, to study and analyze the street railway service of the city, with a view of ascertaining all opportunities for improvement of the service, bringing about the greatest possible degree of co-operation between those trolley systems which serve the city, and to strive for the expansion and betterment of the transportation facilities in all possible ways. The new committee includes George J. Martin of West Newton, chairman; Harry D. Cabot and Albert M. Lyon of Newtonville, Harry H. Hanson of the Middlesex & Boston, and Howard Whitmore of Newton Highlands.

Residents of Newton who have need of the services of laborers, gardeners, boys, or others, to do work about their homes and estates, for either short periods of employment or for permanent positions, are reminded that the employment bureau of the Newton Chamber is still at their service. A number of registrants for positions are now available, including men who have had experience in many lines of work.

EDITORIAL

Mayor Childs' veto of the zoning ordinance and the support given that action by eight members of the board of aldermen destroys the hope which has been in the minds of thousands of our citizens, that effective restrictions would be placed on the building of apartment houses, tenement houses and two-family houses in the future.

True it is that the mayor and his thick and thin supporters in the aldermanic chamber profess to believe in zoning but with the leader of the board openly stating that he entered that body last winter thoroughly opposed to zoning, it is not difficult to see that the kind of zoning which these men are willing to favor cannot ring quite true. Mr. White now condescends to agree to a plan of zoning which he and his followers will frame and his whole attitude on this matter seems to indicate that the citizens of Newton ought to be highly gratified that he has been willing to meet them even thus far.

The principal point of difference is over the single residence districts. The committee ordinance, framed after many months of consideration and consultation with hundreds of our tax payers, makes two residence districts—one limited to single family residences and the other open to all as a general residence district. The mayor by inference suggests that these two districts be made one, thus allowing an indiscriminating mixture of single, double, tenement and apartment houses all over the city. While at first blush this may seem reasonable, it would be wiser to establish the more restrictive districts in the beginning, and allow future boards to modify the restrictions as deemed advisable, rather than to expect future boards to take the more unusual course and increase the restrictions. In other words it is usually easier to cut out restrictions than to impose new ones and with the tax payers fairly conversant with the more restricted ordinance, and with many of them even eager to have it adopted, it would seem both logical and advisable to accept the ordinance which the committee has so carefully considered.

Two courses are open to the majority members of the board. They can suppress their own convictions as to what is best for the city and join with the mayor and a minority of the board in passing a modified ordinance, containing but one residence district, or they can postpone the whole matter to the next city government and allow the voters to determine next December by the election of 14 aldermen, just what is really desired by the citizens at large.

We can see no good reason for widening Nonantum square by taking over what is known as the "French" property on the south side. This is the most expensive land in the whole city and the cost of this work would be altogether too large for the benefit to be gained. If any action is taken towards widening the square in this direction, the city should "go the whole hog" and adopt the suggestion of ex alderman Lloyd by taking all the land to the railroad track and then selling an area 80 feet in width for development purposes. The city would then be getting something for its money. We still maintain, however, that there is no real necessity for any widening if the M. & B. Street cars were only removed from the square.

OUR COSTLY NEGLIGENCE

"Co-ordination" is a tired, haggard, nervous wreck of a word that was nearly worked to death at Washington during the early days of the war. It was the first of the dollar-a-year words and to come forward to do war work, and it was worn to a frazzle. I hate to drag the poor word thing out from the quiet retreat in my dictionary where it has been resting and recuperating, but I must say that this lack of co-ordination, lack of organization, duplication, inefficiency, waste, and hap-hazard hodge-podge structure of the national governmental machine is no secret to those at Washington, who run and manage it for us, and who are even more directly responsible than we are for the condition into which it has fallen.

I submit pleas of avoidance and confession from both Democrats and Republicans. It is not a matter of politics. It is a matter of proved and confessed negligence on the part of the men we have hired to run the machine, and have kept year after year in places of trust and power and responsibility. They haven't kept up the plant. The form of organization is grotesquely inadequate. The morale of the working force is badly impaired, as I have set forth at length in previous articles. We have paid the price for this, grossly and hugely, in money and in poor service. This has been costly negligence on our part. I said I had confessions. Here they are, Reed Smoot, Republican and a senator from Utah, speaking:

The administrative branches of the government have undergone no fundamental change since the organization was devised by Alexander Hamilton. No other government in the world could have gone on as ours has done, and paid the bills involved in our wasteful methods of administration. We have been able to do it because this country has had resources and wealth unparalleled. But the war has brought us at last to realize that these will not last always. We need a complete survey of the whole situation de novo by a committee of men willing to recognize that it is a task of day and night for a year, and very likely, two years.

There is endless duplication of work among different departments, and even in the same department. It is the same through all the government functions, and now, when the burden of carrying our enormous debt is weighing on the people, we can no longer neglect to give it consideration.

When he said these things, Mr. Smoot was urging a concrete proposal to bring about the reformation so badly needed.

And now Franklin D. Roosevelt, for seven years assistant secretary of the navy and recently the Democratic candidate for vice president:

The entire system of relationship which exists between the executive and the legislative departments is fundamentally wrong. Let me illustrate: I made an offer one spring to the appropriations committees of both house and senate, that I would tomorrow discharge 10 percent of the employees of the Navy department if they, the committees, would give me complete authority to take one-half of the salaries of the employees discharged and add it to the salaries of the other 90 percent of the employees still left in the department. . . . Of course, however, under the present system of congressional control, giving executive discretion of this kind.

Congress, for various reasons, has so tied the hands of the executive officers of the government that they have no freedom in the fundamental questions of employment. . . . My own wonder is that, considering the existing circumstances, the employees of the government are as efficient as they actually are. Congress legislates for every minute item of employment. . . . There is a lot of work being done in other departments which ought properly to be under the Navy department, and in the same way there is a lot of work done by the Navy department which could perfectly properly be transferred to other departments.

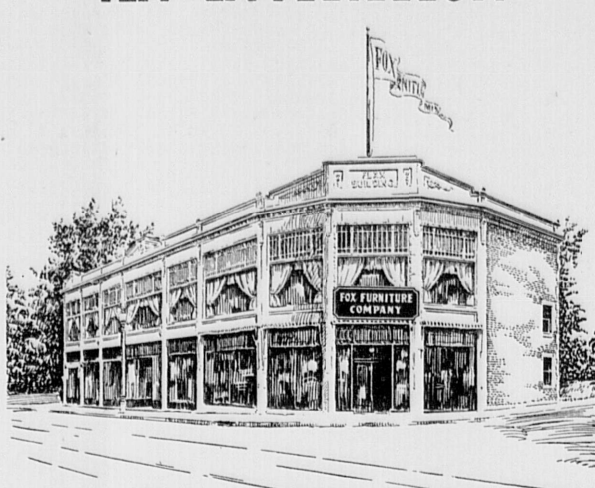

After seven years down here in an executive position, I cannot help the conclusion that our governmental methods are cumbersome and wasteful. The first improvement must come in what, after all, the source of governmental activities—that is, the legislative branch. This must come from congress. We need also a reclassification and redistribution of the work of the executive departments. This can only come if congress, working in accord with itself and with the executives, will discuss the whole question simultaneously and not merely piecemeal.

Well, there you are! A Republican who has been in the legislative branch of the government for seventeen years, and a Democrat who has been in the executive branch for seven years, both telling the same story of how badly the national business is managed.

The odd thing about it is that our agents and representatives at Washington who let this waste and inefficiency run on, year after year, pay no penalty. We pay the piper to the tune of millions and billions—literally that much. And the condition will endure until we make a real roar about it. Congress increasingly shakes its head over the situation and brings in various proposals of reform, and says how wrong it all is; but lacking a lively, inflamed public pressure, nothing gets done.

SOUVENIRS

A BEAUTIFUL LAWN PARTY

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season took place in Auburndale, the evening of June 14th, at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Jenkins, on Commonwealth avenue, when a delightful surprise lawn party was given by Mrs. Jenkins, assisted by her son, Roscoe, and daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Thrasher, in honor of Mr. Thomas Vose's birthday.

The beautiful home and grounds were tastefully and elaborately decorated with American flags of all sizes, and with brilliant Japanese lanterns lighted by electricity, also with potted plants and quantities of flowers, making it a veritable fairyland. The guests began to come from all points of the compass. When Mr. Vose reached home and found a real live party, all in his honor, well under way, his surprise was indeed complete.

Games were played out on the lawn and dancing was enjoyed both indoors and out, music for the occasion being furnished by Wilkins' Boys Orchestra. Mr. Wilkins and his two sons of Everett, assisted by Mr. Arthur Kempf of Natick on his Xylophone. Xylophone solos were played by Mr. Roscoe Jenkins, who is Auburndale's well known trap drummer. Miss Mildred Beardsley played the Xylophone and gave some very pleasing pianoliques, and Mrs. Fred E. Perkins, pianist, and Mr. Fred E. Perkins, violinist, also assisted. Last, but by no means least, Mother Jenkins rendered a lively drum solo, which received much applause.

Many were disappointed because Jenkins' own orchestra could not be present. Delicious refreshments of ice-cream, cake and lemonade were served and an immense and beautifully decorated birthday cake, made by Mrs. Jenkins herself, was passed around. Mr. Vose received hearty congratulations and many remembrances from those present. A delegation of Mr. Vose's associates from the Waltham Watch Factory was present, also neighbors and friends, making over a hundred in all.

POWERS-BURDICK

Miss Clara Morse Burdick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva L. Burdick of Dunboy street, Faneuil, was married on Thursday evening to Joseph Hunting Powers, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Powers of Newton. Rev. H. Grant Perschke, pastor of Eliot Church, Newton, officiated, assisted by Rev. Calvin M. Clark of Bangor, Theological Seminary, Maine. A reception followed the ceremony.

The bride, who is a graduate of Mt. Ida School, Newton, wore a gown of cream white satin with a train, and a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of Swainsonia and bride roses. Her sister, Miss Gladys Burdick was maid of honor. Her gown was of coral georgette, and she carried a bouquet of blue larkspur and Ophelia roses.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1910, and was in France in 1917 in the American Ambulance Corps, and in 1918 in the Red Cross service. His best man was Richard Stanton Holmes, a classmate, and now Assistant United States District Attorney for the Southern district of New York.

Dr. H. H. Powers, well known in connection with the Bureau of University Travel, was unable to attend because of duties in Europe. Mrs. Powers returned from Italy to attend the wedding.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Powers are to live on Boyd street, Newton.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Leary of this village and Mr. Daniel Shea of Norwood was celebrated at a solemn high mass in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, last Monday morning. The bride was handsomely dressed in white canton crepe, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Leary, sister of the bride, and was prettily attired in pink, with a white sash and carried a large bouquet of roses. After the nuptials a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate family and then the happy couple started for their honeymoon, which is to be spent in Washington and Atlantic City.

Will Be "The Friend in Need" This Winter. Prepare the All-Gas Kitchen Now

COAL prices are high now. With the continuation of the coal strike, prices will probably go higher. When winter comes, it may be impossible to get coal at all. Then will those living in the city where gas is available realize their advantages over those who cannot obtain it.

Save what coal you have now for winter; make your furnace heat the kitchen while it is heating the other rooms in the house. With steam or hot water install a radiator in your kitchen or a register where hot air is used. Many find that they can secure enough heat by simply leaving the kitchen door open. You will in this way get all the work out of your coal now too expensive to use for cooking.

Do your cooking with gas. Have an all-gas kitchen, for all-year round housekeeping. Remember this—no matter what price coal is now, or will be, gas for cooking is the cheapest method, because you can control it—keep it down to doing just the work you have to do without waste. And you pay for just what you use after you have used it, not before.

We will send to you without cost or obligation a representative who will show you how you can heat your kitchen from the central heating plant, thus saving fuel costs. We have done this in thousands of cases where the all-gas kitchen is now installed. Simply drop us a line, call at any of our offices, or telephone Beach 7060.

JOURNALISM

"Neither reading courses nor college courses in journalism can make full fledged newspaper men," says the head of the school of journalism of a large university. Continuing, he says, "In learning and keeping up with things journalistic, books can never take the place of constant reading and comparative study of the newspapers themselves. Nor can books be a substitute for actual service on a busy daily paper under skilled and exacting direction.

The study of books, however, can help both the amateur and the professional writer. It can help the young journalist to make good in his first job; it can save the average newspaper man many a blunder and make even the born reporter see new possibilities in his work. To be consistent the newspaper man must study the experiences of others as recorded in books, for his whole profession is based on a belief in the power of the printed page.

The books recommended here cover the field somewhat adequately, but they are only suggestive of the many good manuals now available. Any library or any bookstore will be able to suggest others.

"Essentials in Journalism" (ZCJ-1233), by H. F. Harrington and T. T. Frankenberg, is a good book to read first. It gives a broad survey of the entire field, supplemented by exercises and illustrations. The authors are men of experience. Professor Harrington is director of the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern University. This is a book which should be kept at hand; and as the study of each special subject is taken up in the other books, the chapter on that subject in this book should be read again.

"Types of News Writing" (ZCJ-B611), by Professor W. G. Bleyer, director of the course in journalism in the University of Wisconsin, is an excellent book to read next. It is a collection of typical news stories, prepared for the use of college students of journalism and for young reporters. Such a book will be of value not only for what it contains but because it will help the reader to study the newspapers themselves more intelligently.

A study of the special or feature story will naturally follow. The only thorough book on this subject is Professor Bleyer's "How to Write Special Feature Articles" (ZCJ-B611). It covers both the newspaper and magazine fields and contains reprints of striking special articles.

As a basis for the study of editorial writing a book by Professor L. N. Flint, director of the School of Journalism, University of Kansas, is recommended—"The Editorial Process in Effectiveness in Writing" (ZCJ-F641). It deals with the methods of finding, gathering and handling editorial materials and contains some discussion on paragraphs and paragraphs, editorial responsibilities and the editor's reading. There are numerous illustrations of specimen editorial pages.

The editing phases of publishing are adequately treated in "A Handbook for Newspaper Workers" (ZCJ-H99h), written by Professor Grant M. Hyde, associate professor of Journalism in the University of Wisconsin. This contains a discussion of approved newspaper diction, the building of headlines use of type, and a full description of newspaper mechanical processes.

The most complete exposition of the production of a metropolitan newspaper is contained in "Making a Newspaper" (ZCJ-G44), by J. L. Given, formerly of the New York Sun. Those who need practice in composition will find excellent suggestions in "Writing for Print" by Professor Harrington. It contains numerous exercises and assignments designed for use in high school classes.

The only complete treatment of the small town newspaper is "The Country Weekly" (ZCJ-B51), by Phil C. Bing.

Two novels of Samuel Hopkins Adams, one, "The Clarion," the other, "Success," both present in narrative form some of the news, editorial and business problems confronting present day publishers.

HOW ABOUT COAL THIS WINTER?

In another part of this issue is an advertisement from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company which is worth thinking about. Coal prices will probably be high this winter and with the continuation of the coal strike, it may be difficult to get coal at all.

THE use of coal in one central heating plant rather than in two fires, one in the cellar and one in the kitchen is advised from an economy standpoint. In speaking of this conservation of coal, this is merely voicing the federal government's advice given during the coal shortage at the time of the war. At that time, the government summed up the heating problem like this:

"The value a householder gets from the fuel he burns depends largely upon the character of the heating apparatus, the conditions under which it is installed and the manner in which the fire is handled."

Speaking of the manner in which the fire is handled, the government said:

"Most people start the furnace fire too early in the fall, overstock it and force it for extreme heat too suddenly in very cold weather and burn it too late in the spring. During the chilly fall months, it is economical to use city gas in one of the modern and highly efficient types of heaters. Here you are burning the ideal fuel."

The government describes gas as "the ideal" fuel because it can be controlled to do exactly the work required and when this work is performed all expenses ceases, for the gas is shut off. Then too, there is no other fuel which can be controlled to the extent that gas can. When one uses coal for cooking, it is almost as though one took the strength of an elephant to haul a child's cart. Coal today is almost worth 16c a shovelfull. When the stove is burning coal for fuel, it is generating a great deal more heat than is required.

DEATH OF MR. GAMMONS

Mr. J. Ellis Gammons, for several years the assistant treasurer of the West Newton Savings Bank, and one of the most popular young men in the city, died Tuesday night at his home on Brookside avenue, Newtonville, after an illness of many months.

Mr. Gammons was born in New York city, Sept. 11, 1881, and he was the son of Charles Ellis Gammons, a native of Middleboro and Thirza Eyre Gammons, a native of England. His parents came to Newton when he was very young. He was in the wool business for several years before associating himself with the West Newton bank.

He was active in Masonry, being senior warden of Fraternity Lodge, a charter member of Norumbega Lodge, and a member of Newton Royal Arch Chapter.

THE LATE J. ELLIS GAMMONS

He is survived by his widow, who was formerly Carolina Pierce of Waltham, whom he married six years ago; a son, J. Ellis Gammons, Jr.; a daughter, Virginia Pierce Gammons; a brother, Roland S. Gammons, treasurer of the West Newton Savings Bank, and two sisters, Ethel T. Gammons and Mrs. Gertrude M. Bowen, both of Newton.

The funeral services, held at St. John's Church, yesterday, were largely attended. Rev. Richard T. Loring, the rector, officiated. The ushers were Messrs. George B. Hatch, Joseph B. Ross, H. A. Burnham and Harry Kimball, and the pallbearers were Messrs. George P. Bullard, Frank E. Hunter, Chas. J. A. Wilson, C. Haviland Morse, Fred A. Cole and C. B. Whitney.

FOURTH OF JULY AT NEWTON CENTRE

This year in place of sports and fireworks, Newton Centre is to dedicate with appropriate ceremonies, the Memorial to her dead sons and daughters in the Great War.

The Newton Centre Improvement Association which has undertaken this project has practically raised the money, through public subscription, to defray the cost of it.

All but a few residents of Newton Centre are represented in these subscriptions which have made possible a granite and bronze flag staff base from which will rise a 90 foot single pole surmounted by a 3 foot bronze eagle. This is from a design submitted by Kendall-Taylor & Co., Architects, and approved by the Executive Committee of the Newton Centre Improvement Association. The bronze is the work of T. F. McGinn & Sons and modelled and cast in Somerville.

The names of 27 men and 3 women who gave their lives for their country are carried in 3 panels of 10 names each on a six foot tall bronze which rises from an octagonal granite base of 3 steps.

The dedication will take place promptly at 10:30 in the morning and the unveiling will be accomplished by the President of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, Dr. E. A. Andrews. The flag will be broken out by the granddaughter of the author of "America," Dr. S. F. Smith.

The site on which the Memorial will stand is historic ground. It is directly in front of the house in which Dr. S. F. Smith made his home and it was for many years the training ground for the Militia. It was here that the men learned the art of war and then fought at Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill, as well as in the Indian Wars. Two schools are located, one on each side of this plot of ground and many whose names are borne on this Memorial spent 8 to 10 years in sight of it and played there.

It is planned to have the ceremony semi-military in character with Co. H of the State forces turning out. The Legion, many of whose members were buddies of those who are to be honored by this Memorial, are to be present and as guests will be the G. A. R. The immediate families of those represented by this tribute are to have special places of honor and the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will be on hand to render any services to these guests necessary.

With a band to play a postlude of semi-serious pieces between 10 and 10:30 which will turn to brilliant military and victorious pieces at the conclusion, and with speakers of prominence giving short addresses, followed by a benediction and concluded by an artillery salute, the service should be most impressive and highly appropriate, as celebrating the birth of the nation then 30 died to preserve.

NORRIS-BURBECK

On Saturday evening, June 10, at the home of Mrs. William Gould Burbeck, in Newton Centre, her daughter, Miss Doris Burbeck, was married to Winthrop Dean Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Gove Norris of Brookline. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Donald Mace of Montclair, New Jersey, as matron of honor, with Miss Natalie Banta of Hackensack, New Jersey, Miss Fannie Puffer of West Newton, Miss Pauline Chellis of Newtonville, and Miss Dorothy Gove Norris, a sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. Robert Moore of Newton Highlands was best man, and the fathers were Donald Mace of Montclair, Davis Kelly of New York, Richard Brodick of Walliston, and Merrill Walker of Newton Highlands. A reception followed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Norris left on a wedding trip.

HOME DEDICATED

One of the most interesting of the many philanthropic enterprises for which Newton is famous was dedicated on Wednesday, June 14th, in the Oak Hill section of Newton.

The building just completed is the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children, which cost about $300,000, and is the finest building of its kind in the country. It has an equipment for one hundred beds, with piazzas on three sides, commanding an extraordinary view. The building is planned not as a hospital, but as a home. Children will spend months or years in training. Thorough educational work is done, as the home aims to prepare the children for self support.

The dedicatory exercises were attended by Governor and Mrs. Cox and many friends of the home. Bishop Samuel G. Babcock made the dedicatory prayer. Mrs. Gilbert C. Brown, Jr., vice-president of the home, read the opening address, giving the history of the home for the 28 years of its existence, since its conception by Mrs. H. M. Peabody.

She paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Herbert A. Joslin, president of the home, and to Mrs. Edward B. Kellogg, treasurer, presenting the latter with a bouquet of American beauty roses from the officers and children of the home, and to Mrs. Smith, matron of the home.

She then introduced Governor Cox, who said that he did not know of any investment which had brought such rich returns as the $210 with which the home was started. He congratulated the officers and those interested in the home on their splendid success.

Dr. Robert W. Lovett, who followed him, said that the success of the enterprise had been due, in his opinion, to the real need which the home met, and to the untiring efforts of the hard working women interested in the home.

He called attention to the influence of the war in arousing interest in cripples. The most noteworthy contribution in surgery made during the war was made by a surgeon in England, who gained his experience through a home for cripples in England. This contribution, Dr. Lovett stated, was the value of function, explaining how this had influenced modern surgery. A second contribution which the study of cripples has led to is the value of latent abilities.

Dr. Robert Southern then told in detail of what cripples whom he had known were able to do, and of the value to them of such a home as this, where they can come into contact with others and learn the discipline of service.

The last speaker was the Rev. Henry Hallam Sanderson, who spoke on the power of faith in the human soul, and of the constructive value of ideals.

An informal reception followed the regular program. Visitors were given an opportunity to inspect the building.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

The selections of the Boston papers of the all interscholastic baseball team for this season are of interest, as Newton High won the Suburban League championship with ease and naturally should have a goodly representation on such a team.

The Globe gives Newton three places on its first team, Cronin as catcher, Drennan in left field and Murphy in centre field. Whitmore, who was a large factor in winning the championship is given a place on the second team.

The Herald awards but two places to Newton in its selections. Cronin as catcher and Murphy in centre field. Speaking of the Newton team, the Globe further says "Newton High walked off with top honors in the Suburban League, always regarded as the premier school boy organization in the State. Coach Alfred W. Dickinson of Newton worked wonders with the material he possessed. Newton High was not regarded as a championship prospect, but by hard and faithful work the team developed, winning 12 out of 14 games in the league series.

"The record of the Newton High since it became a member of the Suburban League is interesting. In 1919, Newton finished in first place, in 1920 third, in 1921 second, and this Summer again winning the championship."

DEATH OF MR. DARLING

Charles P. Darling, who died suddenly at Harwichport, was born in Henniker, N. H., and was the son of Charles H. and Minerva H. Darling. He removed to Auburndale at a very early age. He was educated at the Allen English and Classical School, West Newton. After being graduated he entered the hardware business, where he continued until 1905. He attended the Auburndale Congregational Church, was charter member of Brae-Burn Country Club and Exchange Club of Boston, resigning quite recently from both. He is survived by a widow, Elizabeth A., daughter of the late Charles A. and Mary P. Sweet of Auburndale.

OUR LADY'S SCHOOL

The graduating exercises of the high and grammar schools of Our Lady took place Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the Church of Our Lady. The pastor, Rev. He concluded by a stirring appeal to the graduates to continue their education through college if possible. The singing was by the graduates and the service was concluded by solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Protest This Outrage

The Boston Elevated Railway proposes to establish an enclosed terminal at Linden St. and Harvard Ave., Allston, which will make it necessary for Newton and Auburndale passengers to enter a free-for-all scramble for seats (and straps) at Allston.

Passengers from Boston will be "dumped" at Allston and obliged to transfer to other cars, where there will be all of the delay and other inconveniences now experienced at the Park St. Subway Station.

Passengers from Newton and Auburndale will be "dumped" at Allston and compelled to transfer to other cars before completing their journey to Park St.

All of this means a repetition of the disgusting scenes at the Dudley St. Terminal, the Sullivan Sq. Terminal, and the Park St. Subway Station.

If you are opposed to these impositions, attend the public hearing to be given by the State Department of Public Utilities, Room 166, State House, Boston.

SUCCESSFUL FIELD DAY

The parishioners of the Church of the Sacred Heart of Newton Centre held a most successful field day last Saturday on the Newton Centre Playground in the afternoon, and in Bray Hall in the evening.

The chief interest centered in the baby show, held in the afternoon, and which, on account of the weather conditions, was not so large as was anticipated. Over 50 babies were entered, however, by their admiring parents, and the judges, Dr. McGarry of Boston, Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Alderman Thomas W. White had a hard time to make the awards. Mrs. Harry Simpkins won the prize for the prettiest baby. Mrs. Piteroni, for the youngest child; the Norton twins won the prize for twins, and Mrs. Leahy was awarded the prize for the healthiest child.

There was a baseball game between the Algonquins of Newton Centre and the Shamrocks of Brighton, which was won by the home team.

In the evening there was a band concert and dancing in Bray Hall, and at 10 o'clock the award was made for the Ford Sedan which was offered as a prize. Arthur L. Levesque of Ripley street was the holder of the successful ticket.

The field day was a great success, over $8,000 being added to the fund for building the new parochial school now in process of erection on Crescent avenue.

ENJOYABLE OUTING

The Clafin Gaud Veteran Association held its annual summer outing on Tuesday last, consisting of a trip in the harbor on a government steamer, visiting Forts Warren and Strong and a view of Hog Island from the water, which is under construction as an underground fortification where 16-inch disappearing guns will be placed, making it one of the strongest and most effective fortifications in the harbor.

At Fort Strong, target practice with 10-inch disappearing guns was very interesting. The members were shown all about the fort, inspecting the complicated machinery of these big guns, the ammunition magazine in the strong stone and cement vaults, and were immensely entertained by Capt. Barker, U. S. Coast Artillery, who explained the mathematics of sighting and ring of the big guns, while the members were up on the ramparts.

The steamer was then taken for Fort Warren, which is the largest fort in the harbor. General Hersey escorted the party here, and they all mounted to the ramparts and walked entirely around the fort, getting a complete view of everything, including the large number of 10 and 12-inch disappearing guns. This fort is immense, with many of the buildings built of stone 3 or 4 stories high, where the enlisted men with their families live in modern comfortable quarters. No idea of the size of this fort can be obtained from (Continued on Page 2)

OBSERVES ITS FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Newton Highlands Congregational Church Celebrates a Half Century of Accomplishment. Attorney General Allen Makes Historical Address

The Newton Highlands Congregational Church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary this week with a program which extended from Sunday until Wednesday evening.

The Sunday service included a musical program and an anniversary sermon by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow.

On Tuesday evening, Hon. Seward W. Jones presided and the principal address was given by Hon. J. Weston Allen, Attorney-General of the Commonwealth and a member of the church. Mr. Allen gave an interesting history of the church which we shall publish in the near future.

Following Mr. Allen, Miss Marion B. Morse, president of the Woman's Aid and Missionary Society, told of the growth of the society from a Sewing Circle in 1872, to a Missionary Society in 1890, and, finally, to the Woman's Church Aid and Missionary Society of the present. Today, the 25th year under its present name, the society numbers 142.

In 1909, Memorial memberships of $50 or more were established.

The Cradle Roll, established in 1894, now numbers 73, all under 5 years of age.

The women of the church contributed generously towards the new church which was erected in 1906.

Mr. George H. Mellen, the last speaker of the evening, because of the lateness of the hour, gave a brief but very inspiring address.

Wednesday was Fellowship Evening, Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, D. D., presiding.

Rev. Edward M. Noyes, the first speaker, brought greetings from the Mother Church in Newton Centre. Mr. Noyes spoke of the six sister churches in Newton, and said that the Mother Church has a peculiar attachment for the Newton Highlands Church, her nearest daughter.

Rev. H. Grant Person, D. D., of Eliot Church, then brought greetings from his church as an older sister. He referred to the 75th anniversary of his church, and told what such an anniversary had meant to this church, and said that he felt sure this, the 50th anniversary of the Newton Highlands Church, would be equally significant.

Rev. McIllyar H. Lichliter of Central Church was unable to be present.

A very beautiful tenor solo was followed by greetings from near neighbors. Rev. Theodore R. Ludlow of St. Paul's Church dwelt particularly on the meaning of true Catholicity in thought and action.

Rev. Frederick C. Robinson of the Cline Methodist Church then told of his personal experiences in different denominations, and of the sympathy existing between them.

Rev. Samuel H. Dana, D. D., of Exeter, N. H., the first pastor of the church, gave a number of interesting and delightful reminiscences of his former pastorate, as did the Rev. George G. Phipps, who followed him.

In introducing the speakers, Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, pastor of the Newton Highlands Church, spoke of the way in earlier times churches built walls around themselves, but, he said, these walls are fast disappearing in view of a larger sympathy and understanding. As proof of this, he told of the union meetings of the Newton Highlands churches to be held during the summer.

The final address of the evening was given by Rev. Brewster Eddy, D. D., of Newtonville. Dr. Eddy deplored denominationalism, especially in dealing with foreign countries. He said that he was looking forward to the time (Continued on Page 4)

ELEVATED PLAN OPPOSED

The hearing last Monday before the Department of Public Utilities on the proposal of the Boston Elevated Railway Co. to establish a loop service between Lechmere square at Cambridge and Linden street at Allston brought out several hundred remonstrants, mostly from Allston and Brighton.

The Elevated proposes to run three-car trains over this loop, transferring at Lechmere square and at Linden street with cars for the outlying districts. This is similar to the proposal last winter of a loop at Braves Field. It is in line with the recommendations of several street railway experts who have studied the situation and will relieve the terrible congestion at rush hours in Park street. The company believes this plan will give additional seats even during the rush hours and will give far more rapid service than is now possible. It will save passengers a crowded transfer at Park street for the North Station and beyond and will give passengers from the north of Boston direct service to the Back Bay district. The company submitted figures to show that many thousands of persons now transfer daily at Everett station, Sullivan square, Harvard square, Central square, Forest Hills, Eggleston square, Dudley street and Andrew square and stated that it saw no reason why the 21,000 who would transfer at Linden street, should prevent the improvement in service to 200,000 others. The mayors of Malden, Somerville, and Everett appeared in favor of the plan and it was supported by several others including Hon. Samuel L. Powers of this city, Senator Wells and Representative Shattuck of Boston.

THE FOURTH OF JULY

Two villages of the city have arranged programs for the proper celebration of the Fourth of July next Tuesday.

Newton Centre, abandoning its time-honored schedule of sports, band concert and fireworks, has taken the day to dedicate its memorial to her sons and daughters in the Great War. As announced last week, the dedication ceremonies will take place on the Green, opposite the Rev. Dr. Smith House on Centre street at 10.30 A. M.

The Newton Highlands Improvement Association has arranged a fine program of sports beginning at 9 A. M. on the playground and consisting of dashes for girls, dashes for boys, 3-legged races, balloon-throwing contest for ladies and spoon and ball races. At 2.30 what is believed to be the supreme event of the day will take place—a ball game between the married women of Newton Highlands and Eliot and at 4 o'clock there will be another ball game between two picked teams. Mr. Thomas T. Hinkley of Carver road is in charge of the affair.

There was strong opposition led by Representative Hays of Allston on both to the proposition as a whole, and in particular to the damage to property in Linden street and vicinity. City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett spoke in opposition in behalf of the mayor and aldermen of Newton. The entire afternoon was taken up with the various remonstrants and the Commission subsequently postponed action for a month to allow several alternative plans to be prepared and submitted.

The results of good or poor service are nowhere more clearly evident than in a financial institution.

In this Bank, which devotes its efforts chiefly to assisting savers, the helpfulness of its SERVICE consists both in encouraging thrift and helping men and women to obtain homes of their own. Its growth from a bank of $590,000 assets 10 years ago, to its present amount which is upwards of $4,000,000, is only another evidence of its usefulness.

ENJOYABLE OUTING

the water, as all around it is banked up covering the stone and cement with grass-covered slopes.

From Fort Warren the party was taken in the government boat and landed at Pemberton, where a fine fish dinner was appreciated by hungry men. At the dinner, the following officers of the company were present:

General Mark L. Hersey, Colonel Geary, Captain Barker, and Lieutenant Boyd, all of them in being called upon, addressed the members very interestingly.

General Hersey, when rising to speak, was given a great ovation, with handclapping and cheers, which he certainly deserved, as the members were indebted to him for the very enjoyable and interesting outing, and had not forgotten his courtesy last year at Camp Devens. It is hoped by all that he will soon have another star on his shoulders.

Mayor Childs responded to the call for a few remarks in his usual happy and interesting manner, and was warmly received.

The party was landed in Boston at about 9 P.M. after a most enjoyable outing, which many said was up to the standard, if not better, than former gatherings.

SPECIAL MEETING

Arlington street, J. E. Babbage, Kenmore street, R. F. Gammons, Sargent park, J. P. Bergin, Needham street, Lyman F. Fletcher, Oakwood road and Sawyer Con. Co., Elmore street.

The residents announced an informal hearing on the proposition of laying water mains in the Charlestown district near the Upper Falls and about 25 persons were present and spoke in favor of the work. Mr. Neil McIntosh said he had developed this property into 400 lots, of which 100 had been taken by the Charles River Country Club and he had sold nearly 300 others to over 10 different purchasers. He stated that last fall he had been promised water this spring, but repeated applications to various city departments had failed to accomplish anything. Four families were now living on the property obtaining water from a flowing spring and some 18 others had plans prepared for building. A dozen others spoke in favor of immediate action, and 17 persons stood up when the president asked how many were ready to build.

The board adjourned at 8.40 P. M.

MONTANA PHOTOGRAPHS

Visitors at the Library will find an interesting collection of colored photographs of ranch life in Montana taken by Paul W. Bunker of West Newton. A number of these pictures were taken on a trip with an outfit moving several hundred head of cattle from the Powder River country to the Breakers of the Missouri. The old West, with its herds of thousands, has vanished, but these photographs make it evident that there still lingers a charm which fascinates the Easterner. In speaking of his experience in Montana, Mr. Bunker says:

"The life is a hard one, there is no doubt about that, but with all its drawbacks it has an appeal that the lover of the 'Out of Doors' and of animal life, can not resist. While on the Trail we would be called from our beds at four A. M. by the boss's 'Roll out, roll out' and in the chill air with the sky just beginning to break in the East, hustled into our clothes, rolled up our beds and hurried over to the cook's wagon where that worthy served out hot coffee, sizzling ham or bacon, fried potatoes and fresh biscuit to a hungry bunch of men.

Breakfast was a matter of a very few minutes and then saddling their horses which the wrangler had brought into camp, the men rode out to round up the cattle and start them along the trail. The days were hot, the dust stifling, water scarce and the pace, a walk, most tedious and tiresome. A halt of three hours in the middle of the day gave cattle, horses, and men a much appreciated rest. Then with fresh mounts, the work of the morning would be repeated and the herd moved on until it reached a location, which to the boss's eye, appeared to be a good one for camp with plenty of water and grass. It was never very long after supper before all of us except the night guard, had our beds unrolled and spread out near the wagons and a few minutes after we had crawled under the blankets, for the nights were cold, we were sound asleep."

These pictures will remain on exhibition for two weeks.

RICHARDSON—WEED

A wedding of interest to Newton people was the marriage of Miss Anne Atwater Weed to Laurence Eaton Richardson, which took place at "Weedfield," the summer home of the bride's uncle, George M. Weed, at Sandwich, N. H., last Saturday. The bride is the daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Alonzo R. Weed of Newton, an dMr. Richardson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Richardson of Concord, Mass. Rev. Charles L. A. Argan of Belmont, an uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony. A niece of the bridegroom, Eleanor Kerns, was flower girl. The wedding took place out of doors, in the presence of the relatives and a few close friends of the couple. The bride was graduated from Vassar in 1921. Mr. Richardson, a Harvard, 1913 man, was a Lieutenant of Field Artillery during the war and saw service in France. He is superintendent of the Lowell Bleachery at Lowell.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The St. James Theatre is indeed a popular dramatic house. Now that the Boston Stock Company has finished for the season, the patrons demand more plays so the management made special arrangements with Walter Perkins, late of the George Cohan "Tavern" company to produce "My Friend From India." Mr. Perkins opened with the original company at the Bijou Theatre, New York, and has played the part of A. Keene Shaver thousands of times throughout the country. Mr. Perkins is to be supported by a very noted cast including Dorothy Bernard. "My Friend From India" should prove a very attractive midsummer attraction.

We have been planning for some months to publish a series of articles on "How Massachusetts is Governed" in a similar style to the articles published a few years ago on "How Newton is Governed." There have been numerous delays, however, in the preparation of these articles, which entail considerable research and investigation, and as the editor, who has just completed three years of service in the General Court, is obliged to leave the city next week to attend the annual convention of the National Editorial Association in Montana, we will have to postpone the publication until August. Few people realize the extent of the activities of our state government in many fields of endeavor and accomplishment, and we trust these articles will be of interest to many.

The proposition to supply water to a district remote from our sewer system and on low land adjoining the Charles River should receive careful consideration from our city government. None of the petitioners for the water supply seemed to realize that the disposition of waste water in a district like that of Charlestown was a serious problem, and one which was of great importance in preventing the pollution of the Charles River.

Congratulations to the members of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church on its fiftieth anniversary. May it continue to prosper and administer to the moral needs of the community in an ever increasing degree.

DEATH OF MRS. WELLER

Mrs. Mary E. Weller, who has made her home with her sister, Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs of Billings park, Newton, for the past four years, died Wednesday evening at the Newton Hospital following an operation and a stroke of apoplexy. She was ill but a few days. Mrs. Weller was born near Rochester, N. Y., and went with her parents while quite young to St. Johns, Michigan, where she later married Mr. Frank Weller, a leading business man of that city. He died in 1901. Mrs. Weller early identified herself with the Methodist church and was active all her life in church and educational work. At one time she was president of the St. John's Woman's Club, one of the most prominent of the women's organizations of the state. Since her residence here she became a member of the Newton Community Club. The funeral services are being held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gibbs, Rev. Dr. H. Grant Person of Eliot Church officiating and Mr. J. Garfield Stone singing some favorite selections. The burial will take place tomorrow at St. John's, Michigan.

WE'RE COLD TO REFORMS

We have not had in our time a president who was a business man or who had close acquaintance with business methods. The Chief Executives have, for the most part, not been executives as that term is now understood. Anything but. They regarded the government machine as one regards a hired motor car—a piece of mechanism in which to get somewhere, and with no thought of its power-transmission system or economy of operation.

Mr. Taft did sense the fact that he was at the head of an organization whose activities are almost as varied as those of the entire business world. Mr. Harding, I believe, shares this feeling.

As Mr. Taft pointed out, this great organization has never been studied in detail as one piece of administrative mechanism. No comprehensive effort has been made, until very recently, to list its many activities or to group them in such a way as to present a clear picture of what the government is doing. No satisfactory statement has ever been published of the financial transactions of the government as a whole. With large interests at stake congress and the executive have never had all the information which should be currently available if the most intelligent direction is to be given to the daily national business.

Congress, the President and the administrative officers have been attempting to discharge their duties without full information as to the agencies through which the work of the government is being performed. In the past, services, agencies, bureaus, what not, have been created one by one as exigencies have seemed to demand, with little or no reference to any scheme of organization of the government as a whole.

Mr. Taft pointed out all this and made an earnest effort to change it. With what result? Why, just exactly none. Congress was cold. The public—meaning you and me—was colder. We didn't take any interest in the project, and therefore congress politely yawned it away into the tall grass and out of sight. Mr. Taft was given enough money to employ an efficiency and economy commission and to make inquiry "into the methods of transacting the public business of the executive departments and other government establishments."

The inquiry was made and the changes recommended, but nothing has ever been done about it. This economy and efficiency commission was very conservative and cautious. It took Mr. Taft's view that the problem of good administration is not one that can be solved at one time. It is a continuously present one. This commission, made up of excellent men, suggested that the revenue-cutter service be abolished and its activities be taken over by other services. It was estimated that by so doing a saving of not less than $1,000,000 could be made.

Another report recommended that the lighthouse and life-saving services be administered by a single bureau instead of as at that time, by two bureaus located in different departments. It was estimated that this consolidation would result in a saving of not less than $100,000 yearly.

The abolition of the returns office of the Interior department was recommended, at an estimated direct saving of about $25,000 a year, in addition to a large indirect economy in the reduction of work to be performed in the several offices.

The consolidation of the six auditing offices of the treasury and the inclusion in the auditing system of the seven naval officers who audited customs accounts at the principal ports was urged. The change was expected to produce an immediate saving of at least $135,000 yearly.

From this modest start other changes and reforms and savings were to be made.

But we weren't interested in the high cost of government or the high cost of living eleven years ago. Mr. Taft didn't get a rise out of us. He didn't have much of a pull with congress, either, poor man, and all his inquiry went for nothing as far as any action was concerned.

He and his commission did bring out and establish, however, certain facts and conditions. It was a trustworthy and competent investigation as far as it went. That is something to the good.

There is a patent disposition in congress now to take the whole problem of the routine administrative processes of the government under consideration and see how best to improve them. Whether anything really worth while will come out of it will depend entirely on the degree of interest you display. If you will take the trouble to show that you know that the national business is mismanaged and costs too much, and that you are tired of it, there will be action.

WHY GOOD MEN QUIT

Go today into the Treasury department, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Commerce, or into any other establishment of the government doing important technical work, and they will tell you that their chief difficulty is to retain competent employees in the supervisory and technical positions. Their turnover is abnormally high in these positions.

Every day men leave the service to accept private employment at materially increased salaries, so that the departments are continuously going through a process of selecting and training executives and technical employees, only to lose them, as they become really valuable, on account of the inadequacy of their compensation.

The second factor which contributes to the present ineffectiveness of the government as a business establishment is found in the improper organization of the executive branch of the government for effective service. You are familiar, at least in a general way, with the defects of the present administrative machinery.

You know for example, that the Interior department now has jurisdiction over a great number of bureaus of a miscellaneous character that have nothing to do with each other or with the functions which the Interior department was originally established to perform.

You know that many agencies have been located in the Treasury department, the great fiscal department of the government, which are purely non-fiscal in character, such as the coast guard, the public health service, the supervising architect's office and the bureau of war risk insurance.

You know that the great bulk of the civil public works of the government are executed under the supervision of the War department, although the bureau of public roads is located in the Department of Agriculture, and the reclamation service in the Department of the Interior.

You know, furthermore, of the independent existence outside the jurisdiction of any of the great executive departments of some 40-odd boards, commissions, offices and bureaus. These are merely examples of a condition that would require volumes to describe fully, but it is generally known that the executive branch of the government is at the present time illogically and uneconomically organized in many important particulars.

It should be remembered, however, that even with an ideal personnel and a perfect organization it is doubtful if the high degree of economy and efficiency that characterizes private business can ever be attained in the government offices. This is so because economies made by government officials are not transformed into dividends for themselves as they are in private business.

There is an impression in congress and throughout the country that men of great ability are not found in government service; that the salaries are not sufficient to attract and hold them. On the contrary, there are a great many people of distinguished ability in the government service. One is more and more impressed by that fact, especially since the war sent to Washington so many men of large means and famous names with whom the government employees could be compared. The comparison was time and again to the advantage of the government employee. But the salaries are not the attraction; it is the work itself. This is well understood by some eminent observers of public life. Secretary of State Hughes declared himself as follows before the advisory committees of the war risk insurance bureau:

"It has been my experience that with the higher officers, the officers of greater institutions, where efficiency is rewarded by public representation—while the field is a limited one because of the great opportunity to men of ability—it is still entirely possible to draw to the public service men of great ability and distinction, because of the desire to render public service, and the number of men who are available for that purpose, while relatively small, is still sufficient if the appointing officer wants men of that class. In order to obtain them, however, he must give a free field. He must not interfere as to political action to control administration tendencies and must permit them to be given the reward which a well-conducted office of importance will give to its incumbent in the public estimation."

Now the difficulty increases when you pass those heads that get the credit and come to the technical expert who has got to do the regular work and upon whose efficiency the operation of the department finally depends. These men are little known. The public has little even to learn their names. They are interested in work to a degree of being willing to make sacrifices.

There is active competition for men of brains and great ability of that sort, and the government will never be served unless it pays the price for those men. Now I think that is a plain situation. You may be able to get a director in the bureau of war risk insurance for $50,000 a year, or for more, but you cannot get an actuary. You cannot get an insurance man. You cannot get superintendents. That would be my judgment.

WRITE TO THESE MEN.

The chief defects, or places where waste is apparent in the conduct of the business of the government, that I have pointed out in these articles, have been, first, the excessive proportion of the government income that went for military expenditures; second, the chaotic condition and lack of adequate supervision and control of expenditures, which have been in part remedied by the introduction of the budget system; and third, the haphazard organization of the government departments and the unorganized condition that prevailed in government employment.

The remedy for two of these conditions I have treated briefly in the two immediately preceding articles. I come now to the matter of reorganization of the departments and the reclassification of government employees. A beginning has been made on both of these matters.

A joint committee of the two houses of congress, with Walter F. Brown as chairman, is studying the whole question of organization of the government and the function of the various departments and bureaus and independent establishments. I cannot too strongly advise you to keep yourself in contact with the work that joint committee is doing.

I have given you the names of the members of the committee in another article but I will repeat them here. They are Senators Smoot of Utah, Wadsworth of New York and Harrison of Mississippi; Representatives Reavis of Nebraska, Temple of Pennsylvania and Moore of Virginia. Write to any of them or to Mr. Brown, the chairman of the committee, who represents the President, with headquarters in the house office building here at Washington.

This is the third or fourth attempt that has been made to effect a general reorganization of the conduct of the business of the executive departments. They have all failed through lack of interest. There was lack of public interest, and consequently lack of interest in congress.

This joint committee is at work now. It is collecting facts. It is finding out the actual condition. It is studying the departments. Presently it will make a report to congress. If you will show an active, insistent interest in the work that it is doing, congress will take action. If you do not show this interest, there is every chance in the world that no action will be taken, and that things will remain much as ever.

Hundreds of special interests are clamoring for the attention of congress. All of them are organized. Most of them keep representatives here at Washington. They present to individual members of congress in a hundred skillful, shrewd, subtle ways arguments to support the legislation they are seeking to advance. It would take two or three columns of this newspaper merely to print a list of the organizations and associations that are here to keep congress mindful of their interests.

In this great clamor the common public interest is likely to be submerged. In fact, too often it has been submerged. This matter of economies and reorganizing the business of the government and taking up the tedious details of administration is a dull business. It has been neglected and put off time after time because of a lack of public interest and driving force behind it.

If you will supply this driving force now and display a sustained interest, you can at least put the business of government of the United States on an efficient basis. Congress has been negligent because you have been negligent, but now at last the thing has run along so far that something must be done about it.

Used Insects to Fight Insects.

Control of destructive insects by the introduction of their natural enemies has become an important technique during the last generation, writes Paul Popenoe in Science. But if competent observers are to be trusted, the southern Arabs employed the same method more than 160 years ago in the culture of the date palm.

In his "Relation d'un Voyage dans l'Yemen," P. E. Botta says:

"I was able to verify the singular fact previously observed by Forskal, that the date palm in Yemen are attacked by a species of ant which would cause them to perish if each year the growers did not bring from the mountains and fasten in the tops of the palms branches of a tree that I did not recognize, which contains the nests of another species of ant which destroys that of the date palm."

Houghton & Ware Employment Bureau, whose advertisement appears in our paper, states that requirements appear to have changed in regards lady bookkeepers. May be it is the conditions of today. The demands seems to be that a bookkeeper must be a stenographer and typist as well as bookkeeper. Sometimes a bookkeeper, who is a typist, will get by, but if one wishes to be abreast of the times they should comply with the requirements of today. There is quite a demand for experienced stenographers. Also for A No. 1 automobile mechanics.

RARE GEMS LOST TO SIGHT

Russian Crown Jewels Supposed to Have Been Disposed of in Small Assortments.

The great collection of Russian crown jewels seems likely to share the mysterious fate of the peacock throne in Delhi, writes Frederic J. Haskin in the Chicago Daily News.
The peacock throne, which cost the Shah Jehan $300,000, was a wonderful canopied chair of pure gold incrustured with rubies, sapphires and fountains of pearls, and ornamented with two great jeweled peacocks and a life-sized parrot cut from a single emerald. It was a fabulous work of art, and when it slipped out of sight after the death of the shah there was much speculation. Presumably a strand of pearls was looted off here, a ruby pried off there, and the emerald parrot cut into a number of less distinctive jewels. Today a mere throne framework in Teheran is pointed out uncertainly as the peacock throne.
The crown jewels of Russia are supposed to be slipping away in similar fashion. There was no word of any looting when the Kremlin in Moscow, where the glittering jewels of royalty reposed, fell into the hands of the revolutionists. The Kremlin has been guarded by the soviet government. The condition of the treasury galleries is veiled in mystery.

South African papers in close touch with the diamond trade state that $10,000,000 worth of stolen Russian diamonds were thrown on the jewel market in ten months in 1921—and the crown jewel collection of Russia was particularly rich in diamonds.

SAVED HER PENCIL SUPPLY

Extremely Masculine Office Force Shielded Off Busy Stenographer's Shade of Delicate Lavender.

Part of every morning in the Busy Stenographer's life went toward collecting her precious pencils from everybody else's desk. Of course she never could prove these really were her own. The big fact was that at the end of the day her supply was always nil.
Feminine wit met the problem. Of course the men in her office classed themselves as very masculine; went in for striped neckties and checked suits, scorned tea rooms for lunch, but knew every chop house within a score of blocks—real men stuff, you know.
One morning the Busy Stenographer came in with a new package of pencils. She sharpened them carefully and laid them in readiness on her desk. The day sped by. Her pencils were borrowed—but returned. From the far end of the office the office boy came during the afternoon. "Hey, Miss Blank, isn't this one of your pencils? I thought you might be lookin' for it?"
At the close of the day the supply was still intact. The color of the wood was delicately lavender.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

He Is Not Yet Crowned.

The news that something in the nature of a tentative offer to the throne of Albania has been made to Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte is a reminder that the Bonapartes have long had a close connection with America. This connection began with the Bonaparte who was made king of Westphalia by the first Napoleon, of whom he was the youngest brother. This Jerome Bonaparte settled in the United States after being exiled from France by his brother, and remained until his appointment as king, in 1807. The present bearer of the name, who has come into prominence, is a great-grandson of the king, and a nephew of Charles J. Bonaparte, who was attorney general in the cabinet of President Roosevelt. It would be odd indeed if a plain citizen of democratic America should now become a European king.

After Many Years.

A proposed wing of the American Museum of Natural Sciences in New York, which was commenced nine years ago and abandoned for lack of funds, is about to be started in earnest, the money having been secured for the work. At that time the foundations were laid, but when the expenditure for this had been consumed the work was stopped. The new wing will be used mainly for the housing of the marine exhibit of the institution, which is very extensive, but which has heretofore been boxed up for the lack of space to properly exhibit it.

Inverted Steam Hammer.

A decidedly novel use of a steam hammer is to make it pull out of the ground steel sheet piling that it had previously driven into it. This was done recently with some piling that had become so tightly frozen in that it could not be pulled out by the derrick alone. The steam hammer was hung upside down from the derrick, and around the hammer four strands of three-quarter inch cable were slung so that they carried below the hammer a clevis that was bolted through the eye of the piling.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

New Colonization Planned.

That the Mexican federal authorities have in view a vast colonization project in Lower California, by which it is hoped to solve the problem created by the great number of unemployed Mexicans at present, was the interesting statement recently made by the secretary of the Interior, General Plutarco Elias Calles. The plan is to allot arable land to each colonist, which will involve irrigation work on a large scale.

URGE WIDER USE OF CABBAGE

Experts of Cornell College of Agriculture Extol Humble Vegetable's Value as Food.

Lovers of cabbage will welcome the pronouncement of the experts at Cornell's College of Agriculture, acclaiming the merits of this succulent vegetable. Cabbage is a subject the discussion of which is not considered good social usage. For some inscrutable reason to acknowledge a fondness for it does not raise one in the estimation of professing epicures, writes H. Young in the Providence Journal.
Cabbage is rich in iron and other mineral salts, it contains a moderate amount of growth-promoting substance and the American people should eat more of it than their habit, according to the Cornell propagandists. Have we not heard, too, that it contains these precious, if as yet unidentified elements called vitamins? This cabbage report suggests that Americans do not cook it properly, as a rule, and that may explain why appreciation of it is not more general. It should be "plunged into boiling salted water and left there for 20 minutes, no longer, uncovered"—instead of being confined to a tightly-covered receptacle for an indefinite period.
The practice of covering the dish has grown up because of a conventional disinclination to having the house filled with the perfume of boiling cabbage. But to a hungry cabbage lover this fragrance is one of the vegetable's charms. It exercises, as one may say, an agreeable psychological influence. There are, of course, divers ways of serving cabbage, all of them good. And since our tastes are often ruled by the judgment of authority, it may be believed that a widening circle of confessing cabbage eaters will be the consequence of Cornell's approving verdict.

SHORTAGE IN PANTS SUPPLY

Evidently Pioneers' Wardrobes Were, at Least to a Certain Extent, Unpleasantly Limited.

In the early days of central Illinois, a period when the settlers drove their hogs, to market at Chicago, breaking a path in winter by means of a yoke of oxen and a heavy log, a certain young man was in the habit of walking eight miles to see his best girl. On the occasion of one visit a heavy snowstorm swept the prairie, and the young man found it necessary to remain until morning. He slept in an "outside" room, the space between the logs being unfilled. The old-fashioned feather bed with wool blankets protected him from the zero weather.
It so happened that the young man wore the style at that date, buckskin pants. Thoughtlessly on retiring he laid his pants on top of the bedclothes. A coyote or wolf crawled through the cracks between the logs in the night and carried his pants away. The theft was revealed when the young man was called for breakfast, and to cap the climax, not an extra pair of pants was to be had. The young man was forced to stay in bed and send a boy eight miles to his home for pants. There was only one pair in his family, those worn by his father. Thus the father had to go to bed and send the boy these pants in order that the latter could get back home.—Indianapolis News.

Altogether Too Suggestive.

Journeymen along the border a few weeks ago, Tom Mix, a motion-picture actor, drove his automobile across the river into Juarez for a glass of beer, innocently parked in a space where parking was prohibited and walked off. He had made about two blocks when he was clapped on the back by a breathless Mexican policeman.

"You air under arrest for putting ze automobile where he do not belong. Come with me. Why you not stop when I call you?" panted the gen darm.

Seasoned Autoist.

Virginia is three and one-half years old. She calls herself "Buddy." Her father owns an automobile. The other day while the family was enjoying a ride, traveling at a rapid speed, the auto struck a large bump. So violent was the jolt that it seemed as if every spring would break. As the car rolled on Buddy, seated beside her father, looked up at him with large, round blue eyes and said: "Daddy, why don't you say dammitohell?"—Indianapolis News.

Handy Bible for Blind.

The American Bible society has announced it is to bring out a "small handy volume" of Scripture selections for the blind.
The pages are 7 by 13 inches, and the volume will weigh about a pound. A complete Bible prepared in the embossed system used for the blind weighs about 150 pounds and comes in from 11 to 58 volumes.

Adopt United States System.

The American idea of public health nursing has been formally adopted by the city council of Warsaw, Poland. A corps of nurses has been organized to work with the school doctors examining children and investigating health conditions in homes. Fifty thousand children of local grammar schools make the first group to come under this new system.

NORUMBEGA PARK

So hearty has been the response of Norumbega Park patrons to the call of Bob Ott and his company of musical comedy players that the management has decided to hold them over for a second week, during which they will present two entirely new shows.
For the first three days they will be seen in "Out of Luck," said to be about the merriest in the Bob Ott repertoire, while the balance of the week will see "Jumping Jack" for the offering. Comedy films and news reels will also be shown at each performance.

In addition to Bob himself, the company includes Joe Donahue, brother of the famous Jack, and himself an eccentric dancer of note; Ann and Mary Ott and other capable performers, as well as a group of comely chorus girls. The shows are pretty costumed and abound in clean humor. Mazie Lunette's aerial slide, which she performs as a free attraction twice each day, continues to attract more and more people. Dancing in the restaurant and canoeing on the river are great attractions at Norumbega.

JEWELS BURIED SEVEN YEARS

French Countess Recovers Treasure Which She Had Long Since Given Up As Lost.

Treasure trove to the value of 330,000 francs has been unearthed by gardeners who were making a new path outside the Dauphine gate of the Bois de Boulogne. One of them, engaged in removing an overgrown lilac bush, suddenly shouted that he had found a handful of pearls, and when his companions joined him and more soil was turned up, a small heap of jewels was revealed, lying hardly more than a foot below the surface. Altogether 11 pearls were recovered, in addition to a very large one set in diamonds and a sapphire diamond bracelet from which two sapphires are missing. The police found the owner within a few hours, according to the Montreal Herald. She is the Countess de Beauregard, and it is more than seven years since she lost them. She says that on August 2, when war was declared, she went to the safe containing her jewels to prepare it for removal to the bank, but found several cases open and empty, though a diamond tiara and other valuable articles still remained. The police suspected her German chambermaid and several times visited her in the segregation camp to which she was removed. In order to obtain admissions. After peace was signed this woman, however, was sent to Germany, and the countess lost all hope of recovering her jewels. The pearls belonged to a necklace of 150, and the view is that the thieves visited the hiding place from time to time as they wanted money.

MODERN LIFE IN OLD CITY

Changes in Bagdad Might Well Cause Caliphs to Turn Over in Their Gorgeous Tombs.

Bagdad, the city of caliphs, the scene of the deeds of the good Harun-al-Rashid of "Arabian Nights" fame, is now enjoying the strangest sights in its 1,300 years of history. The British have brought the Strand to its bazaars, the motorboat to the Tigris and the automobile to its time-worn gates.

Bagdad enjoys an English weekly magazine, published in English and Arabic, including some of the latest brand of British humor and excellent portraits of the leading muzzins and sheikhs. There are a number of British banks doing business in the city, branches of great institutions famous the world over.

British hotels are there offering roast beef and Yorkshire pudding with ale and stout to wash them down. They have Turkish baths, billiard rooms, palm gardens and are furnished with English furniture throughout.

British stores sell perfumery, novels, clothing for male and female of the latest styles of London and Paris. One leading department store in the old city advertises: "What you may not get in other stores in Bagdad you can get in ours," says the Wall Street Journal.

One may soon see some lordly son of the desert driving in his flivver to the local hotel to partake of the roast beef and ale of old England.

ANOTHER POSSIBLE COEUR DE ALLEE

It is reported that the Capital Prize Mining Corporation has secured control of one compact body, made up of fourteen patented claims, situated in the Bull Run District of the Centennial Range. These claims cover two distinct vein systems, about 10,000 feet in length.

In the Tuscarora District the company has secured three patented lead claims.

After a careful survey, made by J. F. Parsons, of the two fields, the properties were acquired and the Capital Prize Mining Corporation of Tuscarora, Nevada, was then incorporated to place in active operation these seven-teen properties.

The following is an extract from a letter to the First National Bank of Elko, Nevada:

"Resident directors of Capital Prize Mining Corporation and United Revenue Mines Corporation, Greathouse, Hesson, Keyser Parsons and Talbot are well known, reliable business men. Parsons, president and manager, is one of the best informed mining men in the State, says properties are O. K. "There is estimated to be upwards of 100,000,000 tons of ore."

LODGES

On Tuesday evening, Garden City Grange members appeared as poverty stricken people from "Poverty Flats." A large number were garbed in many old garments which the "Junk Man" had refused to take.

The Vamps of today would have envied the two "Flappers" from the "East Side," impersonated by Mrs. Mary E. Pitt and Miss Gertrude Neff, judged to be the winners in the contest. The literary program consisted of piano solos and readings, and a lecture by Miss Bessie M. Hardy, sis-son of the lecturer, Geo. E. Hardy, a missionary for twenty years in Armenia, located there through the World War. The narrative was most interesting, yet horrible and most pathetic.

Almost all of the caves of Europe give evidence that men once lived in them. Ashes and unburned black charcoal are heaped amid the rubble of the falling stones. Signs of occupation are not confined to the caverns' mouths alone. They extend deep into the black recesses. Handiwork, lost by savage men, is discovered by the acetylene lamp lying as its owner dropped it centuries or scores of centuries ago. Nor were men the only dwellers in these caves. Wild beasts lurked in their darkness, cave bears, lions, and most particularly cave hyenas sought them out.

When a good man has long devoted himself to a particular kind of benevolence—to one species of reform—he is apt to become narrowed into the limits of the path where he treads, and to fancy there is no other good to be done on earth, but that selfsame good to which he has put his hand, and in the very mode that best suits his own conceptions.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Circus Tent Stakes Driven by Power.

The automobile truck has largely superseded the horse as a means of transportation for the itinerant circus. It has also relegated the uselessness of the former sledge-swinging skill of the canvassman.

Now the stakes for the tents are not driven by hand, but by a truck built especially for that purpose. It carries the stakes and the tent poles and is equipped with a miniature plectrider of the modern automatic type, operated by a belt from the truck's engine. All the canvassmen have to do is to hold the stakes under the hammer of the driver until they are started into the ground.—Exchange.

School Laws in Various States.

Colorado, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oklahoma, North Dakota, West Virginia, Louisiana and Florida do not accept certificates granted by other states. Many of these, however, issue other certificates on the basis of recognized credentials, provided the requirements are met. Connecticut is the only state which issues certificates wholly on the basis of examination, and does not accept credits from institutions either within or without the state.

Queer Taste Accounted For.

Coming home from a party late one bright moonlight night, I did not light a lamp on entering the house. Feeling hungry, I went to the pantry for a lunch. Taking a slice of bread, I spread it with what I supposed to be plum marmalade. Proceeding to the kitchen, I took a bite of my sandwich to find it did not taste like those my mother puts up in my school lunch. Lighting a lamp I discovered I had used soft soap instead of marmalade. —Chicago Journal.

Antarctic Discoveries.

J. L. Cope, the explorer, returned to Plymouth, England, a year ahead of schedule; he had discovered extensive, workable mineral deposits and gained valuable knowledge relating to fisheries, including the secret migrating place of whales. After exploiting these finds he plans to go back, taking his wife with him, in which case she will be the first woman to set foot on the antarctic continent.—Scientific American.
